Rail Workers Are Denied Full 6-Cent Cost Of Living Pay Hike

Million Non-Operating Employes Will Receive 1½ Cent Increase, Army Says

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—A million railroad workers aren't going to get the full six cents an hour cost of living increase promised them in a White House wage agreement.

Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston said the full six cents would be more than the wage freeze allows, and so the Army announced today that the increase would be limited to 1½ cents.

President Truman, however, has ordered the creation of a special panel to consider the conflict between the March 1 wage agreement and the stabilization program. And the Army said it will consider the cost-of-living payment after this panel's report is approved.

The workers involved are non-operating employes such as shop workers, clerks and machinists.

Union Chief Sees Repercussions

The president of one of their unions, Jesse Clark of the AFL Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen, said the Army's decision "will have serious repercussions."

"It will cause an upheaval in the industry and in the country as a whole," Clark said in Chicago. "There's a lot of unrest right now and this isn't going to help matters."

Non-operating employes won a flat 12½ cents an hour increase in a mediation agreement reached at the White House in March. In addition, this agreement called for a cost of living raise that worked out to an additional six cents an hour on April 1.

Army "Runs" Railroads

The Army, which took technical control of the railroads during a strike last summer and still "runs" them, said the total increase thus would be higher than the 10 per cent permitted under the wage stabilization ceiling.

Assistant Secretary Karl R. Bendetsen said the largest amount permitted under the formula would be 14 cents, and so the Army allowed a 1½ cent cost of living rise in addition to the flat 12½ cents.

Bendetsen said the remainder of the increase was withheld in accordance with an opinion given by the Attorney General after Johnston recommended against the full payment.

NYC Will Furlough Several Thousand As Business Drops

NEW YORK, April 9 (AP)—The New York Central Railroad announced today it is laying off several thousand employes later this week partly because freight business has dropped.

Wage increases, rises in materials costs, and losses from a switchmen's strike also were cited as reasons for the layoff.

A railroad spokesman said he could give no figures on the numbers to be laid off, but they would be mainly non-operating terminal employes.

The layoffs, he said, would affect all major points in the railroad's system in 11 eastern states.

Douglas Opposes RFC's Abolition, Hits Moral Laxity

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) came out today against abolishing the Reconstruction Finance Corporation he helped to investigate. To kill the agency at this time, he said, "would be like throwing the baby out with the bath."

"The RFC, with all its faults, has served many useful functions—especially in filling a gap in our credit structure," Douglas said. He added that it can continue to serve the public if it is properly conducted.

The Illinois Democrat also called for a higher standard of ethics in the national capital, where he claimed there was too much moral laxity.

"Government work should not be settled at cocktail parties or around dinner tables in hotels," he said.

Douglas' observations were made in an interview to be broadcast tonight in his home state.

Douglas is a member of the Senate subcommittee which investigated the RFC and reported that political favoritism and influence had affected the agency's multi-million dollar lending policy.

He said he felt these abuses can be corrected largely by reorganizing the RFC as President Truman has suggested.

Israel Rebuked By United States

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—The United States rebuked Israel today for bombing Syrian fortifications. It also took steps to prevent the border dispute from flaring into a new war between the Jews and Arabs.

Israel has been told, the State Department announced, that the killing of seven Israeli policemen in the Huleh border area "in no way justified" last week's retaliatory bombing of "Syrian territory."

Under an agreement made last May 25 to consult in the event of any violation or threat to United Nations plans for keeping peace between Israel and neighboring Arab states, the United States began discussions with Great Britain and France last Saturday, it was disclosed.

It was also disclosed today, from Paris and London, that Britain and France have urged Israel and Syria to show restraint in their troubles.

Both Syria and Israel have been asked to refrain from further acts of violence, the State Department said. The statement reflected American official anxiety over the possibility of new trouble in an area where Communism may profit from it.

Hot Dogs Win Out Over Hard Cash

YONKERS, N. Y., April 9. (AP)—Hot dogs won out over hard cash last night when a thief invaded a local meat market.

Police said the burglar walked right past the unlocked cash register containing several dollars and entered the refrigerator.

Today a pound of frankfurters was missing from the store. Neither the cash nor other meats were touched.

Senate Approves Measure To Spur Defense Housing

$1,500,000,000 Bill Dispatched To House

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—The Senate passed a $1,500,000,000 defense housing bill today, giving the administration about half the mortgage funds it asked for.

A voice vote sent the measure to the House for consideration there.

The bill is drawn to encourage and support housing construction for defense workers and military personnel in critical areas. Most of the building will be done by private enterprise. The administration asked $3,000,000,000 to finance federal mortgage insurance, but the Senate cut this figure in half.

The bill also would authorize $60,000,000 for federal loans and grants for sewer lines, water systems, hospitals and other community facilities in defense areas.

One section authorizes the creation of a $10,000,000 revolving fund for government condemnation and purchase of land where needed to prevent speculation in defense areas. The land then would be resold at cost to private contractors to build defense housing.

Another $50,000,000 could be appropriated under the bill for direct federal construction of houses in defense areas where private industry is unwilling or unable to meet the need.

The measure also contains a section permitting $15,000,000 in government loans to aid in the production and distribution of prefabricated housing for defense workers.

This part of the bill was amended before passage to place a $500,000 ceiling on loans to any one individual or corporation.

Expropriation Of La Prensa Is Recommended

BUENOS AIRES, April 9 (AP)—The congressional committee appointed to take over the properties of La Prensa and investigate its operation recommended tonight that the Argentine government expropriate the independent newspaper.

The committee's report was submitted to members of President Juan D. Peron's party in the House of Deputies. Afterwards the meeting chairman, Deputy Angel Miel Asquia, said 98 deputies had approved the expropriation by acclamation.

The Peronista Party dominates the House and has no opposition in the Senate.

La Prensa was closed two and a half months ago by a boycott of the news vendors' union, supported by a sympathy strike of printers. Both the news vendors and printers unions are pro-Peron.

Later, on orders from the Peron-dominated Congress, the joint committee of both houses seized the La Prensa offices, printing plant and other properties.

16 Die In Plane Crash

HONG KONG, April 9 (AP)—A two-engined Siamese airlines plane crashed into the sea today off Cape D'Aguilar, seaward tip of Hong Kong island, while attempting a landing through low clouds and rain. All 11 passengers and the Siamese crew of five were believed lost.

Petain Is Suffering From Lung Congestion

ILE D'YEU, France, April 9 (AP)—Marshal Henri Philippie Petain is suffering from a congestion of the lungs in the damp fortress cell where he is serving out a life sentence, it was reported today.

Sources on this bleak Atlantic island said the condition of the 94-year-old World War I hero who headed France's Vichy government in World War II has improved slightly in the last 24 hours. His illness started with a cold.

Legion Head Says:

Lack Of Army Replacements Lowering Morale In Korea

NEW YORK, April 9 (AP)—Erle Cocke, Jr., national American Legion commander, said today a "desperate situation" in Korea offers army troops only two chances of relief from battle—being wounded or killed.

This, he said, is a "wrong that is deadly" to morale.

At the same time, he supported Gen. Douglas MacArthur's view that Chinese Nationalist troops be used against Chinese Reds.

Because of a lack of replacements, Cocke said, "battle weary troops are called upon again and again and again to return to the fighting front without relief."

He said that as a result "young soldiers are so weary from battle that carelessness has set in—carelessness to a point that it is shocking to a person who has followed troops a long time."

Cocke, who returned today from a world tour of 32 countries, said that unlike the Army, the Marines in Korea had a rotation system for relieveing battle-tired men from the front lines.

"The Army warior has no such plum held out to him," he said. "He has one of two choices. Either he is wounded badly enough to get his return ticket to the United States or he is killed and thus relieved of further duty."

Truman Asks Mobilization Cooperation

"Relaxation" One Of Major Problems

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP) — President Truman appealed today for the "complete cooperation of every segment of our population" in the mobilization program.

Mr. Truman made the appeal at the initial meeting of his new mobilization advisory board composed of labor, industry, farm and public members and headed by Economic Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson.

Joseph Short, White House press secretary, told reporters afterwards that Mr. Truman informed the group that "aggression, inflation and relaxation" are the nation's biggest problems.

Asked what Mr. Truman meant by "relaxation" being a problem, Short replied "well, just that in general—he doesn't want the people to let down."

Two Situations Discussed

The President discussed two principal situations with the 17-member board:

1. Ways to change the Defense Production Act to help do a better job of military rearmament and, at the same time, do a more effective job in controlling inflation. The act expires June 30.

2. The problem of putting the Wage Stabilization Board back into business. It has been inactive since union labor representatives walked out two months ago in protest against mobilization policies.

The discussion on both was general; Mr. Truman supplied no specific recommendations.

Mr. Truman opened the hour and one-half long meeting with a short briefing on the military situation abroad—using a map of Korea and a pointer to designate points of interest. Then, as the way the meeting was conducted was related to reporters afterward by Short, Mr Truman made this appeal:

Board To Meet Thursday

"I've got to have the complete cooperation of every segment of our population."

This was a direct plea to the farm, labor, and industry representatives of the new top-level mobilization board to end their quarrels and seek areas of agreement to improve domestic economic stabilization.

The mobilization board will meet again Thursday morning in the White House, with Wilson presiding.

Short said Mr. Truman would not attend this second meeting, at which the group is expected to come down to more specific discussion of the overall inflation problem and the wage stabilization stalemate.

Tunnel Builder Dies At Baltimore

BALTIMORE, April 9 (AP) —Samuel R. Rosoff, subway and tunnel builder, died tonight in Johns Hopkins Hospital, the hospital announced.

Rosoff was 68 and lived in New York City.

He entered the hospital April 1 and was operated on Saturday for a "chronic intestinal condition," a hospital spokesman said. He failed to rally from the operation.

Rosoff built subways, roads and canals in many countries. He owned bus lines and railroads, and made and lost several fortunes.

He boasted that he never went to school a day in his life.

He left his native Russia after his father died, and worked his way to England on a cattle boat. There he got a job as a cabin boy on a ship that brought him to New York in 1892—when he was 11 years old.

"I haven't got any education," he once said. "What I got is what it takes to make guys with an education do the job I want done."

UMT Section Of Draft Measure Rewritten

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—Members of the House Armed Services Committee rewrote the universal military training section of their draft bill today in an effort to ease its passage through the House.

The new version provides for the appointment by President Truman with the advice of the Senate, of a civilian commission to draw up a training and operation plan. The commission would submit it to Congress within six months.

It would then go into the legislative mill to be studied by the House and Senate Armed Services Committees, approved by Congress and okayed by the President before becoming effective.

Blind Triplets To Get Expert Care

Larry, Barry and Harry Terry, three-year-old blind triplets of Pine Knot, Ky., are shown in a hotel at Cincinnati as they paused in their trip to Boston where they will enter the Nursery for Blind Babies for pre-school training. Holding Barry is Miss Mildred Sloan, Stearns, Ky., who became interested in the triplets. She will accompany them to Boston, stopping en route in New York where they will be examined by an eye specialist. The babies were born blind.

Floodwaters Rout 12,000 In Midwest

[By The Associated Press]

Angry floodwaters of spring-swollen rivers have left 12,000 homeless or flooded in the upper midwest, the Red Cross reported Monday. Property damage may exceed $3,000,000.

Robert C. Edson, area director of the Red Cross disaster service, said the Minnesota River forced 4,700 persons from their home in the Mankato, Minn., area.

Army engineers, city officials and contractors supplied the Red Cross with figures on property damage. At least 1,080 homes were affected there. Water ran eight to nine feet deep through the town of North Mankato. To the south, on higher ground, Mankato had about 15 flooded blocks.

River Level Constant

The level of the river remained constant through Monday and there were signs it might abate soon.

The Red Cross established mass shelter and feeding facilities and rushed cots and blankets to the scene.

The Red Cross operated a task force of 30 rowboats, 20 trucks and 10 tractors in Lyon County near Marshall, Minn., where the Redwood River flooded the countryside. Edson estimated 2,800 needed help there.

The Weather Bureau in Chicago gave further hope for relief. It predicted slight precipitation in the flood areas.

Spring thaws dumped more water into already swollen streams elsewhere in Minnesota, South Dakota and Iowa.

Other Streams Rising

The Minnesota River also was rising at St. Peter, 12 miles downstream from Mankato, and at New Ulm, 30 miles upstream. The river has its source in Western Minnesota, where much snow still remains to be melted.

The Red River also was rising. Flood warnings were posted at Moorhead, Minn., and Fargo, N. D., across the river from each other.

At Sioux Falls, S. D., some 1,500 persons still were unable to return to their homes but the Big Sioux River apparently had crested there and was starting to fall.

Missouri Job-Seekers Tell Of "Contributions"

JACKSON, Miss., April 9 (AP)—Two witnesses told a Senate investigating committee today of making $1,000 "voluntary contributions" to the pro-Truman Mississippi Democratic Committee in an effort to get the same rural mail carrier job.

Sidney Ayres and E. G. Moorehead, testifying at the opening hearing on charges that federal jobs were sold in Mississippi, said they understood the payments were necessary. Both said they gave their money to persons close to the pro-Truman group, but not actually affiliated with it. Ayres failed to get the job and his money was returned.

Little Fall Does Damage

LA ROCHELLE, France, April 9 (AP)—Michel Berthole, 18, fell today while working on a roof 55 feet above the street. His plunge was interrupted by a mattress atop a passing truck and he wasn't hurt.

Then he fell off the truck—and broke his ankle.

Truman Plans No Disciplinary Action Against Gen. M'Arthur

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—President Truman was reported today to have ruled out any action against Gen. Douglas MacArthur that would affect MacArthur's status as supreme commander in the Far East.

The possibility remained that the President might publicly or privately rebuke the General for his open split with the administration—and with United Nations policies—over the conduct of the war with the Chinese Communists.

Also today, House Speaker Rayburn said the Russians are building up strength in a variety of places and Sen. McMahon (D-Conn.) agreed with Rayburn that the U. S. is in "terrible danger."

President In Middle

MacArthur set off an international uproar, with Mr. Truman in the middle of it, by coming out last week in favor of using Chinese Nationalist forces to open a "second front" against the Reds as a means of relieving pressure on U. N. troops in Korea.

Many Republicans strongly backed the General's stand. But from this country's allies abroad, there were quick and sharp protests against any spreading of the Korean war. In some foreign quarters, and from a few Democrats at home, there were demands that MacArthur be removed from his command.

An informed congressional official said today, however, that Mr. Truman doesn't want to do anything that might upset the situation in Japan and thereby give the Russians a chance to demand a bigger share in running Japanese affairs.

Party Leaders, Truman Confer

MacArthur heads the Allied occupation force in Japan as well as the United Nations forces fighting in Korea. Russia is one of the Japanese occupation powers. MacArthur has been running Japan so far without taking much advice from the Russians.

While the MacArthur controversy sizzled, Speaker Rayburn told reporters: "I know that we are in terrible danger because the Russians are concentrating here and there and everywhere."

The Texas Democrat made the statement a few minutes after he and other party leaders in Congress met with the President at the White House.

"Masked" Window Peeper Is Nabbed

GREELEY, Colo., April 9 (AP)—Police called for help in nabbing a window peeper here last night.

Pretty Mrs. Herman Meisner was undressing for bed when she saw him. Two sharp eyes behind a black mask stared through the glass of the front door. She screamed, and her husband called the cops.

After their arrival police had to call men from the city pound to catch the peeper—a nervy racoon perched on a cross bar of the screen door.

Albania Protests Border Violated

LONDON, April 9 (AP) — Isolated Red Satellite Albania has charged in formal protests that her anti-Cominform neighbors—Greece, Yugoslavia and Italy—have violated her territory by land, sea and air in a series of frontier provocations.

The tiny country of Communist Premier Col. Gen. Enver Hoxha declared that Moscow-hating Yugoslavia was trying to touch off World War III, that Italy sent eight flights of planes over her territory, and that Greece committed 18 border violations between March 1 and March 28.

The protests, reported by the Soviet news agency Tass, gave the first official support to reports from widely scattered unofficial sources that the Hoxha regime had thwarted a planned revolt aided by 3,000 anti-Communist Albanians, Turks, Greeks and Yugoslavs who had slipped into the country.

Reply To Schoolboy:

Teacher Wrong In Saying FDR Killed Self, Doctor Says

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt's doctor has informed a 14-year-old Virginia schoolboy that his civics teacher was wrong in saying that the late President committed suicide.

Henry Park, an eighth grade pupil of the Aldie, Va., school, sent a letter to Vice-Adm. Ross T. McIntire, President Roosevelt's personal physician, saying:

"Our civics teacher told the class that, among other things, President Roosevelt committed suicide by shooting himself. He says that is why Mrs. Roosevelt did not get to see the President after he was dead and why the President did not lie in state.

"I think that President Roosevelt was our greatest president and it is terrible when people go around saying stuff like that. That is why I am writing you, because I think a statement from a person that is recognized as knowing about President Roosevelt would convince all of the class and maybe even the teacher."

The letter, dated March 18, was sent to the Washington Evening Star for forwarding to Adm. McIntire.

The Star today published the boy's letter and the Admiral's reply:

"I can say positively that President Roosevelt did not commit suicide in any way. I am very much surprised that a teacher in a school would make such a statement, for teachers should take the trouble to inform themselves before passing on information to their students.

"Mrs. Roosevelt would tell you that she did see the President after he was dead and I can say to you that I know the other members of the family did also. The President did not lie in state and that was a decision that was made by Mrs. Roosevelt. I can also tell you that I had heard him express himself on that subject many years before

Allies Skirt Flood In Push Toward Dam

Task Force Meets Rifle, Mortar Fire

TOKYO, Tuesday, April 10. (AP)—Chinese Communists opened the gates of Korea's third largest dam Monday in a vain attempt to flood out advancing Allied forces on the central front.

Late field dispatches said it looked as though the spectacular Red maneuver itself was a washout: The Chinese had failed to open enough gates simultaneously to create the deluge they had plotted.

Millions of tons of water for a time lifted the Pukhan river as high as seven and one-half feet in some of its narrower gorges, but by noon it was receding.

Alert American MPs and engineers saved a pontoon bridge by disconnecting one end.

Allies Skirt Flood Tide

A strong United Nations tank force, skirting the flood tide, roared northward in a drive intended to seize the 880-foot long Hwachon dam, six and one-half miles north of the 38th parallel, before the Chinese could do more damage.

The task force met Red rifle, machine-gun and mortar fire as it moved toward the 275-foot high dam, said AP Correspondent Tom Bradshaw.

Other American, French, Greek, Thai (Siamese) and South Korean units speared toward the southern banks of the 11-mile long reservoir with little opposition.

Red troops were holding well-camouflaged hill positions to the north and in the town of Hwachon itself, which is on the western tip of the reservoir.

Hwachon forms the southeast tip of a triangular defense area where the Communists have concentrated up to 180,000 troops.

Chorwon, 17 miles north of the 38th parallel, forms the southwest leg of the triangle, and Kumwha the northeast leg.

Chorwon Under Heavy Fire

Allied artillery brought Chorwon under heavy fire Monday. In other actions, aggressive U. N. patrols poked north of the Hantan River on the western front, where a Red buildup also has been reported. Communists were swept from another hill in the northward push.

On the east-central front Allied units slogging through the mountains southwest of Inge met stubborn resistance from Korean Reds.

South Koreans continued their slow advance along the east coast.

It was still a question whether the Chinese and North Koreans were attempting to stall for time while massing a half-million men for a long-expected offensive down three major corridors into South Korea.

At Eighth Army headquarters AP Correspondent Leif Erickson said there was still no indication that the new Red drive had been ordered.

Martin Backs Move To Recall MacArthur

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP) — House Republican Leader Joseph Martin, Jr., (Mass) said today he favors bringing Gen. Douglas MacArthur home to report personally to Congress on the danger of expanding war in the Far East.

Martin told reporters he will back a resolution Rep. Van Zandt (R-Pa), a member of the House Armed Services Committee, proposes to introduce tomorrow.

This resolution, if adopted, would advise the President that it is the wish of the House that he, as commander-in-chief, direct MacArthur to return to the United States and report to Congress.

Brief Escape Adds 10 Years To Prison Term

SANTA MONICA, Calif., April 9 (AP)—A convicted robber made a brief escape today—his second—and drew at least an extra 10 years in prison as a result.

Darrell Graham, 19, had been sentenced to two concurrent terms of 10 years to life in San Quentin on charges involving eight holdups. Sitting in an anteroom, he suddenly broke for a window, dropped two stories to the ground.

Officers Milton Keiser collared him three blocks away.

Back in court, Superior Thurlow Taft ordered the two sentences to run consecutively, not concurrently.

Sources on this bleak Atlantic island said the condition of the 94-year-old World War I hero who headed France's Vichy government in World War II has improved slightly in the last 24 hours. His illness started with a cold.

Lack Of Army Replacements Lowering Morale In Korea

NEW YORK, April 9 (AP)—Erle Cocke, Jr., national American Legion commander, said today a "desperate situation" in Korea offers army troops only two chances of relief from battle—being wounded or killed.

This, he said, is a "wrong that is deadly" to morale.

At the same time, he supported Gen. Douglas MacArthur's view that Chinese Nationalist troops be used against Chinese Reds.

Because of a lack of replacements, Cocke said, "battle weary troops are called upon again and again and again to return to the fighting front without relief."

He said that as a result "young soldiers are so weary from battle that carelessness has set in—carelessness to a point that it is shocking to a person who has followed troops a long time."

Cocke, who returned today from a world tour of 32 countries, said that unlike the Army, the Marines in Korea had a rotation system for relieveing battle-tired men from the front lines.

"The Army warior has no such plum held out to him," he said. "He has one of two choices. Either he is wounded badly enough to get his return ticket to the United States or he is killed and thus relieved of further duty."

Truman Asks Mobilization Cooperation

"Relaxation" One Of Major Problems

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP) — President Truman appealed today for the "complete cooperation of every segment of our population" in the mobilization program.

Mr. Truman made the appeal at the initial meeting of his new mobilization advisory board composed of labor, industry, farm and public members and headed by Economic Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson.

Joseph Short, White House press secretary, told reporters afterwards that Mr. Truman informed the group that "aggression, inflation and relaxation" are the nation's biggest problems.

Asked what Mr. Truman meant by "relaxation" being a problem, Short replied "well, just that in general—he doesn't want the people to let down."

Two Situations Discussed

The President discussed two principal situations with the 17-member board:

1. Ways to change the Defense Production Act to help do a better job of military rearmament and, at the same time, do a more effective job in controlling inflation. The act expires June 30.

2. The problem of putting the Wage Stabilization Board back into business. It has been inactive since union labor representatives walked out two months ago in protest against mobilization policies.

The discussion on both was general; Mr. Truman supplied no specific recommendations.

Mr. Truman opened the hour and one-half long meeting with a short briefing on the military situation abroad—using a map of Korea and a pointer to designate points of interest. Then, as the way the meeting was conducted was related to reporters afterward by Short, Mr Truman made this appeal:

Board To Meet Thursday

"I've got to have the complete cooperation of every segment of our population."

This was a direct plea to the farm, labor, and industry representatives of the new top-level mobilization board to end their quarrels and seek areas of agreement to improve domestic economic stabilization.

The mobilization board will meet again Thursday morning in the White House, with Wilson presiding.

Short said Mr. Truman would not attend this second meeting, at which the group is expected to come down to more specific discussion of the overall inflation problem and the wage stabilization stalemate.

Tunnel Builder Dies At Baltimore

BALTIMORE, April 9 (AP) —Samuel R. Rosoff, subway and tunnel builder, died tonight in Johns Hopkins Hospital, the hospital announced.

Rosoff was 68 and lived in New York City.

He entered the hospital April 1 and was operated on Saturday for a "chronic intestinal condition," a hospital spokesman said. He failed to rally from the operation.

Rosoff built subways, roads and canals in many countries. He owned bus lines and railroads, and made and lost several fortunes.

He boasted that he never went to school a day in his life.

He left his native Russia after his father died, and worked his way to England on a cattle boat. There he got a job as a cabin boy on a ship that brought him to New York in 1892—when he was 11 years old.

"I haven't got any education," he once said. "What I got is what it takes to make guys with an education do the job I want done."

UMT Section Of Draft Measure Rewritten

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—Members of the House Armed Services Committee rewrote the universal military training section of their draft bill today in an effort to ease its passage through the House.

The new version provides for the appointment by President Truman with the advice of the Senate, of a civilian commission to draw up a training and operation plan. The commission would submit it to Congress within six months.

It would then go into the legislative mill to be studied by the House and Senate Armed Services Committees, approved by Congress and okayed by the President before becoming effective.

Floodwaters Rout 12,000 In Midwest

[By The Associated Press]

Angry floodwaters of spring-swollen rivers have left 12,000 homeless or flooded in the upper midwest, the Red Cross reported Monday. Property damage may exceed $3,000,000.

Robert C. Edson, area director of the Red Cross disaster service, said the Minnesota River forced 4,700 persons from their home in the Mankato, Minn., area.

Army engineers, city officials and contractors supplied the Red Cross with figures on property damage. At least 1,080 homes were affected there. Water ran eight to nine feet deep through the town of North Mankato. To the south, on higher ground, Mankato had about 15 flooded blocks.

River Level Constant

The level of the river remained constant through Monday and there were signs it might abate soon.

The Red Cross established mass shelter and feeding facilities and rushed cots and blankets to the scene.

The Red Cross operated a task force of 30 rowboats, 20 trucks and 10 tractors in Lyon County near Marshall, Minn., where the Redwood River flooded the countryside. Edson estimated 2,800 needed help there.

The Weather Bureau in Chicago gave further hope for relief. It predicted slight precipitation in the flood areas.

Spring thaws dumped more water into already swollen streams elsewhere in Minnesota, South Dakota and Iowa.

Other Streams Rising

The Minnesota River also was rising at St. Peter, 12 miles downstream from Mankato, and at New Ulm, 30 miles upstream. The river has its source in Western Minnesota, where much snow still remains to be melted.

The Red River also was rising. Flood warnings were posted at Moorhead, Minn., and Fargo, N. D., across the river from each other.

At Sioux Falls, S. D., some 1,500 persons still were unable to return to their homes but the Big Sioux River apparently had crested there and was starting to fall.

Missouri Job-Seekers Tell Of "Contributions"

JACKSON, Miss., April 9 (AP)—Two witnesses told a Senate investigating committee today of making $1,000 "voluntary contributions" to the pro-Truman Mississippi Democratic Committee in an effort to get the same rural mail carrier job.

Sidney Ayres and E. G. Moorehead, testifying at the opening hearing on charges that federal jobs were sold in Mississippi, said they understood the payments were necessary. Both said they gave their money to persons close to the pro-Truman group, but not actually affiliated with it. Ayres failed to get the job and his money was returned.

Little Fall Does Damage

LA ROCHELLE, France, April 9 (AP)—Michel Berthole, 18, fell today while working on a roof 55 feet above the street. His plunge was interrupted by a mattress atop a passing truck and he wasn't hurt.

Then he fell off the truck—and broke his ankle.

Truman Plans No Disciplinary Action Against Gen. M'Arthur

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—President Truman was reported today to have ruled out any action against Gen. Douglas MacArthur that would affect MacArthur's status as supreme commander in the Far East.

The possibility remained that the President might publicly or privately rebuke the General for his open split with the administration—and with United Nations policies—over the conduct of the war with the Chinese Communists.

Also today, House Speaker Rayburn said the Russians are building up strength in a variety of places and Sen. McMahon (D-Conn.) agreed with Rayburn that the U. S. is in "terrible danger."

President In Middle

MacArthur set off an international uproar, with Mr. Truman in the middle of it, by coming out last week in favor of using Chinese Nationalist forces to open a "second front" against the Reds as a means of relieving pressure on U. N. troops in Korea.

Many Republicans strongly backed the General's stand. But from this country's allies abroad, there were quick and sharp protests against any spreading of the Korean war. In some foreign quarters, and from a few Democrats at home, there were demands that MacArthur be removed from his command.

An informed congressional official said today, however, that Mr. Truman doesn't want to do anything that might upset the situation in Japan and thereby give the Russians a chance to demand a bigger share in running Japanese affairs.

Party Leaders, Truman Confer

MacArthur heads the Allied occupation force in Japan as well as the United Nations forces fighting in Korea. Russia is one of the Japanese occupation powers. MacArthur has been running Japan so far without taking much advice from the Russians.

While the MacArthur controversy sizzled, Speaker Rayburn told reporters: "I know that we are in terrible danger because the Russians are concentrating here and there and everywhere."

The Texas Democrat made the statement a few minutes after he and other party leaders in Congress met with the President at the White House.

"Masked" Window Peeper Is Nabbed

GREELEY, Colo., April 9 (AP)—Police called for help in nabbing a window peeper here last night.

Pretty Mrs. Herman Meisner was undressing for bed when she saw him. Two sharp eyes behind a black mask stared through the glass of the front door. She screamed, and her husband called the cops.

After their arrival police had to call men from the city pound to catch the peeper—a nervy racoon perched on a cross bar of the screen door.

Albania Protests Border Violated

LONDON, April 9 (AP) — Isolated Red Satellite Albania has charged in formal protests that her anti-Cominform neighbors—Greece, Yugoslavia and Italy—have violated her territory by land, sea and air in a series of frontier provocations.

The tiny country of Communist Premier Col. Gen. Enver Hoxha declared that Moscow-hating Yugoslavia was trying to touch off World War III, that Italy sent eight flights of planes over her territory, and that Greece committed 18 border violations between March 1 and March 28.

The protests, reported by the Soviet news agency Tass, gave the first official support to reports from widely scattered unofficial sources that the Hoxha regime had thwarted a planned revolt aided by 3,000 anti-Communist Albanians, Turks, Greeks and Yugoslavs who had slipped into the country.

Teacher Wrong In Saying FDR Killed Self, Doctor Says

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt's doctor has informed a 14-year-old Virginia schoolboy that his civics teacher was wrong in saying that the late President committed suicide.

Henry Park, an eighth grade pupil of the Aldie, Va., school, sent a letter to Vice-Adm. Ross T. McIntire, President Roosevelt's personal physician, saying:

"Our civics teacher told the class that, among other things, President Roosevelt committed suicide by shooting himself. He says that is why Mrs. Roosevelt did not get to see the President after he was dead and why the President did not lie in state.

"I think that President Roosevelt was our greatest president and it is terrible when people go around saying stuff like that. That is why I am writing you, because I think a statement from a person that is recognized as knowing about President Roosevelt would convince all of the class and maybe even the teacher."

The letter, dated March 18, was sent to the Washington Evening Star for forwarding to Adm. McIntire.

The Star today published the boy's letter and the Admiral's reply:

"I can say positively that President Roosevelt did not commit suicide in any way. I am very much surprised that a teacher in a school would make such a statement, for teachers should take the trouble to inform themselves before passing on information to their students.

"Mrs. Roosevelt would tell you that she did see the President after he was dead and I can say to you that I know the other members of the family did also. The President did not lie in state and that was a decision that was made by Mrs. Roosevelt. I can also tell you that I had heard him express himself on that subject many years before

Task Force Meets Rifle, Mortar Fire

TOKYO, Tuesday, April 10. (AP)—Chinese Communists opened the gates of Korea's third largest dam Monday in a vain attempt to flood out advancing Allied forces on the central front.

Late field dispatches said it looked as though the spectacular Red maneuver itself was a washout: The Chinese had failed to open enough gates simultaneously to create the deluge they had plotted.

Millions of tons of water for a time lifted the Pukhan river as high as seven and one-half feet in some of its narrower gorges, but by noon it was receding.

Alert American MPs and engineers saved a pontoon bridge by disconnecting one end.

Allies Skirt Flood Tide

A strong United Nations tank force, skirting the flood tide, roared northward in a drive intended to seize the 880-foot long Hwachon dam, six and one-half miles north of the 38th parallel, before the Chinese could do more damage.

The task force met Red rifle, machine-gun and mortar fire as it moved toward the 275-foot high dam, said AP Correspondent Tom Bridshaw.

Other American, French, Greek, Thai (Siamese) and South Korean units speared toward the southern banks of the 11-mile long reservoir with little opposition.

Red troops were holding well-camouflaged hill positions to the north and in the town of Hwachon itself, which is on the western tip of the reservoir.

Hwachon forms the southeast tip of a triangular defense area where the Communists have concentrated up to 180,000 troops.

Chorwon, 17 miles north of the 38th parallel, forms the southwest leg of the triangle, and Kumwha the northeast leg.

Chorwon Under Heavy Fire

Allied artillery brought Chorwon under heavy fire Monday. In other actions, aggressive U. N. patrols poked north of the Hantan River on the western front, where a Red buildup also has been reported. Communists were swept from another hill in the northward push.

On the east-central front Allied units slogging through the mountains southwest of Inge met stubborn resistance from Korean Reds.

South Koreans continued their slow advance along the east coast.

It was still a question whether the Chinese and North Koreans were attempting to stall for time while massing a half-million men for a long-expected offensive down three major corridors into South Korea.

At Eighth Army headquarters AP Correspondent Leif Erickson said there was still no indication that the new Red drive had been ordered.

Martin Backs Move To Recall MacArthur

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP) — House Republican Leader Joseph Martin, Jr., (Mass) said today he favors bringing Gen. Douglas MacArthur home to report personally to Congress on the danger of expanding war in the Far East.

Martin told reporters he will back a resolution Rep. Van Zandt (R-Pa), a member of the House Armed Services Committee, proposes to introduce tomorrow.

This resolution, if adopted, would advise the President that it is the wish of the House that he, as commander-in-chief, direct MacArthur to return to the United States and report to Congress.

Brief Escape Adds 10 Years To Prison Term

SANTA MONICA, Calif., April 9 (AP)—A convicted robber made a brief escape today—his second—and drew at least an extra 10 years in prison as a result.

Darrell Graham, 19, had been sentenced to two concurrent terms of 10 years to life in San Quentin on charges involving eight holdups. Sitting in an anteroom, he suddenly broke for a window, dropped two stories to the ground.

Officers Milton Keiser collared him three blocks away.

Rail Workers Are Denied Full 6-Cent Cost Of Living Pay Hike

Million Non-Operating Employes Will Receive 1½ Cent Increase, Army Says

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—A million railroad workers aren't going to get the full six cents an hour cost of living increase promised them in a White House wage agreement.

Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston said the full six cents would be more than the wage freeze allows, and so the Army announced today that the increase would be limited to 1½ cents.

President Truman, however, has ordered the creation of a special panel to consider the conflict between the March 1 wage agreement and the stabilization program. And the Army said it will consider the cost-of-living payment after this panel's report is approved.

The workers involved are non-operating employes such as shop workers, clerks and machinists.

Union Chief Sees Repercussions

The president of one of their unions, Jesse Clark of the AFL Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen, said the Army's decision "will have serious repercussions."

"It will cause an upheaval in the industry and in the country as a whole," Clark said in Chicago. "There's a lot of unrest right now and this isn't going to help matters."

Non-operating employes won a flat 12½ cents an hour increase in a mediation agreement reached at the White House in March. In addition, this agreement called for a cost of living raise that worked out to an additional six cents an hour on April 1.

Army "Runs" Railroads

The Army, which took technical control of the railroads during a strike last summer and still "runs" them, said the total increase thus would be higher than the 10 per cent permitted under the wage stabilization ceiling.

Assistant Secretary Karl R. Bendetsen said the largest amount permitted under the formula would be 14 cents, and so the Army allowed a 1½ cent cost of living rise in addition to the flat 12½ cents.

Bendetsen said the remainder of the increase was withheld in accordance with an opinion given by the Attorney General after Johnston recommended against the full payment.

NYC Will Furlough Several Thousand As Business Drops

NEW YORK, April 9 (AP)—The New York Central Railroad announced today it is laying off several thousand employes later this week partly because freight business has dropped.

Wage increases, rises in materials costs, and losses from a switchmen's strike also were cited as reasons for the layoff.

A railroad spokesman said he could give no figures on the numbers to be laid off, but they would be mainly non-operating terminal employes.

The layoffs, he said, would affect all major points in the railroad's system in 11 eastern states.

Douglas Opposes RFC's Abolition, Hits Moral Laxity

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) came out today against abolishing the Reconstruction Finance Corporation he helped to investigate. To kill the agency at this time, he said, "would be like throwing the baby out with the bath."

"The RFC, with all its faults, has served many useful functions—especially in filling a gap in our credit structure," Douglas said. He added that it can continue to serve the public if it is properly conducted.

The Illinois Democrat also called for a higher standard of ethics in the national capital, where he claimed there was too much moral laxity.

"Government work should not be settled at cocktail parties or around dinner tables in hotels," he said.

Douglas' observations were made in an interview to be broadcast tonight in his home state.

Douglas is a member of the Senate subcommittee which investigated the RFC and reported that political favoritism and influence had affected the agency's multi-million dollar lending policy.

He said he felt these abuses can be corrected largely by reorganizing the RFC as President Truman has suggested.

Israel Rebuked By United States

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—The United States rebuked Israel today for bombing Syrian fortifications. It also took steps to prevent the border dispute from flaring into a new war between the Jews and Arabs.

Israel has been told, the State Department announced, that the killing of seven Israeli policemen in the Huleh border area "in no way justified" last week's retaliatory bombing of "Syrian territory."

Under an agreement made last May 25 to consult in the event of any violation or threat to United Nations plans for keeping peace between Israel and neighboring Arab states, the United States began discussions with Great Britain and France last Saturday, it was disclosed.

It was also disclosed today, from Paris and London, that Britain and France have urged Israel and Syria to show restraint in their troubles.

Both Syria and Israel have been asked to refrain from further acts of violence, the State Department said. The statement reflected American official anxiety over the possibility of new trouble in an area where Communism may profit from it.

Hot Dogs Win Out Over Hard Cash

YONKERS, N. Y., April 9. (AP)—Hot dogs won out over hard cash last night when a thief invaded a local meat market.

Police said the burglar walked right past the unlocked cash register containing several dollars and entered the refrigerator.

Today, a pound of frankfurters was missing from the store. Neither the cash nor other meats were touched.

Senate Approves Measure To Spur Defense Housing

$1,500,000,000 Bill Dispatched To House

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—The Senate passed a $1,500,000,000 defense housing bill today, giving the administration about half the mortgage funds it asked for.

A voice vote sent the measure to the House for consideration there.

The bill is drawn to encourage and support housing construction for defense workers and military personnel in critical areas. Most of the building will be done by private enterprise. The administration asked $3,000,000,000 to finance federal mortgage insurance, but the Senate cut this figure in half.

The bill also would authorize $60,000,000 for federal loans and grants for sewer lines, water systems, hospitals and other community facilities in defense areas.

One section authorizes the creation of a $10,000,000 revolving fund for government condemnation and purchase of land where needed to prevent speculation in defense areas. The land then would be resold at cost to private contractors to build defense housing.

Another $50,000,000 could be appropriated under the bill for direct federal construction of houses in defense areas where private industry is unwilling or unable to meet the need.

The measure also contains a section permitting $15,000,000 in government loans to aid in the production and distribution of prefabricated housing for defense workers.

This part of the bill was amended before passage to place a $500,000 ceiling on loans to any one individual or corporation.

Expropriation Of La Prensa Is Recommended

BUENOS AIRES, April 9 (AP)—The congressional committee appointed to take over the properties of La Prensa and investigate its operation recommended tonight that the Argentine government expropriate the independent newspaper.

The committee's report was submitted to members of President Juan D. Peron's party in the House of Deputies. Afterwards the meeting chairman, Deputy Angel Miel Asquia, said 98 deputies had approved the expropriation by acclamation.

The Peronista Party dominates the House and has no opposition in the Senate.

La Prensa was closed two and a half months ago by a boycott of the news vendors' union, supported by a sympathy strike of printers. Both the news vendors and printers unions are pro-Peron.

Later, on orders from the Peron-dominated Congress, the joint committee of both houses seized the La Prensa offices, printing plant and other properties.

Truman Plans No Disciplinary Action Against Gen. M'Arthur

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—President Truman was reported today to have ruled out any action against Gen. Douglas MacArthur that would affect MacArthur's status as supreme commander in the Far East.

The possibility remained that the President might publicly or privately rebuke the General for his open split with the administration—and with United Nations policies—over the conduct of the war with the Chinese Communists.

Also today, House Speaker Rayburn said the Russians are building up strength in a variety of places and Sen. McMahon (D-Conn.) agreed with Rayburn that the U. S. is in "terrible danger."

President In Middle

MacArthur set off an international uproar, with Mr. Truman in the middle of it, by coming out last week in favor of using Chinese Nationalist forces to open a "second front" against the Reds as a means of relieving pressure on U. N. troops in Korea.

Many Republicans strongly backed the General's stand. But from this country's allies abroad, there were quick and sharp protests against any spreading of the Korean war. In some foreign quarters, and from a few Democrats at home, there were demands that MacArthur be removed from his command.

An informed congressional official said today, however, that Mr. Truman doesn't want to do anything that might upset the situation in Japan and thereby give the Russians a chance to demand a bigger share in running Japanese affairs.

Party Leaders, Truman Confer

MacArthur heads the Allied occupation force in Japan as well as the United Nations forces fighting in Korea. Russia is one of the Japanese occupation powers. MacArthur has been running Japan so far without taking much advice from the Russians.

While the MacArthur controversy sizzled, Speaker Rayburn told reporters: "I know that we are in terrible danger because the Russians are concentrating here and there and everywhere."

The Texas Democrat made the statement a few minutes after he and other party leaders in Congress met with the President at the White House.

"Masked" Window Peeper Is Nabbed

GREELEY, Colo., April 9 (AP)—Police called for help in nabbing a window peeper here last night.

Pretty Mrs. Herman Meisner was undressing for bed when she saw him. Two sharp eyes behind a black mask stared through the glass of the front door. She screamed, and her husband called the cops.

After their arrival police had to call men from the city pound to catch the peeper—a nervy racoon perched on a cross bar of the screen door.

Albania Protests Border Violated

LONDON, April 9 (AP) — Isolated Red Satellite Albania has charged in formal protests that her anti-Cominform neighbors—Greece, Yugoslavia and Italy—have violated her territory by land, sea and air in a series of frontier provocations.

The tiny country of Communist Premier Col. Gen. Enver Hoxha declared that Moscow-hating Yugoslavia was trying to touch off World War III, that Italy sent eight flights of planes over her territory, and that Greece committed 18 border violations between March 1 and March 28.

The protests, reported by the Soviet news agency Tass, gave the first official support to reports from widely scattered unofficial sources that the Hoxha regime had thwarted a planned revolt aided by 3,000 anti-Communist Albanians, Turks, Greeks and Yugoslavs who had slipped into the country.

Teacher Wrong In Saying FDR Killed Self, Doctor Says

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt's doctor has informed a 14-year-old Virginia schoolboy that his civics teacher was wrong in saying that the late President committed suicide.

Henry Park, an eighth grade pupil of the Aldie, Va., school, sent a letter to Vice-Adm. Ross T. McIntire, President Roosevelt's personal physician, saying:

"Our civics teacher told the class that, among other things, President Roosevelt committed suicide by shooting himself. He says that is why Mrs. Roosevelt did not get to see the President after he was dead and why the President did not lie in state.

"I think that President Roosevelt was our greatest president and it is terrible when people go around saying stuff like that. That is why I am writing you, because I think a statement from a person that is recognized as knowing about President Roosevelt would convince all of the class and maybe even the teacher."

The letter, dated March 18, was sent to the Washington Evening Star for forwarding to Adm. McIntire.

The Star today published the boy's letter and the Admiral's reply:

"I can say positively that President Roosevelt did not commit suicide in any way. I am very much surprised that a teacher in a school would make such a statement, for teachers should take the trouble to inform themselves before passing on information to their students.

"Mrs. Roosevelt would tell you that she did see the President after he was dead and I can say to you that I know the other members of the family did also. The President did not lie in state and that was a decision that was made by Mrs. Roosevelt. I can also tell you that I had heard him express himself on that subject many years before

Task Force Meets Rifle, Mortar Fire

TOKYO, Tuesday, April 10. (AP)—Chinese Communists opened the gates of Korea's third largest dam Monday in a vain attempt to flood out advancing Allied forces on the central front.

Late field dispatches said it looked as though the spectacular Red maneuver itself was a washout: The Chinese had failed to open enough gates simultaneously to create the deluge they had plotted.

Millions of tons of water for a time lifted the Pukhan river as high as seven and one-half feet in some of its narrower gorges, but by noon it was receding.

Alert American MPs and engineers saved a pontoon bridge by disconnecting one end.

Allies Skirt Flood Tide

A strong United Nations tank force, skirting the flood tide, roared northward in a drive intended to seize the 380-foot long Hwachon dam, six and one-half miles north of the 38th parallel, before the Chinese could do more damage.

The task force met Red rifle, machine-gun and mortar fire as it moved toward the 275-foot high dam, said AP Correspondent Tom Bradshaw.

Other American, French, Greek, Thai (Siamese) and South Korean units speared toward the southern banks of the 11-mile long reservoir with little opposition.

Red troops were holding well-camouflaged hill positions to the north and in the town of Hwachon itself, which is on the western tip of the reservoir.

Hwachon forms the southeast tip of a triangular defense area where the Communists have concentrated up to 180,000 troops.

Chorwon, 17 miles north of the 38th parallel, forms the southwest leg of the triangle, and Kumwha the northeast leg.

Chorwon Under Heavy Fire

Allied artillery brought Chorwon under heavy fire Monday. In other actions, aggressive U. N. patrols poked north of the Hantan River on the western front, where a Red buildup also has been reported. Communists were swept from another hill in the northward push.

On the east-central front Allied units slogging through the mountains southwest of Inge met stubborn resistance from Korean Reds.

South Koreans continued their slow advance along the east coast.

It was still a question whether the Chinese and North Koreans were attempting to stall for time while massing a half-million men for a long-expected offensive down three major corridors into South Korea.

At Eighth Army headquarters AP Correspondent Leif Erickson said there was still no indication that the new Red drive had been ordered.

Martin Backs Move To Recall MacArthur

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP) — House Republican Leader Joseph Martin, Jr., (Mass) said today he favors bringing Gen. Douglas MacArthur home to report personally to Congress on the danger of expanding war in the Far East.

Martin told reporters he will back a resolution Rep. Van Zandt (R-Pa), a member of the House Armed Services Committee, proposes to introduce tomorrow.

This resolution, if adopted, would advise the President that it is the wish of the House that he, as commander-in-chief, direct MacArthur to return to the United States and report to Congress.

Brief Escape Adds 10 Years To Prison Term

SANTA MONICA, Calif., April 9 (AP)—A convicted robber made a brief escape today—his second—and drew at least an extra 10 years in prison as a result.

Darrell Graham, 19, had been sentenced to two concurrent terms of 10 years to life in San Quentin on charges involving eight holdups. Sitting in an anteroom, he suddenly broke for a window, dropped two stories to the ground.

Officers Milton Keiser collared him three blocks away.

Back in court, Superior Thurlow Taft ordered the two sentences to run consecutively, not concurrently.

Baby Chokes To Death

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP) — Steven John Carlson, four months old, choked to death today when a piece of cleansing tissue became lodged in his throat, Corner A. Magruder MacDonald reported.

High Court Sets Aside Conviction Of Two Negroes

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—The Supreme Court set aside today the conviction of two Florida negroes who had been sentenced to die for the rape of a white girl.

Two justices said their trial was "but a legal gesture to register a verdict already dictated by the press and the public opinion which it generated."

But the majority of seven justices reversed the judgements because negroes were excluded from the trial jury. Their brief order didn't discuss other issues.

Rape of the 17-year-old girl brought racial violence to little Groveland, Fla. in July, 1949. White mobs attempted a lynching and burned negro homes. Negroes fled the community. One negro suspect was killed when he resisted arrest. Troops were called to restore quiet.

Justice Jackson, with Justice Frankfurter agreeing, wrote the opinion charging that the trial of Samuel Shepherd and Walter Irvin, the Florida negroes, was an example of "one of the worst menaces to American justice."

In a comment from the bench, not included in the written opinion, Justice Jackson said, "it is becoming a question whether under modern methods of publicity a fair trial can be granted any man."

The written opinion said newspapers printed stories of alleged confessions by the negroes, which jury members read, but the confessions were never even mentioned in court. "It is hard to imagine a more prejudicial influence," Jackson wrote.

Virginian Is Charged With Grand Larceny Of Diesel Locomotive

COVINGTON, Va., April 9 (AP) — Stanley Lee McNeil, 29, Route 4, Roanoke, has been charged with grand larceny—of a Diesel locomotive.

The charge was placed against McNeil early Sunday after he allegedly took over the engine as it was left warming up in the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway yards here.

Sheriff W. T. Henderson was called to the yards after Yard Conductor A. F. Hayes observed the engine moving. C&O employes gave chase afoot and held McNeil until Henderson arrived.

The engine rammed a half dozen gondolas, loaded with cinders, and pushed them along the tracks until the Diesel was brought to a stop half a mile east of the C&O station. One of the gondolas was damaged when the locomotive rammed into it.

Supreme Court Hears Ober Law Arguments

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—The question of whether Maryland's Ober loyalty law violates constitutional rights was argued today before the Supreme Court.

Constitutionality of the section requiring a loyalty oath by persons running for state or city office was challenged by Thelma Gerende, Baltimore.

She refused to sign the loyalty oath in seeking to run for the Baltimore City Council. Maryland courts held that to become a candidate she was obliged to sign.

There has been no previous official record for such a course.

Germ Warfare Probably Couldn't Start Large-Scale U. S. Epidemics

ST. LOUIS, April 9 (AP)—Biological warfare probably couldn't start large-scale disease epidemics in America, Dr. Robert E. Dyer of Emory University said today.

Biological war is being discussed as a new kind of war. Enemy planes or ships could spread disease germs. Or saboteurs could spill germs into water supplies, or into ventilating systems of buildings.

"It is doubtful that a widespread epidemic could be started that way," Dr. Dyer, formerly director of the National Institute of Health, told the American College of Physicians.

There are at least four defenses, he said.

One is routine public health checks on water supplies and food, and existing sanitation methods.

Another is the difficulty to start some kinds of epidemics. Typhus fever is spread by lice, and there aren't many of that kind of lice in this country. Typhoid spreads through contaminated water, but boiling water kills the germs.

Other epidemics spread from person-to-person contact. Isolating the sick people can break the chain of infection.

Third is the fact that science doesn't know exactly how many kinds of epidemics do get underway.

Death For Peacetime Spying Is Proposed

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—Sen. O'Conor (D-Md.) today proposed a change in the espionage act which would make it possible to impose the death sentence for peacetime spying in the United States.

He explained that he introduced the measure in the Senate in response to the suggestion of Judge Irving Kaufman of New York who last week sentenced two wartime atom spies to death.

The pair sentenced by Kaufman were Mr. and Mrs. Julius Rosenberg, convicted of helping to transmit atom secrets to Russia in 1944 and 1945.

O'Conor said Kaufman noted "that had this crime been committed in time of peace, he would have been limited by the statute to the imposition of a maximum sentence of imprisonment for 20 years."

Congress Probes Airplane Crash

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP) — A subcommittee of Congress was appointed today to investigate the circumstances which sent an abandoned Army bomber crashing into a home in a Washington suburb yesterday afternoon. Two small girls and their uncle were killed in the resulting explosion and fire.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) of the House Armed Services Committee ordered the inquiry at the request of Rep. Sasscer (D-Md), in whose congressional district the accident occurred. Sasscer was named chairman of the subcommittee and Reps. Fisher (D-Tex) and Arends (R-Ill) were appointed to serve with him.

The plane was a B-25 twin-engined bomber from which an Air Force crew of three parachuted to safety after trying for four hours to repair a jammed landing gear. The plane was trimmed to fly out over Chesapeake Bay until its fuel was exhausted, its crew reported, but instead it spiraled into the little Maryland community of Morningside.

"Voice" Debate Delays Appropriations Vote

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP) — A long debate on the merits of "The Voice of America" delayed a House vote today on a $478,586,368 emergency funds bill.

One of the major items in the bill is $9,533,939 for "The Voice," a 90 per cent reduction from the $97,500,000 President Truman had requested for the remaining few months of this fiscal year.

Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) of the Appropriations Committee called off further proceedings after the House had tentatively upheld the "Voice" cut and chopped $750,000 from the administrative expense budget of the Commodity Credit Corporation.

Two Perish In Pickens Fire

BUCKHANNON, W. Va., April 9 —(AP)—Two children perished and the mother of one of them was critically burned today in a fire which destroyed a five-room frame dwelling at Pickens in Randolph County.

Miss Nellie Bennett, postmaster at Pickens, said Janice Marie Ramey, 4, and Sandra Kay Teets, about 5, died in the fire after being trapped upstairs by the flames.

Mrs. Ardith Ramey, mother of Janice Marie and aunt of Sandra Kay, was brought to a Buckhannon hospital in critical condition. Attendants said she suffered burns over 90 percent of her body.

The blaze was reported to have begun when kerosene which was being used to start a fire in a stove exploded.

Herbert Hoslebacher, a soldier home on furlough, passed the Ramey home as Mrs. Ramey ran out with her clothing in flames. Miss Bennett said Hoslebacher ran inside but was unable either to put out the fire or reach the children on the second floor. He suffered minor burns.

The Teets child, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Teets of Wolf Summit in Harrison County, was staying at the Ramey home during the illness of a member of her family.

Miss Nellie Bennett, postmaster at Pickens, said Janice Marie Ramey, 4, and Sandra Kay Teets, about 5, died in the fire after being trapped upstairs by the flames.

Mrs. Ardith Ramey, mother of Janice Marie and aunt of Sandra Kay, was brought to a Buckhannon hospital in critical condition. Attendants said she suffered burns over 90 percent of her body.

The blaze was reported to have begun when kerosene which was being used to start a fire in a stove exploded.

Herbert Hoslebacher, a soldier home on furlough, passed the Ramey home as Mrs. Ramey ran out with her clothing in flames. Miss Bennett said Hoslebacher ran inside but was unable either to put out the fire or reach the children on the second floor. He suffered minor burns.

The Teets child, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Teets of Wolf Summit in Harrison County, was staying at the Ramey home during the illness of a member of her family.

High Court Sets Aside Conviction Of Two Negroes

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—The Supreme Court set aside today the conviction of two Florida negroes who had been sentenced to die for the rape of a white girl.

Two justices said their trial was "but a legal gesture to register a verdict already dictated by the press and the public opinion which it generated."

But the majority of seven justices reversed the judgements because negroes were excluded from the trial jury. Their brief order didn't discuss other issues.

Rape of the 17-year-old girl brought racial violence to little Groveland, Fla. in July, 1949. White mobs attempted a lynching and burned negro homes. Negroes fled the community. One negro suspect was killed when he resisted arrest. Troops were called to restore quiet.

Justice Jackson, with Justice Frankfurter agreeing, wrote the opinion charging that the trial of Samuel Shepherd and Walter Irvin, the Florida negroes, was an example of "one of the worst menaces to American justice."

In a comment from the bench, not included in the written opinion, Justice Jackson said, "it is becoming a question whether under modern methods of publicity a fair trial can be granted any man."

The written opinion said newspapers printed stories of alleged confessions by the negroes, which jury members read, but the confessions were never even mentioned in court. "It is hard to imagine a more prejudicial influence," Jackson wrote.

Virginian Is Charged With Grand Larceny Of Diesel Locomotive

COVINGTON, Va., April 9 (AP) — Stanley Lee McNeil, 29, Route 4, Roanoke, has been charged with grand larceny—of a Diesel locomotive.

The charge was placed against McNeil early Sunday after he allegedly took over the engine as it was left warming up in the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway yards here.

Sheriff W. T. Henderson was called to the yards after Yard Conductor A. F. Hayes observed the engine moving. C&O employes gave chase afoot and held McNeil until Henderson arrived.

The engine rammed a half dozen gondolas, loaded with cinders, and pushed them along the tracks until the Diesel was brought to a stop half a mile east of the C&O station. One of the gondolas was damaged when the locomotive rammed into it.

Supreme Court Hears Ober Law Arguments

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—The question of whether Maryland's Ober loyalty law violates constitutional rights was argued today before the Supreme Court.

Constitutionality of the section requiring a loyalty oath by persons running for state or city office was challenged by Thelma Gerende, Baltimore.

She refused to sign the loyalty oath in seeking to run for the Baltimore City Council. Maryland courts held that to become a candidate she was obliged to sign.

Germ Warfare Probably Couldn't Start Large-Scale U. S. Epidemics

ST. LOUIS, April 9 (AP)—Biological warfare probably couldn't start large-scale disease epidemics in America, Dr. Robert E. Dyer of Emory University said today.

Biological war is being discussed as a new kind of war. Enemy planes or ships could spread disease germs. Or saboteurs could spill germs into water supplies, or into ventilating systems of buildings.

"It is doubtful that a widespread epidemic could be started that way," Dr. Dyer, formerly director of the National Institute of Health, told the American College of Physicians.

There are at least four defenses, he said.

One is routine public health checks on water supplies and food, and existing sanitation methods.

Another is the difficulty to start some kinds of epidemics. Typhus fever is spread by lice, and there aren't many of that kind of lice in this country. Typhoid spreads through contaminated water, but boiling water kills the germs.

Other epidemics spread from person-to-person contact. Isolating the sick people can break the chain of infection.

Third is the fact that science doesn't know exactly how many kinds of epidemics do get underway.

Fourth is protection by vaccination against many diseases.

Death For Peacetime Spying Is Proposed

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—Sen. O'Conor (D-Md.) today proposed a change in the espionage act which would make it possible to impose the death sentence for peacetime spying in the United States.

He explained that he introduced the measure in the Senate in response to the suggestion of Judge Irving Kaufman of New York who last week sentenced two wartime atom spies to death.

The pair sentenced by Kaufman were Mr. and Mrs. Julius Rosenberg, convicted of helping to transmit atom secrets to Russia in 1944 and 1945.

O'Conor said Kaufman noted "that had this crime been committed in time of peace, he would have been limited by the statute to the imposition of a maximum sentence of imprisonment for 20 years."

Congress Probes Airplane Crash

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP) — A subcommittee of Congress was appointed today to investigate the circumstances which sent an abandoned Army bomber crashing into a home in a Washington suburb yesterday afternoon. Two small girls and their uncle were killed in the resulting explosion and fire.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) of the House Armed Services Committee ordered the inquiry at the request of Rep. Sasscer (D-Md), in whose congressional district the accident occurred. Sasscer was named chairman of the subcommittee and Reps. Fisher (D-Tex) and Arends (R-Ill) were appointed to serve with him.

The plane was a B-25 twin-engined bomber from which an Air Force crew of three parachuted to safety after trying for four hours to repair a jammed landing gear. The plane was trimmed to fly out over Chesapeake Bay until its fuel was exhausted, its crew reported, but instead it spiraled into the little Maryland community of Morningside.

"Voice" Debate Delays Appropriations Vote

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP) — A long debate on the merits of "The Voice of America" delayed a House vote today on a $478,586,368 emergency funds bill.

One of the major items in the bill is $9,533,939 for "The Voice," a 90 per cent reduction from the $97,500,000 President Truman had requested for the remaining few months of this fiscal year.

Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) of the Appropriations Committee called off further proceedings after the House had tentatively upheld the "Voice" cut and chopped $750,000 from the administrative expense budget of the Commodity Credit Corporation.

Two Perish In Pickens Fire

BUCKHANNON, W. Va., April 9 —(AP)—Two children perished and the mother of one of them was critically burned today in a fire which destroyed a five-room frame dwelling at Pickens in Randolph County.

Miss Nellie Bennett, postmaster at Pickens, said Janice Marie Ramey, 4, and Sandra Kay Teets, about 5, died in the fire after being trapped upstairs by the flames.

Mrs. Ardith Ramey, mother of Janice Marie and aunt of Sandra Kay, was brought to a Buckhannon hospital in critical condition. Attendants said she suffered burns over 90 percent of her body.

Crewmen Calling Missouri "Mighty Lucky Mighty Mo"

By PHYLLIS BATTELIE

PEARL HARBOR — (INS) — Crewmen of the USS Missouri have lengthened the famous battleship's nickname, adding two words to its pre-Korea monicker of "Mighty Mo."

After six-and-one-half months and 15 undaunted bombardment missions off the east and west coasts of the world's coldest hot spot, many of her 2,000-man complement are calling their floating home the "Mighty Lucky Mighty Mo."

This correspondent was invited aboard the Missouri shortly after she dropped her unscathed gangplank on a Pearl Harbor wharf.

We searched the hull, the superstructure and the deck for battle scars one would expect to find after as long and hard service as this ship had in the Korean war.

Then we knew the reason for the Missouri's new nickname. She was unscratched.

All she needed was a new coat of blue-gray paint to make her trim again.

All her crew members needed was a day on Waikiki beach to give them vim again.

One of the Mo's four "plank-owners" (men assigned to the Missouri when she was commissioned in April, 1944) put the mass feeling into words:

"Of course we could have worried if we'd wanted to," he said, "about the fact that we were constantly in enemy waters. But nothing happened to us. It was nothing like those sub and kamikaze attacks the Missouri went through the last war.

"We had it easy."

Most of the credit for its being "easy" went to the destroyers, according to Gunner's Mate 3rd Class Ed Boswell, Shreveport, La.

"We had it good on conditions," he said, "We've got to thank the tin can fleet for living rough and keeping trouble away."

Nobody suffered, except from the contagious naval disease, boredom.

Ensign Leslie Fenlon of Coatsville, Pa., put it this way:

"We had about 150 days of action, when we were bombing objects off shore. In all that time, there was no direct enemy action. Morale on the ship was very high, considering the monotony."

The only man who reluctantly admitted to an exciting skirmish in the Missouri's mission was handsome Ensign Robert J. Coontz of Bristol, Tenn. He was a shore fire control spotter who was almost shot down over Chaho on the Korean east coast last March 18th while he was in a helicopter inspecting bomb damage to a vital bridge target.

"We moved in at about 50 feet and began to investigate," he recalled, "when suddenly about 20 troops started to bombard us with small arms and machine-gun fire. I looked at 'Yip' (the pilot, Lt. Francis Yirrell, Quincy, Mass.) and we decided we'd better get out. But we had to finish our investigation."

So Ensign Coontz fired a few rifle shots into the center of the troops, and the Communists ran for shelter into a cave. "Then," he says, "we pulled an Indian trick — flew behind the cave and just hung there in a valley till they came out to look for us.

"Then we zoomed out from around the cave and shot up everything in sight. They didn't even get their backs turned around."

During the Missouri's 26-week assist to U. N. forces in Korea, its crew ate a record number of steaks, potatoes and pastries.

Commander James Wetherell, supply officer, attested to that.

"These boys,' he said, "were the hungriest men I've ever had. I found myself feeding about 3,500 appetites on two thousand men." They consumed 800 loaves of bread a day and 40 tons of food per week.

"Jet Stream" Of Wind Is Blamed For Much Of World's Bad Weather

CHICAGO (INS)—Much of the world's bad weather was blamed today on a torrent of wind that rides six to 10 miles above the earth with jet-like speed.

Herbert Riehl, associate professor of meteorology at the University of Chicago, said he believes the "jet stream" of wind is one of the major forces in hatching weather because it changes the pattern of lower air movements.

Dr. Riehl said that rainstorms invariably are under or to the north of the jet stream which travels atop the atmosphere from west to east at speeds as high as 300 miles an hour.

The meteorologist said the jet stream rides over North America, swinging back and forth from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico. Sometimes, he reported, the jet throttles down to 75 miles an hour, but it maintains an average speed of 100 miles an hour in summer and 150 in winter.

In winter, the jet stream whooshes along around latitude 40, which crosses the U. S. in the region of Salt Lake City, Kansas City, Indianapolis, Columbus, O., and Philadelphia.

The jet wind—which Dr. Riehl describes as being 300 miles wide and two miles deep in its middle—changes to latitude 55 in the summer, running near Ketchikan, Alaska; Edmonton, Alberta; the foot of Hudson Bay, across Labrodor and out across the North Atlantic.

Dr. Riehl explained that this winter the jet stream is known to have moved farther south than usual, causing unseasonable cold in the southeastern states.

He added that the Chicago Weather Bureau is now using jet stream data — obtained through radar and thousands of balloons—in its long range forecasting.

FLASH! Published Figures Show:
CAMEL'S LEAD IN POPULARITY GREATEST IN 25 YEARS!

America's Smokers Have Made Many Mildness Tests...and Camel Leads All Others by Billions!

After all the cigarette mildness testing by the smokers of America . . . quick tests, trick tests—and the sensible, thorough 30-day Camel mildness test . . . latest published figures reveal that Camel has increased its lead as America's most popular cigarette by billions of cigarettes!

According to these figures, Camel leads by its largest margin in 25 years! Camel is the cigarette that more Americans enjoy than any other!

How Thorough Can a Cigarette Test Be?

You can't find out how well a cigarette agrees with your throat by just one puff or one sniff. It takes steady smoking. Make the one thorough, conclusive test. Smoke only Camels for thirty days. Let your "T-Zone"—T for Throat and T for Taste—tell you how mild, how flavorful Camels are, week in and week out.

In Camels, more people find the two things they want most in their cigarette—flavor and mildness.

No other cigarette has Camel's rich, full flavor — pack after pack. It's a unique flavor of costly tobaccos properly aged and expertly blended.

And no other cigarette offers this conclusive proof of mildness, proof based on steady smoking:

In a coast-to-coast test of hundreds of people who smoked only Camels for thirty days, noted throat specialists reported not one single case of throat irritation due to smoking Camels!

It is not unusual to hear people say, "Once a Camel smoker, always a Camel smoker." Through the years, Camel smokers find continuing enjoyment in the mildness and the rich, full flavor of Camels.

MOST POPULAR MAN IN THE MOVIES! JOHN WAYNE was 1950's most popular actor at movie boxoffices. John Wayne's cigarette is America's most popular — Camel! "I've never come across a cigarette that tastes so good ...and Camels agree with my throat!"

America's most popular cigarette... by billions!

Marguerite Piazza's Rise to Fame

Two years ago, things began to happen to beautiful soprano Marguerite Piazza. She got the leading female role in a Broadway musical . . . became the leading singer of one of television's big weekly shows—then won a contract to sing in America's great opera house, the "Met."!

Two years ago was another turning point for Miss Piazza — as a cigarette smoker. She made the Camel 30-day test under the supervision of a noted throat specialist. For 30 days, Miss Piazza smoked only Camels. Each week the specialist examined her throat and reported no throat irritation due to smoking Camels! Miss Piazza has smoked Camels ever since.

WHAT CIGARETTE DO YOU SMOKE, DOCTOR?

Again a leading independent research organization has asked doctors all over the country, doctors in every branch of medicine, this question:

"What cigarette do you smoke, Doctor?"

Again the brand named most was Camel! Yes, according to this repeated nationwide survey, more doctors smoke Camels than any other cigarette!

Smoke the cigarette so many doctors smoke. Smoke Camels for flavor, for mildness, for continuous cigarette enjoyment.

Then we knew the reason for the Missouri's new nickname. She was unscratched.

All she needed was a new coat of blue-gray paint to make her trim again.

All her crew members needed was a day on Waikiki beach to give them vim again.

One of the Mo's four "plank-owners" (men assigned to the Missouri when she was commissioned in April, 1944) put the mass feeling into words:

"Of course we could have worried if we'd wanted to," he said, "about the fact that we were constantly in enemy waters. But nothing happened to us. It was nothing like those sub and kamikaze attacks the Missouri went through the last war.

"We had it easy."

Most of the credit for its being "easy" went to the destroyers, according to Gunner's Mate 3rd Class Ed Boswell, Shreveport, La.

"We had it good on conditions," he said, "We've got to thank the tin can fleet for living rough and keeping trouble away."

Nobody suffered, except from the contagious naval disease, boredom.

Ensign Leslie Fenlon of Coatsville, Pa., put it this way:

"We had about 150 days of action, when we were bombing objects off shore. In all that time, there was no direct enemy action. Morale on the ship was very high, considering the monotony."

The only man who reluctantly admitted to an exciting skirmish in the Missouri's mission was handsome Ensign Robert J. Coontz of Bristol, Tenn. He was a shore fire control spotter who was almost shot down over Chaho on the Korean east coast last March 18th while he was in a helicopter inspecting bomb damage to a vital bridge target.

"We moved in at about 50 feet and began to investigate," he recalled, "when suddenly about 20 troops started to bombard us with small arms and machine-gun fire. I looked at 'Yip' (the pilot, Lt. Francis Yirrell, Quincy, Mass.) and we decided we'd better get out. But we had to finish our investigation."

So Ensign Coontz fired a few rifle shots into the center of the troops, and the Communists ran for shelter into a cave. "Then," he says, "we pulled an Indian trick — flew behind the cave and just hung there in a valley till they came out to look for us.

"Then we zoomed out from around the cave and shot up everything in sight. They didn't even get their backs turned around."

During the Missouri's 26-week assist to U. N. forces in Korea, its crew ate a record number of steaks, potatoes and pastries.

Commander James Wetherell, supply officer, attested to that.

"These boys," he said, "were the hungriest men I've ever had. I found myself feeding about 3,500 appetites on two thousand men." They consumed 800 loaves of bread a day and 40 tons of food per week.

"Jet Stream" Of Wind Is Blamed For Much Of World's Bad Weather

CHICAGO (INS)—Much of the world's bad weather was blamed today on a torrent of wind that rides six to 10 miles above the earth with jet-like speed.

Herbert Riehl, associate professor of meteorology at the University of Chicago, said he believes the "jet stream" of wind is one of the major forces in hatching weather because it changes the pattern of lower air movements.

Dr. Riehl said that rainstorms invariably are under or to the north of the jet stream which travels atop the atmosphere from west to east at speeds as high as 300 miles an hour.

The meteorologist said the jet stream rides over North America, swinging back and forth from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico. Sometimes, he reported, the jet throttles down to 75 miles an hour, but it maintains an average speed of 100 miles an hour in summer and 150 in winter.

In winter, the jet stream whooshes along around latitude 40, which crosses the U. S. in the region of Salt Lake City, Kansas City, Indianapolis, Columbus, O., and Philadelphia.

The jet wind—which Dr. Riehl describes as being 300 miles wide and two miles deep in its middle—changes to latitude 55 in the summer, running near Ketchikan, Alaska; Edmonton, Alberta; the foot of Hudson Bay, across Labrodor and out across the North Atlantic.

Dr. Riehl explained that this winter the jet stream is known to have moved farther south than usual, causing unseasonable cold in the southeastern states.

He added that the Chicago Weather Bureau is now using jet stream data — obtained through radar and thousands of balloons—in its long range forecasting.

Crewmen Calling Missouri "Mighty Lucky Mighty Mo"

By PHYLLIS BATTELIE

PEARL HARBOR — (INS) — Crewmen of the USS Missouri have lengthened the famous battleship's nickname, adding two words to its pre-Korea monicker of "Mighty Mo."

After six-and-one-half months and 15 undaunted bombardment missions off the east and west coasts of the world's coldest hot spot, many of her 2,000-man complement are calling their floating home the "Mighty Lucky Mighty Mo."

This correspondent was invited aboard the Missouri shortly after she dropped her unscathed gangplank on a Pearl Harbor wharf.

We searched the hull, the superstructure and the deck for battle scars one would expect to find after as long and hard service as this ship had in the Korean war.

Then we knew the reason for the Missouri's new nickname. She was unscratched.

All she needed was a new coat of blue-gray paint to make her trim again.

All her crew members needed was a day on Waikiki beach to give them vim again.

Mobilization Tax Concessions

Defense Production Administrator William H. Harrison is scheduled to testify on Wednesday before the joint Senate-House "watchdog" committee on defense production, of which Sen. Maybank (D., S.C.) is chairman, about the tax concessions being granted Big Business to build new plants in a hurry. On April 4, when the committee opened its current hearings, the National Production Authority said it would give Small Business "special leniency" on applications for tax help in expanding production.

But also on April 4, Sen. Sparkman (D., Ala.) said that of almost $4 billion in tax concessions already granted, small business had received only a trifle over five per cent. Total applications for tax help provided in the Revenue Act of 1950 are reported to involve $7 billion.

Companies building new plants solely for defense production can write off for tax purposes the total cost of expanded facilities over as short a period as five years. Section 216 of the Revenue Act of 1950 provides: "Every person, at his election, shall be entitled to a deduction with respect to the amortization of the adjusted basis . . . of any emergency facility . . . based on a period of 60 months." The purpose was to allay fears that plants built for defense emergency would become a financial burden when the emergency ended.

Those taking advantage of this so-called rapid write-off concession must apply for a "certificate of necessity" from the certifying agency originally the National Security Resources Board, now the Defense Production Administration. Regulations issued by the NSRB and now administered by Mr. Harrison require these certificates of necessity to establish that "the construction, reconstruction, erection, installation, or acquisition of the facilities referred to . . . is necessary in whole or in part in the interest of national defense during the emergency period." Tax concessions were offered to stimulate defense production in the excess-profits-tax law of 1940. The 1950 Act, however, stipulates that gains from the sale of property "attributable to amortization deduction" must be reported—and taxed—as normal income. Under World War II legislation such profits were treated as capital gains, on which the maximum rate is 25 per cent at present.

Normally, according to Bureau of Internal Revenue regulations, "the amount of the annual deduction allowable for depreciation is . . . dependent upon the expected useful life of the asset. The factors which determine the useful life of property in a trade or business . . . are wear and tear and decay or decline from normal causes; and also various forms of obsolescence."

Ac compared with the five-year period in which the cost of defense facilities can be written off, the Treasury considers the following periods as normal "useful lives:" apartments, 50 yrs.; machine shops, 60; warehouses, 75; factories, 50; grain elevators, 75.

Sen. Maybank charges that the rapid write-off privileges have been extended to nondefense industries for new freight cars, cement plants, cotton gins. Sen. Capehart (R., Ind.) has said loose methods in issuing certificates of necessity could cost the government $5 billion in five years. When the Revenue Act of 1950 was up for passage last September, Sen. Humphrey (D., Minn.) said the tax-concessions section might well have been entitled, "How to Coax Business to Make More Profits on the War."

Wrong Fish

The federal government has sternly ordered a man who always believed he was an American to produce proof of his citizenship or go back to the country where he was born.

It isn't Frank Costello, the reputed czar of the underworld, who is being handed his deportation papers. The government says it has no legal right to deport him. It isn't Harry Bridges, the convicted Communist, whose chief career has been stirring up labor trouble on the West Coast.

Costello, who hails from Italy, and Bridges, who is Australia's gift to this country, are apparently free to stay here as long as they desire.

The man the government is threatening with deportation is Cyril Claude Andersen, a 34-year-old former Army major who nearly lost his life fighting for the United States in World War II. He was born in England but he has lived here since he was a child and always believed himself to be an American citizen —and he has certainly conducted himself like one.

The horrendous crime for which he is being threatened with deportation is that his father made a mistake when he filled out naturalization papers in 1925—when Andersen was eight years old—and said his children were residents of the United States although they had not yet moved here from England.

There are other technicalities involved—Andersen is afraid he will lose his 100 per cent disability pension, for instance, if he applies for citizenship papers now. But the plain fact of the matter is that the government is apparently doing its best to kick a loyal disabled veteran out of the country on a technicality while foreign-born gangsters, thugs and Communists are free to stay.

Value Of Intelligence

Speaker Rayburn has promised to give the House of Representatives further details this week on his warning to it last week. He warned then that the UN forces in Korea were threatened by a great massing of troops in Manchuria, "not all of them Communist Chinese by a great extent."

President Truman, while refusing to admit that the international situation had become any worse, commented that it was still critical and that Rayburn was "a truthful man." The skeptics pointed out that the House was about to vote on the UMT—draft extension bill, also that last November General MacArthur's intelligence staff had been woefully misinformed, on the optimistic side, about the enemy strength in Manchuria at that time.

The United States was a late-comer into the field of "intelligence." General Bradley writes in the current instalment of his serialized history of World War II: "The American Army's long neglect of intelligence training was soon reflected by the ineptness of our initial undertakings."

As the war proceeded, the Office of Strategic Services, under General "Wild Bill" Donovan, compiled and analyzed all the available information useful in the war effort. More important, it got valuable new data by methods that could loosely be called "spying." Today all government intelligence activities are coordinated in the Central Intelligence Agency, under General W. Bedell Smith.

Civil War Amputations

AMPUTATIONS reach an all-time high in the Civil war. In those days surgeons were more interested in saving lives than limbs; the modern medico saves both. The soldier of that era ran the risk of losing a leg no matter how trivial the gunshot wound. Army physicians had no penicillin or other wonder drugs and cleanliness was not considered important. Consequently, infections were rife and whenever bacterial invasion got out of control amputation was necessary to prevent death. Fortunately, chloroform had become available as an anesthetic; at least the amputees were spared the tortures of the damned associated with an operation of this type.

Not all amputations in this period were because of gunshot lesions. In one Georgia prisoner of war camp there were six or seven amputations a day because of conditions resulting from starvation and over-exposure to cold. Many Union prisoners developed infected blisters, sores, and gangrene in the bitter winter nights. In the majority, neither life nor limb was saved because only a handful had the constitution to recover. The technic of the surgeons was nothing to brag about: On one occasion a leg was amputated so high that the artery could not be closed in the usual manner, according to Sigmund Epstein. A squad of six men was detailed to compress the open blood vessel for four hours at a time, with a substitute or relief man standing by should something go amiss. This 24 hour human lifeline saved the captain's life even tho weeks elapsed before the artery healed.

But the loss of a leg did not prevent many of these amputees from becoming famous. In fact, later in the post-war era the senate was said to be "an arena for one legged Confederates." Two of the best known Civil war amputees were Richard Stoddert Ewell (Old Baldheaded Dick) and Daniel E. Sickles. Ewell was shot by a sharpshooter and after the injured extremity was removed the stump opened twice; once when he was jolted in a litter and again when he fell on the ice. Later Ewell was shot in his wooden leg, which suggests that he was destined to one leggedness. The prosthesis was shattered and when asked by a comrade if he had been wounded, he replied, "It don't hurt a bit to be shot in a wooden leg." At any rate the general was known as a woman hating bachelor. He had been jilted as a young man, but ultimately came to his senses; 12 years before his death he married the original "Widder Brown."

Sickles, a Union officer, was just the opposite type and had trouble avoiding women. He acquired the nickname, "Yankee King of Spain," because of his antics along this line while acting as our ambassador to that country. He got along well on crutches and was against wearing an artificial limb because in those days the device was so uncomfortable.

We seeing fewer and fewer individuals walking on crutches because of a leg amputation. More and more injured legs are being saved. In addition, artificial limbs fit better and, with practice, they can be used without attracting too much attention. In our 20th century wars, military surgeons are called upon to do fewer amputations. In the Napoleonic wars the famous Larrey performed as many as 200 a day in some battles.

TOMORROW: In childhood, German measles is benign; not so in early pregnancy.

SUPPORTIVE GARMENT

J. W. writes: Why are surgical or orthopedic corsets worn?

REPLY

For backache, abdominal hernia, poor posture, and after an abdominal operation. Now and then they are recommended for thin individuals who are bothered by "falling organs" and for stout men with angina pectoris.

DEFICIENT SOIL

N. C. writes: Will the eating of fruits and vegetables grown in soil that lacks minerals produce a deficiency of minerals in the body?

REPLY

Many scientists are of this opinion but the problem is more complicated than this. The body requires only traces of minerals and with our produce coming from so many different locations the majority obtain enough of the substances. In addition, we obtain minerals from other foods such as milk, meat, and eggs.

CRIES AT PICTURES

Mrs. G. writes: We are puzzled by the behavior of our 4 year old grandson. He cries as if his little heart would break whenever he looks at snapshots, not only of others but of himself. Can you explain this curious situation?

REPLY

I'm stumped too. It may be that he associates the pictures with something sad or frightening. Some adults weep copiously at the movies; others feel like crying when they look at snapshots taken 20 years back when the figure was trim and the hair was thick.

Truman-MacArthur Rivalry Creates Political Tug-Of-War; Truman Promises Labor To Clip Wilson's Wings; New Board Will Pass On Labor's Problems

WASHINGTON—For almost a year the President and those around him have blown hot and cold regarding the most spectacular military leader in the nation—Douglas MacArthur. At times, as when MacArthur barges into things political, Mr. Truman has been on the verge of firing him. At other times, as when he returned from Wake Island, the President has sung MacArthur's praises.

The truth is that the Administration has a bear by the tail and doesn't know how to let go.

Probably at no time in American history has there been a comparable situation between the White House and a powerful, popular military commander. The facts, briefly, boil down to these:

1. MacArthur has been an active candidate for President on the opposite ticket from that of Mr. Truman, entered the Wisconsin primaries in 1948, and maintained campaign headquarters at the Philadelphia Convention in 1948—the same year Truman was re-elected. Thus he is a political opponent, as well as a military subordinate.

2. MacArthur maintains his own personal publicity representative inside the Republican National Committee—Brig. Gen. Bonner Fellers. Gen. Fellers is in frequent contact with GOP leaders on Capitol Hill, helps to plant speeches in the House and Senate.

3. MacArthur has the vigorous support of some of the most powerful leaders of the Republican party, has entertained may of the nation's leading publishers, is the personal friend of Hugh Baillie, head of the far-reaching United Press; also of Roy Howard, whose Scripps-Howard chain newspapers and United Press are controlled by the same interests. And it is obvious to the casual newspaper reader from the special, copyrighted interviews issued by MacArthur to his friends, that his press treatment is of a nature equalled by few other public figures—certainly not by Harry Truman.

The result has been that some Truman advisers have wanted their chief to fire the 71-year-old MacArthur on the ground that he was long past retirement age and was paying more attention to politics than to Korea. Other advisers have turned pale at the thought of any open break with MacArthur, argue that it would only give the General an excuse to come home and attack the Administration.

However, all groups agree that the political and military tug-of-war between Tokyo and the White House probably has been the most spectacular and difficult ever to exist between any president and a commander in the field.

Labor Smiles Again

Inside reason why the recent conference between labor leaders and their old friend Harry Truman went off so well was a private tip passed out to labor in advance that Defense Mobilizer Charlie Wilson's wings would be clipped.

The clipping would begin, labor chiefs learned via the grapevine, with the creation of the new 17-man Mobilization Advisory Board, a superstructure that will pass on such hot policy questions as labor's demand that the Wage Stabilization Board handle disputes over working conditions as well as wages.

The labor chiefs were also tipped off, as they headed for the White House, that the "disputes" issue would be decided in their favor. In other words, the Wage Stabilization Board would handle hours and working conditions in addition to wages.

At the meeting the President went even further, promising that future control over all mobilization policies would be vested in the new 17-man board, rather than in Wilson.

To make sure that Wilson's wings are clipped, the President reported that he would personally "sit in" with the new board, composed of four public, four farm, four labor and four management representatives "at least once a month."

His labor callers took this to mean that Truman would act as chairman, instead of Wilson, in such cases, but the President didn't clarify what his status would be at the meetings he attended.

Truman Listens

At no time during his chat with labor did the President criticize Wilson or indicate that the dynamic, former head of General Electric was on his way out as boss mobilizer. He did not concur when CIO President Phil Murray bluntly declared:

"Wilson is unpalatable to every man here except yourself. He is the reason labor has not been able to serve in its proper place in the mobilization program. Labor wants to serve and would serve if Wilson and big business hadn't barred us."

AFL President Bill Green agreed.

Labor has tried to work with Wilson," Green said. "We are aware of the seriousness of the problems facing the country and have patriotically endeavored to get along with him, but his overbearing conduct makes it impossible."

Truman said he understood labor's position, but added that differences with management spokesmen were not insurmountable and could be worked out "if you will be patient" until the new advisory board gets rolling.

"We want you back in—I need your advice and help as much as I need that of business," the President insisted.

"I get all the government advice I need," he added with a broad grin.

The Ipr Saga

IN CONNECTION with the forthcoming investigation by the McCarran Committee, I have been recounting the history of the Institute of Pacific Relations, which is a central point of any studies made of the Asiatic policy of the United States. The IPR has, since its organization (1925), been a great factor not only in determining Far Eastern policy but in the training and selection of personnel.

In previous articles, I have discussed the origin and changes in this organization. Now, we come to the biennial conference held at Banff, Canada, August 14-26, 1933.

It was at this meeting that the American group appeared in full control, E. C. Carter, the secretary of the American Council, becoming secretary-general of the international organization.

The Russians were absent at Banff and the reason officially given was:

". . . But lack of recognition of the Soviet government by the governments of Canada and the United States, and passport regulations that fall short of according visitors from the Soviet Union complete equality with representatives of other countries, prevented this proferred cooperation from materializing. The Pacific Council, in taking cognizance of this situation, not only expressed deep regret but determined to make sure that the time and place for the next conference, in 1935, should be chosen with the fullest regard for the wishes of this important member group."

Considerable concern was expressed over the absence of the Russians and the preface to the 1933 report says:

". . .Indeed, some of the questions for discussion drafted months earlier almost seemed designed to draw out issues in which the U. S. S. R. is especially interested: As, for example, those relating to the effect of national economic policies on international conflict — specifically those relating to trade expansions — to the industrialization of new areas, and the quest for underlying causes and motives of such policies. Government monopolies, the effect of 'anti-dumping' laws, embargoes, controls over the export of capital, and other subjects of that nature were discussed in some instances with illustrations directly relating to conflicts between the Union and other powers with interests in the Pacific.

"Towards the end of the economic discussions, questions came up concerning the efficacy of methods tried by different governments in adjusting their internal machinery of economic controls to the international situation; and here again the lack of first-hand evidence from the Soviet republics distinctly limited the discussion, although a few members, such as Colonel Hugh Cooper, an American engineer with long experience in Russia, were relatively well informed. In one of the round tables on education, statements were made about Soviet propaganda in neighboring states of the Far East which, in the absence of a Soviet spokesman, remained unchallenged though to some they seemed to be contrary to the known policies of the Soviet Union.

"That these difficulties due to the absence of one of the most important groups in the institute were realized by many of the members appears also from the discussions of the international programme committee which, in planning for the main theme of the 1935 conference, placed in the forefront of its considerations the widely felt need for a full presentation of the economic and social policies of the Soviet Union, with the philosophy and concrete objectives at the back of them."

It was decided to call the 1935 conference at a place where the Russians would be welcome. It was, however, known in August, 1933, that the Roosevelt Administration intended to recognize Soviet Russia. This was achieved in November, 1933.

Jerome D. Greene, who had been chairman of the American Council, had resigned and Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war, had taken his place. Among those who were on the American group at Banff were: Philip Jessup, B. H. Kizer, Owen Lattimore, and Henry R. Luce. The secretaries of the American group were:

Joseph Barns, Miss Caroline Corbett, Mrs. F. V. Field, T. J. Kreps, Miss Harriet Moore, Lawrence S. Rockefeller, Miss Caroline Thompson, Grover Clark, Miss E. Fabyan, Miss Nan Y. Hewitt, Miss Kate Mitchell, Miss Carol Riegelman, Mrs.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — If an Allied commander appointed under the North Atlantic Treaty operation has to undergo the sniping criticism in the British Parliament which General MacArthur is getting there, the time may be ripe for the United States to revise its thinking about the naval command in the Atlantic.

It is known that high naval officers here are seriously considering whether America should not ask that the over-all command in the Atlantic which was recently given to Admiral Fechteler, U. S. Navy, be revised and two separate commands created instead. The United States then would command the Atlantic naval operations as far as the Azores perhaps but the British Navy would receive the obligation to command all the rest.

The two commands would be equal in authority in their own respective spheres and one would help the other but the over-all command principle would be abandoned.

Fault Of British

Thus it is the British, with most to gain, who are bringing about a breakdown of international cooperation on the military side almost before it is put into operation.

In time of war, of course, the selection of Allied commanders is the result of emergency situations. But apparently nationalism — despite all the British professions of a community interest in the North Atlantic Treaty's objectives — has not yet been overcome to the point where prides can be submerged in the general interest.

Something of the same pride, though to a lesser degree, obtains here. The American Navy today is the largest in the world and its carrier-based aviation is of the kind that can be directed best by our own naval officers who have had ever so much more experience with naval aviation than the officers of any other navy. Thus it is likely that in some of the Mediterranean operations, backing up certain strategic dispositions of forces and bases under General Eisenhower, the American navy would want its own commander.

The big question that is developing, however, is whether the Socialist Labor government's "left wing" which is attacking General MacArthur isn't starting a chain reaction that will also effect European military and naval affairs. Many Americans feel that it was a mistake even for General Eisenhower to accept a continental command in time of peace and that only his remarkable personality and the absence of any immediate crisis is keeping national prides abroad from giving him a going over too, as is the case with General MacArthur. Actually, General Eisenhower received a tirade of criticism from London when he was in command of the fighting in North Africa in the last war and the muddy terrain slowed down his operations.

Time For Re-Examination

Parliaments and congresses will always have their say about what generals and admirals do and this is to be expected but when the Conservative party, under Winston Churchill, attacked the appointment of Admiral Fechteler recently and now the "left wing" Labor party's faction attacks General MacArthur, many officers here believe it is time to re-examine the whole concept of an inter-Allied command in time of peace. If the British, for example, want full command of naval operations in European waters it is proper for them to have it, but logically then they should supply the bulk of the naval forces—something the Labor government is not doing.

Perhaps the withdrawal of America's interest in an over-all naval command in the Atlantic will bring home to the British people the fact that with responsibility must go power and certainly more naval power is needed in Europe. The United States after all has a large naval problem in the Pacific and cannot be expected to supply naval strength in all the seven seas, too. British tradition has been mentioned in the debate as a reason for having a British admiral in command of the Eastern Atlantic and European waters. British tradition also used to supply enough naval strength to police the seven seas. The two major parties in Britain's parliament haven't really awakened to what is causing the changed viewpoint about who should or shouldn't command inter-Allied operations.

Inside Washington

The Administration's proposal to draft 18-year-olds is in jeopardy in the House although the Senate already has approved the plan. The Army's decision to cut its April draft quota in half and induct only 40,000 men during the month has made many House members doubt that there is need for 18-year-olds to be drafted.

Even before the Army action, the new draft bill faced tough sledding in the House. The House armed services committee only approved a draft of youths aged 18½ instead of the 18-year minimum voted by the Senate.

There is a fair chance that the House itself won't even okay the induction of 18½-year-olds. Many congressmen favor continuing only the present law which provides for drafting men aged 19 through 25.

Of course, any House-passed measure that differs from the Senate bill will have to be worked out in a conference committee. The result may be a slightly tougher draft law, but not as rigid as the military wants.

Housecleaning

Despite President Truman's refusal to oust William O'Dwyer as ambassador to Mexico or to fire Donald Dawson from his White House post, look for some rugged housecleaning in the executive structure next year.

Sources close to the President say that he is gravely concerned over testimony in the Senate crime investigation concerning O'Dwyer and over Dawson's alleged connection with "influence" brought to bear on the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

These sources add that Mr. Truman feels it would be an admission of weakness in his administration to take summary action now against either O'Dwyer or Dawson.

However, they predict that the President, anxious to have his house really in order before next year's election campaigns, will see to it that both men have been replaced by that time—politely, if possible, but nevertheless firmly.

Washington Headaches

The fact that men in public life often have to take unlimited abuse is being brought home to many of the new officials in the government's mobilization program.

A good example of this is furnished by Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston, an old hand around Washington who has been noted for his diplomatic manner.

Johnston's friends say that even he is having a rough time. They quote him as saying he has never taken so much abuse in his life and that he sometimes finds it difficult to hold his temper.

One story going the rounds reports that members of a teamsters' union delegation recently called Johnston just about every gutter name during a conference with him.

Although he is usually imperturbable, Johnston found this hard to take. He confided that he found it difficult to keep from punching one of the union officials in the nose.

No House Relief

Housing experts say that there is little chance of relief from crowded housing conditions in the foreseeable future. As a matter of fact, they expect things to get worse instead of better.

Credit restrictions, allocation of critical materials for defense production have tightened up the home-building market to the extent that only current needs probably will be met.

That means that the backlog of housing demands, which grew out of World War II, will remain with us.

Most real estate groups contend that price controls and other rigid economic curbs will force many private builders out of the market and postpone for years an honest-to-goodness housing boom.

The latest story about that accomplished but unpredictable young star, Marlon Brando, comes from Tricia Hurst. She says that when Brando was preparing for his role in The Men, he entered a ward in a Veterans' Hospital and spent four weeks there with thirty-one paraplegics, studying their problems and reactions.

One evening they were approached by a well-meaning but interminable old bore who assured them at great length that all they needed was sufficient faith to restore the use of their limbs. Observing the sufferers' distress, Brando suddenly simulated a spasm, jumped up from his cot with a yell, and broke into a mad version of the Lindy hop. The bore fainted and was mercifully removed from the scene of the crime. Thirty-one grateful paraplegics beseeched Brando for his autograph.

Mobilization Tax Concessions

Defense Production Administrator William H. Harrison is scheduled to testify on Wednesday before the joint Senate-House "watchdog" committee on defense production, of which Sen. Maybank (D., S.C.) is chairman, about the tax concessions being granted Big Business to build new plants in a hurry. On April 4, when the committee opened its current hearings, the National Production Authority said it would give Small Business "special leniency" on applications for tax help in expanding production.

But also on April 4, Sen. Sparkman (D., Ala.) said that of almost $4 billion in tax concessions already granted, small business had received only a trifle over five per cent. Total applications for tax help provided in the Revenue Act of 1950 are reported to involve $7 billion.

Companies building new plants solely for defense production can write off for tax purposes the total cost of expanded facilities over as short a period as five years. Section 216 of the Revenue Act of 1950 provides: "Every person, at his election, shall be entitled to a deduction with respect to the amortization of the adjusted basis . . . of any emergency facility . . . based on a period of 60 months." The purpose was to allay fears that plants built for defense emergency would become a financial burden when the emergency ended.

Those taking advantage of this so-called rapid write-off concession must apply for a "certificate of necessity" from the certifying agency originally the National Security Resources Board, now the Defense Production Administration. Regulations issued by the NSRB and now administered by Mr. Harrison require these certificates of necessity to establish that "the construction, reconstruction, erection, installation, or acquisition of the facilities referred to . . . is necessary in whole or in part in the interest of national defense during the emergency period." Tax concessions were offered to stimulate defense production in the excess-profits-tax law of 1940. The 1950 Act, however, stipulates that gains from the sale of property "attributable to amortization deduction" must be reported—and taxed—as normal income. Under World War II legislation such profits were treated as capital gains, on which the maximum rate is 25 per cent at present.

Normally, according to Bureau of Internal Revenue regulations, "the amount of the annual deduction allowable for depreciation is . . . dependent upon the expected useful life of the asset. The factors which determine the useful life of property in a trade or business . . . are wear and tear and decay or decline from normal causes; and also various forms of obsolescence."

Ac compared with the five-year period in which the cost of defense facilities can be written off, the Treasury considers the following periods as normal "useful lives:" apartments, 50 yrs.; machine shops, 60; warehouses, 75; factories, 50; grain elevators, 75.

Sen. Maybank charges that the rapid write-off privileges have been extended to nondefense industries for new freight cars, cement plants, cotton gins. Sen. Capehart (R., Ind.) has said loose methods in issuing certificates of necessity could cost the government $5 billion in five years. When the Revenue Act of 1950 was up for passage last September, Sen. Humphrey (D., Minn.) said the tax-concessions section might well have been entitled, "How to Coax Business to Make More Profits on the War."

Wrong Fish

The federal government has sternly ordered a man who always believed he was an American to produce proof of his citizenship or go back to the country where he was born.

It isn't Frank Costello, the reputed czar of the underworld, who is being handed his deportation papers. The government says it has no legal right to deport him. It isn't Harry Bridges, the convicted Communist, whose chief career has been stirring up labor trouble on the West Coast.

Costello, who hails from Italy, and Bridges, who is Australia's gift to this country, are apparently free to stay here as long as they desire.

The man the government is threatening with deportation is Cyril Claude Andersen, a 34-year-old former Army major who nearly lost his life fighting for the United States in World War II. He was born in England but he has lived here since he was a child and always believed himself to be an American citizen —and he has certainly conducted himself like one.

The horrendous crime for which he is being threatened with deportation is that his father made a mistake when he filled out naturalization papers in 1925—when Andersen was eight years old—and said his children were residents of the United States although they had not yet moved here from England.

There are other technicalities involved—Andersen is afraid he will lose his 100 per cent disability pension, for instance, if he applies for citizenship papers now. But the plain fact of the matter is that the government is apparently doing its best to kick a loyal disabled veteran out of the country on a technicality while foreign-born gangsters, thugs and Communists are free to stay.

Value Of Intelligence

Speaker Rayburn has promised to give the House of Representatives further details this week on his warning to it last week. He warned then that the UN forces in Korea were threatened by a great massing of troops in Manchuria, "not all of them Communist Chinese by a great extent."

President Truman, while refusing to admit that the international situation had become any worse, commented that it was still critical and that Rayburn was "a truthful man." The skeptics pointed out that the House was about to vote on the UMT—draft extension bill, also that last November General MacArthur's intelligence staff had been woefully misinformed, on the optimistic side, about the enemy strength in Manchuria at that time.

The United States was a late-comer into the field of "intelligence." General Bradley writes in the current instalment of his serialized history of World War II: "The American Army's long neglect of intelligence training was soon reflected by the ineptness of our initial undertakings."

As the war proceeded, the Office of Strategic Services, under General "Wild Bill" Donovan, compiled and analyzed all the available information useful in the war effort. More important, it got valuable new data by methods that could loosely be called "spying." Today all government intelligence activities are coordinated in the Central Intelligence Agency, under General W. Bedell Smith.

Civil War Amputations

AMPUTATIONS reach an all-time high in the Civil war. In those days surgeons were more interested in saving lives than limbs; the modern medico saves both. The soldier of that era ran the risk of losing a leg no matter how trivial the gunshot wound. Army physicians had no penicillin or other wonder drugs and cleanliness was not considered important. Consequently, infections were rife and whenever bacterial invasion got out of control amputation was necessary to prevent death. Fortunately, chloroform had become available as an anesthetic; at least the amputees were spared the tortures of the damned associated with an operation of this type.

Not all amputations in this period were because of gunshot lesions. In one Georgia prisoner of war camp there were six or seven amputations a day because of conditions resulting from starvation and over-exposure to cold. Many Union prisoners developed infected blisters, sores, and gangrene in the bitter winter nights. In the majority, neither life nor limb was saved because only a handful had the constitution to recover. The technic of the surgeons was nothing to brag about: On one occasion a leg was amputated so high that the artery could not be closed in the usual manner, according to Sigmund Epstein. A squad of six men was detailed to compress the open blood vessel for four hours at a time, with a substitute or relief man standing by should something go amiss. This 24 hour human lifeline saved the captain's life even tho weeks elapsed before the artery healed.

But the loss of a leg did not prevent many of these amputees from becoming famous. In fact, later in the post-war era the senate was said to be "an arena for one legged Confederates." Two of the best known Civil war amputees were Richard Stoddert Ewell (Old Baldheaded Dick) and Daniel E. Sickles. Ewell was shot by a sharpshooter and after the injured extremity was removed the stump opened twice; once when he was jolted in a litter and again when he fell on the ice. Later Ewell was shot in his wooden leg, which suggests that he was destined to one leggedness. The prosthesis was shattered and when asked by a comrade if he had been wounded, he replied, "It don't hurt a bit to be shot in a wooden leg." At any rate the general was known as a woman hating bachelor. He had been jilted as a young man, but ultimately came to his senses; 12 years before his death he married the original "Widder Brown."

Sickles, a Union officer, was just the opposite type and had trouble avoiding women. He acquired the nickname, "Yankee King of Spain," because of his antics along this line while acting as our ambassador to that country. He got along well on crutches and was against wearing an artificial limb because in those days the device was so uncomfortable.

We seeing fewer and fewer individuals walking on crutches because of a leg amputation. More and more injured legs are being saved. In addition, artificial limbs fit better and, with practice, they can be used without attracting too much attention. In our 20th century wars, military surgeons are called upon to do fewer amputations. In the Napoleonic wars the famous Larrey performed as many as 200 a day in some battles.

The Ipr Saga

IN CONNECTION with the forthcoming investigation by the McCarran Committee, I have been recounting the history of the Institute of Pacific Relations, which is a central point of any studies made of the Asiatic policy of the United States. The IPR has, since its organization (1925), been a great factor not only in determining Far Eastern policy but in the training and selection of personnel.

In previous articles, I have discussed the origin and changes in this organization. Now, we come to the biennial conference held at Banff, Canada, August 14-26, 1933.

It was at this meeting that the American group appeared in full control, E. C. Carter, the secretary of the American Council, becoming secretary-general of the international organization.

The Russians were absent at Banff and the reason officially given was:

". . . But lack of recognition of the Soviet government by the governments of Canada and the United States, and passport regulations that fall short of according visitors from the Soviet Union complete equality with representatives of other countries, prevented this proferred cooperation from materializing. The Pacific Council, in taking cognizance of this situation, not only expressed deep regret but determined to make sure that the time and place for the next conference, in 1935, should be chosen with the fullest regard for the wishes of this important member group."

Considerable concern was expressed over the absence of the Russians and the preface to the 1933 report says:

". . .Indeed, some of the questions for discussion drafted months earlier almost seemed designed to draw out issues in which the U. S. S. R. is especially interested: As, for example, those relating to the effect of national economic policies on international conflict — specifically those relating to trade expansions — to the industrialization of new areas, and the quest for underlying causes and motives of such policies. Government monopolies, the effect of 'anti-dumping' laws, embargoes, controls over the export of capital, and other subjects of that nature were discussed in some instances with illustrations directly relating to conflicts between the Union and other powers with interests in the Pacific.

"Towards the end of the economic discussions, questions came up concerning the efficacy of methods tried by different governments in adjusting their internal machinery of economic controls to the international situation; and here again the lack of first-hand evidence from the Soviet republics distinctly limited the discussion, although a few members, such as Colonel Hugh Cooper, an American engineer with long experience in Russia, were relatively well informed. In one of the round tables on education, statements were made about Soviet propaganda in neighboring states of the Far East which, in the absence of a Soviet spokesman, remained unchallenged though to some they seemed to be contrary to the known policies of the Soviet Union.

"That these difficulties due to the absence of one of the most important groups in the institute were realized by many of the members appears also from the discussions of the international programme committee which, in planning for the main theme of the 1935 conference, placed in the forefront of its considerations the widely felt need for a full presentation of the economic and social policies of the Soviet Union, with the philosophy and concrete objectives at the back of them."

It was decided to call the 1935 conference at a place where the Russians would be welcome. It was, however, known in August, 1933, that the Roosevelt Administration intended to recognize Soviet Russia. This was achieved in November, 1933.

Jerome D. Greene, who had been chairman of the American Council, had resigned and Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war, had taken his place. Among those who were on the American group at Banff were: Philip Jessup, B. H. Kizer, Owen Lattimore, and Henry R. Luce. The secretaries of the American group were:

Joseph Barns, Miss Caroline Corbett, Mrs. F. V. Field, T. J. Kreps, Miss Harriet Moore, Lawrence S. Rockefeller, Miss Caroline Thompson, Grover Clark, Miss E. Fabyan, Miss Nan Y. Hewitt, Miss Kate Mitchell, Miss Carol Riegelman, Mrs.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — If an Allied commander appointed under the North Atlantic Treaty operation has to undergo the sniping criticism in the British Parliament which General MacArthur is getting there, the time may be ripe for the United States to revise its thinking about the naval command in the Atlantic.

It is known that high naval officers here are seriously considering whether America should not ask that the over-all command in the Atlantic which was recently given to Admiral Fechteler, U. S. Navy, be revised and two separate commands created instead. The United States then would command the Atlantic naval operations as far as the Azores perhaps but the British Navy would receive the obligation to command all the rest.

The two commands would be equal in authority in their own respective spheres and one would help the other but the over-all command principle would be abandoned.

Fault Of British

Thus it is the British, with most to gain, who are bringing about a breakdown of international cooperation on the military side almost before it is put into operation.

In time of war, of course, the selection of Allied commanders is the result of emergency situations. But apparently nationalism — despite all the British professions of a community interest in the North Atlantic Treaty's objectives — has not yet been overcome to the point where prides can be submerged in the general interest.

Something of the same pride, though to a lesser degree, obtains here. The American Navy today is the largest in the world and its carrier-based aviation is of the kind that can be directed best by our own naval officers who have had ever so much more experience with naval aviation than the officers of any other navy. Thus it is likely that in some of the Mediterranean operations, backing up certain strategic dispositions of forces and bases under General Eisenhower, the American navy would want its own commander.

The big question that is developing, however, is whether the Socialist Labor government's "left wing" which is attacking General MacArthur isn't starting a chain reaction that will also effect European military and naval affairs. Many Americans feel that it was a mistake even for General Eisenhower to accept a continental command in time of peace and that only his remarkable personality and the absence of any immediate crisis is keeping national prides abroad from giving him a going over too, as is the case with General MacArthur. Actually, General Eisenhower received a tirade of criticism from London when he was in command of the fighting in North Africa in the last war and the muddy terrain slowed down his operations.

Time For Re-Examination

Parliaments and congresses will always have their say about what generals and admirals do and this is to be expected but when the Conservative party, under Winston Churchill, attacked the appointment of Admiral Fechteler recently and now the "left wing" Labor party's faction attacks General MacArthur, many officers here believe it is time to re-examine the whole concept of an inter-Allied command in time of peace. If the British, for example, want full command of naval operations in European waters it is proper for them to have it, but logically then they should supply the bulk of the naval forces—something the Labor government is not doing.

Perhaps the withdrawal of America's interest in an over-all naval command in the Atlantic will bring home to the British people the fact that with responsibility must go power and certainly more naval power is needed in Europe. The United States after all has a large naval problem in the Pacific and cannot be expected to supply naval strength in all the seven seas, too. British tradition has been mentioned in the debate as a reason for having a British admiral in command of the Eastern Atlantic and European waters. British tradition also used to supply enough naval strength to police the seven seas. The two major parties in Britain's parliament haven't really awakened to what is causing the changed viewpoint about who should or shouldn't command inter-Allied operations.

Inside Washington

The Administration's proposal to draft 18-year-olds is in jeopardy in the House although the Senate already has approved the plan. The Army's decision to cut its April draft quota in half and induct only 40,000 men during the month has made many House members doubt that there is need for 18-year-olds to be drafted.

Even before the Army action, the new draft bill faced tough sledding in the House. The House armed services committee only approved a draft of youths aged 18½ instead of the 18-year minimum voted by the Senate.

There is a fair chance that the House itself won't even okay the induction of 18½-year-olds. Many congressmen favor continuing only the present law which provides for drafting men aged 19 through 25.

Of course, any House-passed measure that differs from the Senate bill will have to be worked out in a conference committee. The result may be a slightly tougher draft law, but not as rigid as the military wants.

Housecleaning

Despite President Truman's refusal to oust William O'Dwyer as ambassador to Mexico or to fire Donald Dawson from his White House post, look for some rugged housecleaning in the executive structure next year.

Sources close to the President say that he is gravely concerned over testimony in the Senate crime investigation concerning O'Dwyer and over Dawson's alleged connection with "influence" brought to bear on the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

These sources add that Mr. Truman feels it would be an admission of weakness in his administration to take summary action now against either O'Dwyer or Dawson.

However, they predict that the President, anxious to have his house really in order before next year's election campaigns, will see to it that both men have been replaced by that time—politely, if possible, but nevertheless firmly.

Washington Headaches

The fact that men in public life often have to take unlimited abuse is being brought home to many of the new officials in the government's mobilization program.

A good example of this is furnished by Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston, an old hand around Washington who has been noted for his diplomatic manner.

Johnston's friends say that even he is having a rough time. They quote him as saying he has never taken so much abuse in his life and that he sometimes finds it difficult to hold his temper.

One story going the rounds reports that members of a teamsters' union delegation recently called Johnston just about every gutter name during a conference with him.

Although he is usually imperturbable, Johnston found this hard to take. He confided that he found it difficult to keep from punching one of the union officials in the nose.

No House Relief

Housing experts say that there is little chance of relief from crowded housing conditions in the foreseeable future. As a matter of fact, they expect things to get worse instead of better.

Credit restrictions, allocation of critical materials for defense production have tightened up the home-building market to the extent that only current needs probably will be met.

That means that the backlog of housing demands, which grew out of World War II, will remain with us.

Most real estate groups contend that price controls and other rigid economic curbs will force many private builders out of the market and postpone for years an honest-to-goodness housing boom.

Let's take a gander at the docket. The Kefauver committee cleaned up like a cat with an ant-eater's tongue.

But when Washington investigates Washington it's a tempest in a bait-box.

They are taking the Navy out of camphor and replacing it with nink. The portfolios are lumpy with influence and the five-recenters are legislating for a boosted cumshaw.

Official Washington still thinks cupidity is the little imp of romance. Armament experts have taken the recoil out of the bazooka but you cannot eliminate the kickback from introductions.

The latest story about that accomplished but unpredictable young star, Marlon Brando, comes from Tricia Hurst. She says that when Brando was preparing for his role in The Men, he entered a ward in a Veterans' Hospital and spent four weeks there with thirty-one paraplegics, studying their problems and reactions.

One evening they were approached by a well-meaning but interminable old bore who assured them at great length that all they needed was sufficient faith to restore the use of their limbs. Observing the sufferers' distress, Brando suddenly simulated a spasm, jumped up from his cot with a yell, and broke into a mad version of the Lindy hop. The bore fainted and was mercifully removed from the scene of the crime. Thirty-one grateful paraplegics beseeched Brando for his autograph.

Mobilization Tax Concessions

Defense Production Administrator William H. Harrison is scheduled to testify on Wednesday before the joint Senate-House "watchdog" committee on defense production, of which Sen. Maybank (D., S.C.) is chairman, about the tax concessions being granted Big Business to build new plants in a hurry. On April 4, when the committee opened its current hearings, the National Production Authority said it would give Small Business "special leniency" on applications for tax help in expanding production.

But also on April 4, Sen. Sparkman (D., Ala.) said that of almost $4 billion in tax concessions already granted, small business had received only a trifle over five per cent. Total applications for tax help provided in the Revenue Act of 1950 are reported to involve $7 billion.

Companies building new plants solely for defense production can write off for tax purposes the total cost of expanded facilities over as short a period as five years. Section 216 of the Revenue Act of 1950 provides: "Every person, at his election, shall be entitled to a deduction with respect to the amortization of the adjusted basis . . . of any emergency facility . . . based on a period of 60 months." The purpose was to allay fears that plants built for defense emergency would become a financial burden when the emergency ended.

Those taking advantage of this so-called rapid write-off concession must apply for a "certificate of necessity" from the certifying agency originally the National Security Resources Board, now the Defense Production Administration. Regulations issued by the NSRB and now administered by Mr. Harrison require these certificates of necessity to establish that "the construction, reconstruction, erection, installation, or acquisition of the facilities referred to . . . is necessary in whole or in part in the interest of national defense during the emergency period." Tax concessions were offered to stimulate defense production in the excess-profits-tax law of 1940. The 1950 Act, however, stipulates that gains from the sale of property "attributable to amortization deduction" must be reported—and taxed—as normal income. Under World War II legislation such profits were treated as capital gains, on which the maximum rate is 25 per cent at present.

Normally, according to Bureau of Internal Revenue regulations, "the amount of the annual deduction allowable for depreciation is . . . dependent upon the expected useful life of the asset. The factors which determine the useful life of property in a trade or business . . . are wear and tear and decay or decline from normal causes; and also various forms of obsolescence."

Ac compared with the five-year period in which the cost of defense facilities can be written off, the Treasury considers the following periods as normal "useful lives:" apartments, 50 yrs.; machine shops, 60; warehouses, 75; factories, 50; grain elevators, 75.

Sen. Maybank charges that the rapid write-off privileges have been extended to nondefense industries for new freight cars, cement plants, cotton gins. Sen. Capehart (R., Ind.) has said loose methods in issuing certificates of necessity could cost the government $5 billion in five years. When the Revenue Act of 1950 was up for passage last September, Sen. Humphrey (D., Minn.) said the tax-concessions section might well have been entitled, "How to Coax Business to Make More Profits on the War."

Wrong Fish

The federal government has sternly ordered a man who always believed he was an American to produce proof of his citizenship or go back to the country where he was born.

It isn't Frank Costello, the reputed czar of the underworld, who is being handed his deportation papers. The government says it has no legal right to deport him. It isn't Harry Bridges, the convicted Communist, whose chief career has been stirring up labor trouble on the West Coast.

Costello, who hails from Italy, and Bridges, who is Australia's gift to this country, are apparently free to stay here as long as they desire.

The man the government is threatening with deportation is Cyril Claude Andersen, a 34-year-old former Army major who nearly lost his life fighting for the United States in World War II. He was born in England but he has lived here since he was a child and always believed himself to be an American citizen—and he has certainly conducted himself like one.

The horrendous crime for which he is being threatened with deportation is that his father made a mistake when he filled out naturalization papers in 1925—when Andersen was eight years old—and said his children were residents of the United States although they had not yet moved here from England.

There are other technicalities involved—Andersen is afraid he will lose his 100 per cent disability pension, for instance, if he applies for citizenship papers now. But the plain fact of the matter is that the government is apparently doing its best to kick a loyal disabled veteran out of the country on a technicality while foreign-born gangsters, thugs and Communists are free to stay.

Value Of Intelligence

Speaker Rayburn has promised to give the House of Representatives further details this week on his warning to it last week. He warned then that the UN forces in Korea were threatened by a great massing of troops in Manchuria, "not all of them Communist Chinese by a great extent."

President Truman, while refusing to admit that the international situation had become any worse, commented that it was still critical and that Rayburn was "a truthful man." The skeptics pointed out that the House was about to vote on the UMT—draft extension bill, also that last November General MacArthur's intelligence staff had been woefully misinformed, on the optimistic side, about the enemy strength in Manchuria at that time.

The United States was a late-comer into the field of "intelligence." General Bradley writes in the current instalment of his serialized history of World War II: "The American Army's long neglect of intelligence training was soon reflected by the ineptness of our initial undertakings."

As the war proceeded, the Office of Strategic Services, under General "Wild Bill" Donovan, compiled and analyzed all the available information useful in the war effort. More important, it got valuable new data by methods that could loosely be called "spying." Today all government intelligence activities are coordinated in the Central Intelligence Agency, under General W. Bedell Smith.

Civil War Amputations

AMPUTATIONS reach an all-time high in the Civil war. In those days surgeons were more interested in saving lives than limbs; the modern medico saves both. The soldier of that era ran the risk of losing a leg no matter how trivial the gunshot wound. Army physicians had no penicillin or other wonder drugs and cleanliness was not considered important. Consequently, infections were rife and whenever bacterial invasion got out of control amputation was necessary to prevent death. Fortunately, chloroform had become available as an anesthetic; at least the amputees were spared the tortures of the damned associated with an operation of this type.

Not all amputations in this period were because of gunshot lesions. In one Georgia prisoner of war camp there were six or seven amputations a day because of conditions resulting from starvation and over-exposure to cold. Many Union prisoners developed infected blisters, sores, and gangrene in the bitter winter nights. In the majority, neither life nor limb was saved because only a handful had the constitution to recover. The technic of the surgeons was nothing to brag about. On one occasion a leg was amputated so high that the artery could not be closed in the usual manner, according to Sigmund Epstein. A squad of six men was detailed to compress the open blood vessel for four hours at a time, with a substitute or relief man standing by should something go amiss. This 24 hour human lifeline saved the captain's life even tho weeks elapsed before the artery healed.

But the loss of a leg did not prevent many of these amputees from becoming famous. In fact, later in the post-war era the senate was said to be "an arena for one legged Confederates." Two of the best known Civil war amputees were Richard Stoddert Ewell (Old Baldheaded Dick) and Daniel E. Sickles. Ewell was shot by a sharpshooter and after the injured extremity was removed the stump opened twice; once when he was jolted in a litter and again when he fell on the ice. Later Ewell was shot in his wooden leg, which suggests that he was destined to one leggedness. The prosthesis was shattered and when asked by a comrade if he had been wounded, he replied, "It don't hurt a bit to be shot in a wooden leg." At any rate the general was known as a woman hating bachelor. He had been jilted as a young man, but ultimately came to his senses; 12 years before his death he married the original "Widder Brown."

Sickles, a Union officer, was just the opposite type and had trouble avoiding women. He acquired the nickname, "Yankee King of Spain," because of his antics along this line while acting as our ambassador to that country. He got along well on crutches and was against wearing an artificial limb because in those days the device was so uncomfortable.

We seeing fewer and fewer individuals walking on crutches because of a leg amputation. More and more injured legs are being saved. In addition, artificial limbs fit better and, with practice, they can be used without attracting too much attention. In our 20th century wars, military surgeons are called upon to do fewer amputations. In the Napoleonic wars the famous Larrey performed as many as 200 a day in some battles.

TOMORROW: In childhood, German measles is benign; not so in early pregnancy.

SUPPORTIVE GARMENT

J. W. writes: Why are surgical or orthopedic corsets worn?

REPLY

For backache, abdominal hernia, poor posture, and after an abdominal operation. Now and then they are recommended for thin individuals who are bothered by "falling organs" and for stout men with angina pectoris.

DEFICIENT SOIL

N. C. writes: Will the eating of fruits and vegetables grown in soil that lacks minerals produce a deficiency of minerals in the body?

REPLY

Many scientists are of this opinion but the problem is more complicated than this. The body requires only traces of minerals and with our produce coming from so many different locations the majority obtain enough of the substances. In addition, we obtain minerals from other foods such as milk, meat, and eggs.

CRIES AT PICTURES

Mrs. G. writes: We are puzzled by the behavior of our 4 year old grandson. He cries as if his little heart would break whenever he looks at snapshots, not only of others but of himself. Can you explain this curious situation?

REPLY

I'm stumped too. It may be that he associates the pictures with something sad or frightening. Some adults weep copiously at the movies; others feel like crying when they look at snapshots taken 20 years back when the figure was trim and the hair was thick.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Truman-MacArthur Rivalry Creates Political Tug-Of-War; Truman Promises Labor To Clip Wilson's Wings; New Board Will Pass On Labor's Problems

WASHINGTON—For almost a year the President and those around him have blown hot and cold regarding the most spectacular military leader in the nation—Douglas MacArthur. At times, as when MacArthur barges into things political, Mr. Truman has been on the verge of firing him. At other times, as when he returned from Wake Island, the President has sung MacArthur's praises.

The truth is that the Administration has a bear by the tail and doesn't know how to let go.

Probably at no time in American history has there been a comparable situation between the White House and a powerful, popular military commander. The facts, briefly, boil down to these:

1. MacArthur has been an active candidate for President on the opposite ticket from that of Mr. Truman, entered the Wisconsin primaries in 1948, and maintained campaign headquarters at the Philadelphia Convention in 1948—the same year Truman was re-elected. Thus he is a political opponent, as well as a military subordinate.

2. MacArthur maintains his own personal publicity representative inside the Republican National Committee—Brig. Gen. Bonner Fellers. Gen. Fellers is in frequent contact with GOP leaders on Capitol Hill, helps to plant speeches in the House and Senate.

3. MacArthur has the vigorous support of some of the most powerful leaders of the Republican party, has entertained may of the nation's leading publishers, is the personal friend of Hugh Baillie, head of the far-reaching United Press; also of Roy Howard, whose Scripps-Howard chain newspapers and United Press are controlled by the same interests. And it is obvious to the casual newspaper reader from the special, copyrighted interviews issued by MacArthur to his friends, that his press treatment is of a nature equalled by few other public figures—certainly not by Harry Truman.

The result has been that some Truman advisers have wanted their chief to fire the 71-year-old MacArthur on the ground that he was long past retirement age and was paying more attention to politics than to Korea. Other advisers have turned pale at the thought of any open break with MacArthur, argue that it would only give the General an excuse to come home and attack the Administration.

However, all groups agree that the political and military tug-of-war between Tokyo and the White House probably has, been the most spectacular and difficult ever to exist between any president and a commander in the field.

Labor Smiles Again

Inside reason why the recent conference between labor leaders and their old friend Harry Truman went off so well was a private tip passed out to labor in advance that Defense Mobilizer Charlie Wilson's wings would be clipped.

The clipping would begin, labor chiefs learned via the grapevine, with the creation of the new 17-man Mobilization Advisory Board, a superstructure that will pass on such hot policy questions as labor's demand that the Wage Stabilization Board handle disputes over working conditions as well as wages.

The labor chiefs were also tipped off, as they headed for the White House, that the "disputes" issue would be decided in their favor. In other words, the Wage Stabilization Board would handle hours and working conditions in addition to wages.

At the meeting the President went even further, promising that future control over all mobilization policies would be vested in the new 17-man board, rather than in Wilson.

To make sure that Wilson's wings are clipped, the President reported that he would personally "sit in" with the new board, composed of four public, four farm, four labor and four management representatives "at least once a month."

His labor callers took this to mean that Truman would act as chairman, instead of Wilson, in such cases, but the President didn't clarify what his status would be at the meetings he attended.

Truman Listens

At no time during his chat with labor did the President criticize Wilson or indicate that the dynamic, former head of General Electric was on his way out as boss mobilizer. He did not concur when CIO President Phil Murray bluntly declared:

"Wilson is unpalatable to every man here except yourself. He is the reason labor has not been able to serve in its proper place in the mobilization program. Labor wants to serve and would serve if Wilson and big business hadn't barred us."

AFL President Bill Green agreed.

Labor has tried to work with Wilson," Green said. "We are aware of the seriousness of the problems facing the country and have patriotically endeavored to get along with him, but his overbearing conduct makes it impossible."

Truman said he understood labor's position, but added that differences with management spokesmen were not insurmountable and could be worked out "if you will be patient" until the new advisory board gets rolling.

"We want you back in—I need your advice and help as much as I need that of business," the President insisted.

"I get all the government advice I need," he added with a broad grin.

Actually, General Eisenhower received a tirade of criticism from London when he was in command of the fighting in North Africa in the last war and the muddy terrain slowed down his operations.

Time For Re-Examination

Parliaments and congresses will always have their say about what generals and admirals do and this is to be expected but when the Conservative party, under Winston Churchill, attacked the appointment of Admiral Fechteler recently and now the "left wing" Labor party's faction attacks General MacArthur, many officers here believe it is time to re-examine the whole concept of an inter-Allied command in time of peace. If the British, for example, want full command of naval operations in European waters it is proper for them to have it, but logically then they should supply the bulk of the naval forces—something the Labor government is not doing.

Perhaps the withdrawal of America's interest in an over-all naval command in the Atlantic will bring home to the British people the fact that with responsibility must go power and certainly more naval power is needed in Europe. The United States after all has a large naval problem in the Pacific and cannot be expected to supply naval strength in all the seven seas, too. British tradition has been mentioned in the debate as a reason for having a British admiral in command of the Eastern Atlantic and European waters. British tradition also used to supply enough naval strength to police the seven seas. The two major parties in Britain's parliament haven't really awakened to what is causing the changed viewpoint about who should or shouldn't command inter-Allied operations.

Inside Washington

The Administration's proposal to draft 18-year-olds is in jeopardy in the House although the Senate already has approved the plan. The Army's decision to cut its April draft quota in half and induct only 40,000 men during the month has made many House members doubt that there is need for 18-year-olds to be drafted.

Even before the Army action, the new draft bill faced tough sledding in the House. The House armed services committee only approved a draft of youths aged 18½ instead of the 18-year minimum voted by the Senate.

There is a fair chance that the House itself won't even okay the induction of 18½-year-olds. Many congressmen favor continuing only the present law which provides for drafting men aged 19 through 25.

Of course, any House-passed measure that differs from the Senate bill will have to be worked out in a conference committee. The result may be a slightly tougher draft law, but not as rigid as the military wants.

Housecleaning

Despite President Truman's refusal to oust William O'Dwyer as ambassador to Mexico or to fire Donald Dawson from his White House post, look for some rugged housecleaning in the executive structure next year.

Sources close to the President say that he is gravely concerned over testimony in the Senate crime investigation concerning O'Dwyer and over Dawson's alleged connection with "influence" brought to bear on the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

These sources add that Mr. Truman feels it would be an admission of weakness in his administration to take summary action now against either O'Dwyer or Dawson.

However, they predict that the President, anxious to have his house really in order before next year's election campaigns, will see to it that both men have been replaced by that time—politely, if possible, but nevertheless firmly.

Washington Headaches

The fact that men in public life often have to take unlimited abuse is being brought home to many of the new officials in the government's mobilization program.

A good example of this is furnished by Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston, an old hand around Washington who has been noted for his diplomatic manner.

Johnston's friends say that even he is having a rough time. They quote him as saying he has never taken so much abuse in his life and that he sometimes finds it difficult to hold his temper.

One story going the rounds reports that members of a teamsters' union delegation recently called Johnston just about every gutter name during a conference with him.

Although he is usually imperturbable, Johnston found this hard to take. He confided that he found it difficult to keep from punching one of the union officials in the nose.

No House Relief

Housing experts say that there is little chance of relief from crowded housing conditions in the foreseeable future. As a matter of fact, they expect things to get worse instead of better.

Credit restrictions, allocation of critical matgrials for defense production have tightened up the home-building market to the extent that only current needs probably will be met.

That means that the backlog of housing demands, which grew out of World War II, will remain with us.

Most real estate groups contend that price controls and other rigid economic curbs will force many private builders out of the market and postpone for years an honest-to-goodness housing boom.

Let's take a gander at the docket. The Kefauver committee cleaned up like a cat with an ant-eater's tongue.

But when Washington investigates Washington it's a tempest in a bait-box.

They are taking the Navy out of camphor and replacing it with nink. The portfolios are lumpy with influence and the five-percenters are legislating for a boosted cumshaw.

Official Washington still thinks cupidity is the little imp of romance. Armament experts have taken the recoil out of the bazooka but you cannot eliminate the kickback from introductions.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

The latest story about that accomplished but unpredictable young star, Marlon Brando, comes from Tricia Hurst. She says that when Brando was preparing for his role in The Men, he entered a ward in a Veterans' Hospital and spent four weeks there with thirty-one paraplegics, studying their problems and reactions.

One evening they were approached by a well-meaning but interminable old bore who assured them at great length that all they needed was sufficient faith to restore the use of their limbs. Observing the sufferers' distress, Brando suddenly simulated a spasm, jumped up from his cot with a yell, and broke into a mad version of the Lindy hop. The bore fainted and was mercifully removed from the scene of the crime. Thirty-one grateful paraplegics beseeched Brando for his autograph.

Wills Probated In Court Here

Wills of two prominent Cumberland residents who died recently were admitted to probate last Friday in Orphans Court.

One was the testament of Thomas Duncanson, Sr., 64-year-old auditor of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, who died April 4. He left all his estate to his widow, Mrs. Jessie Morrison Duncanson. His son, Frank Duncanson, was named executor. The will was dated May 15, 1946.

The other will was that of Mrs. Sarah Gottlieb, 78, of 167 North Centre Street, widow of Jacob Gottlieb. She died March 30. Her niece, Milly Gottlieb, 163 North Centre Street, was named executrix.

Mrs. Gottlieb left a life interest in her entire estate to her sister, Emma White. Upon the sister's death, the estate is to be divided equally among Joseph White, Mrs. Gottlieb's brother; Milly Gottlieb, her niece, and Kurt Gottlieb, a nephew.

However, a few cash commitments were set forth before the division of the estate. These included $500 each to the Cemetery Committee of B'er Chayim Congregation for perpetual care of the Gottlieb lot, to Moses Gottlieb, Harry Gottlieb, Margaret Bebe and Esther Plue.

Preston Pickets Trial Postponed

KINGWOOD, W. Va., April 9 (AP)—The cases of nine pickets charged with stoning a busload of non-union coal miners was postponed today until the next term of Circuit Court.

Judge Charles P. Wilhelm ordered the delay after it was learned that Preston County Sheriff J. H. Benson, a key witness, was ill.

The nine are charged with stoning a bus en route on February 12 to the Kray Coal Company.

Later today, attorneys for the United Mine Workers asked that indictments against 27 other pickets charged with stoning cars in the prolonged troubles in the non-union fields be quashed.

The lawyers argued that the indictments were not specific. Judge Wilhelm did not rule on the motion immediately.

Deputy Sheriff Sam Freeland quoted three mine guards at the Brookside Coal Company tipple, also a non-union operation that someone fired at them with rifles Saturday night. No one was injured.

Hartle To Head College Drive

Major General Russell P. Hartle, USA Ret., St. John's College '10, has been named area chairman for Allegany, Frederick, Garrett and Washington counties in the College's alumni drive for an endowment fund, John C. Donohue, campaign chairman said.

Termed the largest drive in the history of St. John's, Donohue, Baltimore insurance broker, said the College hopes for an enthusiastic response from alumni in 43 states and 19 foreign countries in its efforts to raise $100,000 toward the endowment in the next 100 days.

General Hartle served in both world wars and took the first American troops to Northern Ireland at the beginning of World War II.

A vice president of St. John's Alumni association, the new area chairman said he believes the counties he represents will heartily support the endowment drive of St. John's College. He pointed out that with the Old Dominion Foundation pledge to match, dollar for dollar, every gift to the College endowment, the alumni has an added stimulus to meet their quota.

General Hartle lives at 673 Oak Hill, Hagerstown.

Negro Housing

the poor environment of the population had more to do with their "undesirability" than the fact they were "no good."

James Raines, Housing Authority director, then informed the group that the cost of the project was estimated at about $10,000 per unit and would be tax free. The rentals would be divided between the government and the city and county governments with the city getting about eight per cent of the rentals and the county two per cent, "which would about equal the amount now being received in taxes on property located there."

The squabble waxed hot and heavy in spots and when the suggestion to move the project elsewhere was made, F. Patrick Allender, member of the board, said "The only place to send the Negroes where they will be accepted is in Korea!"

Board To Take Vote

Finan then told the group that the housing board was working under an ultimation handed down by the Federal Board that if a site wasn't chosen soon it would have to be dropped. Wilson then said that a meeting would be held sometime this week by the local board to vote on the proposed site for the project.

Also attending the meeting were William E. Eichner, John Wormack, president of the Cumberland branch of the National Society for the Advancement of Colored People, Rev. Chesley V. Daniel, assistant pastor of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, and Raines and William Long, housing authority directors, in addition to members of the local housing board, Rev. H. M. Richardson, rector of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, Allender, Wilson, Bracey and Robert Stallings.

LaSalle Paper Wins State Press Honors

LaSalle High School's student newspaper, "The Torch," was awarded second honors in its class in the contest conducted Saturday at the University of Maryland in connection with the fifth annual Maryland Scholastic Press Tournament.

"The Torch" was entered in the monthly section of the division for schools with an enrollment under 500 students.

Allegany High's "Mirror" and Fort Hill High's "Sentinel" finished second and third, respectively, in the division for schools with enrollments over 800.

All three schools were represented by four students in the four-event writing tournament—news, sports, editorial and feature, but Charles Smith, of Allegany, was the only contestant to place among the leaders. He was fifth in sports writing.

Journalism students of Montgomery Blair High School of Silver Spring won the writing tournament to give that school a leg on the Cumberland Times-News Trophy.

Sen. O'Conor To Speak Here

Allegany county Democrats will have U. S. Senator Herbert R. O'Conor (D-Md.) as the principal speaker for the annual Jackson-Jefferson Day dinner to be held April 27 at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Sen. O'Conor's prominence as a member of the Kefauver Crime Investigating Committee makes him a prime attraction not only here but throughout the country.

Other top ranking Democrats who have been invited to speak here are George P. Mahoney, national Democratic committeeman; J. Millard Tawes, state comptroller and Hall Hammond, state attorney general.

"The Torch" was entered in the monthly section of the division for schools with an enrollment under 500 students.

Allegany High's "Mirror" and Fort Hill High's "Sentinel" finished second and third, respectively, in the division for schools with enrollments over 800.

All three schools were represented by four students in the four-event writing tournament—news, sports, editorial and feature, but Charles Smith, of Allegany, was the only contestant to place among the leaders. He was fifth in sports writing.

Journalism students of Montgomery Blair High School of Silver Spring won the writing tournament to give that school a leg on the Cumberland Times-News Trophy.

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

HIGH RANKING among the women I most admire is Ginny Lamb, a Powers model who is always in demand, and whose behind-the-scenes life is as full and successful as any woman could wish for. She has been married for fifteen years and is the mother of two attractive children. Few women with far less to do achieve the serenity and composure that are always hers.

Any woman who attains so much of what others want should be willing to share her living plan, I contend. So I asked Ginny for her secret.

Company Expected

"Secret?" laughed Ginny. "I have none . . . unless it's what our youngest son said one day recently, 'We always live like company is coming.'

"Actually, that's just a time, work and temper saver. With a 'company-coming' formula for living, our house and ourselves are always at guest-inspection level. This prevents any of the slumps that account for most disorder . . . the kinds that are responsible for orgies of frenzied effort and that always result in frayed nerves.

"Remember that old saying, 'A gentleman never needs a haircut?' Well, that's a pretty good description of our formula for living. We never have to go through any drastic operations because we never let ourselves get to the point where any is needed.

"The best part of this way of living is the enjoyment we find in each other. An important part of our plan is to treat each other as guests. The returns are terrific! Actually, even the smallest children respond in kind to the degree of courtesies you accord them.

"I know of no other treatment that keeps a husband so contented. Is there any man who doesn't prefer an unruffled wife? Family harmony? Order in his home? Or attractively-served and well-cooked meals?

© 1951 by John F. Dille Co.

Make life easier and smoother by treating your family as guests! They'll prove to be your favorite company.

"My family expects me to look my best always — they've told me so. By perfecting her beauty techniques any woman can look her loveliest in record time. If she'll take this little trouble, she'll be well repaid in the reciprocation of the rest of the family. They'll return the compliment by always looking their spic-and-span best.

"Our 'company-coming' habits seem to save us plenty of time for cultivating what you, Mr. Powers, refer to as the inner glow. We think a widening horizon is of the greatest importance to people who really want to live happily together. That's why we treasure and constantly work to enlarge our common interests."

STRIKE A MATCH...

WHAT BECOMES OF THE FLAME?

An inexpensive little Want Ad was the spark that blazed the way to the founding of the Sears, Roebuck & Co. business.

The partners of this great mail order business were brought together by a 55c Help Wanted ad in the Chicago DAILY NEWS.

In 1886 Richard W. Sears, who was station agent for the Minneapolis & St. Paul Railway in North Redwood, discovered that he could make money by selling watches by mail. He moved to Chicago. He needed a watch maker and adjuster, so he inserted the following ad in the DAILY NEWS.

"Watchmaker wanted with references who can furnish tools. State age, experience, and salary required. T39 Daily News."

The ad was answered by A. C. Roebuck. This was the beginning of a business which last year spent over 25 million dollars on newspaper advertising alone, and did a volume of business amounting to over 2 billion dollars.

The advertising medium which brought Sears and Roebuck together has never been forgotten.

Any woman who attains so much of what others want should be willing to share her living plan, I contend. So I asked Ginny for her secret.

Company Expected

"Secret?" laughed Ginny. "I have none . . . unless it's what our youngest son said one day recently, 'We always live like company is coming.'

"Actually, that's just a time, work and temper saver. With a 'company-coming' formula for living, our house and ourselves are always at guest-inspection level. This prevents any of the slumps that account for most disorder . . . the kinds that are responsible for orgies of frenzied effort and that always result in frayed nerves.

"Remember that old saying, 'A gentleman never needs a haircut?' Well, that's a pretty good description of our formula for living. We never have to go through any drastic operations because we never let ourselves get to the point where any is needed.

"The best part of this way of living is the enjoyment we find in each other. An important part of our plan is to treat each other as guests. The returns are terrific! Actually, even the smallest children respond in kind to the degree of courtesies you accord them.

"I know of no other treatment that keeps a husband so contented. Is there any man who doesn't prefer an unruffled wife? Family harmony? Order in his home? Or attractively-served and well-cooked meals?

Make life easier and smoother by treating your family as guests! They'll prove to be your favorite company.

"My family expects me to look my best always — they've told me so. By perfecting her beauty techniques any woman can look her loveliest in record time. If she'll take this little trouble, she'll be well repaid in the reciprocation of the rest of the family. They'll return the compliment by always looking their spic-and-span best.

"Our 'company-coming' habits seem to save us plenty of time for cultivating what you, Mr. Powers, refer to as the inner glow. We think a widening horizon is of the greatest importance to people who really want to live happily together. That's why we treasure and constantly work to enlarge our common interests."

HIGH RANKING among the women I most admire is Ginny Lamb, a Powers model who is always in demand, and whose behind-the-scenes life is as full and successful as any woman could wish for. IS THAT A FACT! by Ches Peake

SHE WAS THE FIRST TO SAY "I DO." The first Christian marriage ceremony to be performed in America occurred in Jamestown, Va., in 1609, when Anne Burras married John Leyton according to English rites. The marriage took place 11 years before the landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth Rock.

IT WAS HARD TO EQUAL. The common arithmetical sign, the equal mark, was originated in about 1557 by a mathematician named Robert Recorde. He wrote in a treatise on algebra: "To avoide the tediouse repetition of these words, is equalle to, I will sette, as I doe often in worke use a pair of parallel lines of one lengthe, thus: =, because no two things can be more equalle."

IT IS ALSO A FACT THAT . . . the YELLOW PAGES of your Telephone Directory have no equal when it comes to locating products or services for the home or business. For example, suppose you are moving from one town to another. You will need movers, and perhaps storage for your furniture. Just turn to the proper headings in the YELLOW PAGES, pick out the firms you want, and your problem's simplified. Get in the habit of using the YELLOW PAGES. You'll find it—pays!

County Board Will Not Grade Scout Camp Road

On the recommendation of J. Walker Chapman, supervisor of the County Road Department, members of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners have notified the Baltimore Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, that it is not necessary to grade a road in the eastern part of the county.

The county had been asked to grade an old road for a distance of about three-fourths of a mile to allow a Cumberland well digger to get his equipment to the site of a wilderness camp in the Sideling Hill section near the Green Ridge State Forest.

Chapman said the roadway is passable and the well digger can gain entrance to the site to dig several wells. He pointed out the roadbed is rocky, and that bulldozing would soften the surface and be of no aid.

Two tracts of land, comprising more than 750 acres, are to be used by the Baltimore area Scouts. The land lies athwart the Allegany-Washington county line.

Frederick A. Saffron, Baltimore, said the two tracts will be used by older Scouts for a wilderness camp site and that Adirondack lean-tos will be erected on the site. It has been decided that well water must be provided and the Baltimore Scout council is expending a large sum of money to promote the site for use by Scouts.

A geological expert from Johns Hopkins University will select sites for the various wells and the work of erecting the lean-tos will be started as soon as possible.

Damage Suit Is Filed Here

Suit for $35,000 damages was docketed yesterday in Circuit Court by Thomas B. Finan, attorney for John James Eirich, 10 Pennsylvania Avenue, for injuries sustained January 30 when he was struck by a car involved in a collision with a truck on a downtown street here.

The declaration, filed against Hiram F. Wakeman, owner of the truck; Thomas W. Stegmaier, driver of the truck, and Clifford D. Redinger, the operator of the car, states that Eirich was standing at the intersection of Baltimore and South Mechanic Streets when the truck and car collided due to alleged negligence of the two drivers.

The truck allegedly forced the car onto the pavement and it struck Eirich. He claims he suffered torn ligaments and muscles, concussion of the spine and a fractured foot, and that he has been completely and permanently disabled.

Eirich states he earned an average of $100 weekly and as a result of the injuries has lost wages and incurred hospital and medical expenses.

Police Lieut. Raymond R. Johnston said at the time of the accident Eirich was standing on the corner waiting for the walk light. The officer said Eirich, a local carpenter, landed on his head on the pavement after "being thrown some distance in the air."

She had no interest in food whatsoever, but I knew that she had to eat. When we were visiting my mother in Missouri over the Christmas holidays she suggested I give Carmelita HADACOL. I bought a large bottle of it that same day and was amazed at the change in Carmelita. Her appetite picked right up and she now eats three hearty meals a day plus in-between snacks. I have really praised HADACOL, and highly recommend it."

G. E. Moncus, 221 Columbus St., Montgomery, Ala.: "Quite some time ago I began to have indigestion and sour stomach. My food just didn't digest right. I'd get a full, 'gassy' feeling after I ate. This affected my appetie and my weight. I was run-down, too. My wife started taking HADACOL and so did my daughter. I saw how much it had helped them, so I started taking it. And HADACOL has certainly helped me, too. My stomach never bothers me any more. I have a terrific appetite and have gained weight. I have lots of energy and just feel good in every way. I think HADACOL is wonderful. I wish I could tell everyone just how wonderful it really is."

Mrs. W. O. Jones, 7244 N. Bell St., Chicago, Ill.: "I am a housewife and mother of three children. I had been feeling very run-down, would tire so easily, and just felt listless. My mother-in-law suggested I take HADACOL, as she had heard of it through friends of hers. I just took it for a few days, when I noticed I was feeling stronger and seemed to have more energy. I continued taking HADACOL and it has certainly built up my strength. I am no longer run-down, don't tire nearly as much. I am now on my sixth large bottle of HADACOL, and intend to continue taking it."

William J. Dunlap, 4404 Freer St., Apt. 2, Detroit, Mich.: "Along with the pains I suffered my body had a tired, worn-out feeling. I had to force myself to keep going. # County Board Will Not Grade Scout Camp Road

On the recommendation of J. Walker Chapman, supervisor of the County Road Department, members of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners have notified the Baltimore Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, that it is not necessary to grade a road in the eastern part of the county.

The county had been asked to grade an old road for a distance of about three-fourths of a mile to allow a Cumberland well digger to get his equipment to the site of a wilderness camp in the Sideling Hill section near the Green Ridge State Forest.

Chapman said the roadway is passable and the well digger can gain entrance to the site to dig several wells. He pointed out the roadbed is rocky, and that bulldozing would soften the surface and be of no aid.

Two tracts of land, comprising more than 750 acres, are to be used by the Baltimore area Scouts. The land lies athwart the Allegany-Washington county line.

Frederick A. Saffron, Baltimore, said the two tracts will be used by older Scouts for a wilderness camp site and that Adirondack lean-tos will be erected on the site. It has been decided that well water must be provided and the Baltimore Scout council is expending a large sum of money to promote the site for use by Scouts.

A geological expert from Johns Hopkins University will select sites for the various wells and the work of erecting the lean-tos will be started as soon as possible.

YES, HADACOL MAKES IT POSSIBLE TO RELIEVE THE CAUSE OF

Aches and Pains, Stomach Distress, Weak, Run-down Conditions and Nervousness When Due To Lack of Vitamins $B_1$, $B_2$, Niacin and Iron In Your System

Mrs. A. Plonka of 3202 S. Aberdeen, Chicago, Ill.: "My daughter Carmelita, who is 10 years old and in the fifth grade, had always been underweight and I had to positively force her to eat. She had no interest in food whatsoever, but I knew that she had to eat. When we were visiting my mother in Missouri over the Christmas holidays she suggested I give Carmelita HADACOL. I bought a large bottle of it that same day and was amazed at the change in Carmelita. Her appetite picked right up and she now eats three hearty meals a day plus in-between snacks. I have really praised HADACOL, and highly recommend it."

G. E. Moncus, 221 Columbus St., Montgomery, Ala.: "Quite some time ago I began to have indigestion and sour stomach. My food just didn't digest right. I'd get a full, 'gassy' feeling after I ate. This affected my appetite and my weight. I was run-down, too. My wife started taking HADACOL and so did my daughter. I saw how much it had helped them, so I started taking it. And HADACOL has certainly helped me, too. My stomach never bothers me any more. I have a terrific appetite and have gained weight. I have lots of energy and just feel good in every way. I think HADACOL is wonderful. I wish I could tell everyone just how wonderful it really is."

Mrs. W. O. Jones, 7244 N. Bell St., Chicago, Ill.: "I am a housewife and mother of three children. I had been feeling very run-down, would tire so easily, and just felt listless. My mother-in-law suggested I take HADACOL, as she had heard of it through friends of hers. I just took it for a few days, when I noticed I was feeling stronger and seemed to have more energy. I continued taking HADACOL and it has certainly built up my strength. I am no longer run-down, don't tire nearly as much. I am now on my sixth large bottle of HADACOL, and intend to continue taking it."

William J. Dunlap, 4404 Freer St., Apt. 2, Detroit, Mich.: "Along with the pains I suffered my body had a tired, worn-out feeling. I had to force myself to keep going. I read about HADACOL and decided to give it a try. Am now on my fifth bottle and would not be without an ample supply. My first bottle gave me astonishing relief, and at this time of writing I feel better, without a pain or ache. Am a dairy employee, 54 years old. Veteran of two world wars. Active overseas in both. I have given your HADACOL every praise to friends and relatives and know some are using it with just as astonishing results as I myself have found."

Give HADACOL A Chance To Help YOU

If your system lacks these essential elements, you will be amazed at the wonderful results HADACOL can bring you, as it has to thousands of other fine folks who suffered a deficiency of Vitamins $B_1$, $B_2$, Niacin and Iron, which HADACOL contains.

Mathewson Led Spas With 446, Pence's .765 Foul Mark Tops

Team's Average 73.2 Game; Won 14 Of 32; Attendance Takes Dive

Ed "Whitey" Mathewson, Newark, N. J., sharpshooter, led the Cumberland Spas basketball team in scoring for the 1950-51 season, ringing up a total of 446 points in 29 games, an average of 15.4 points per contest.

Mathewson also was Cumberland's top man in the All-American Pro Basketball League with 402 markers. On March 4 when the Spas beat Altoona, 110-56, Matty tossed in 36 points on 16 field goals and 4-5 fouls for the second highest total ever credited to a Cumberland player in the A-A loop. Bill Feeney, incidentally, a Cumberland player, hung up a league record in 1949-50 when he meshed 44 points. Mathewson tied his field goal mark of 16 but Feeney sank 12 of 17 free throws.

Pence Led In Goals

Bob Pence, Allegany High School teacher and football coach, who led Cumberland teams in scoring for four consecutive years, was the runner-up this year with 423 points. He is the only one of 21 players on the roster who appeared in every one of the 32 contests.

Pence's field goal output was one better than Mathewson, 179-178 and he was the best foul shooter among the regulars with an average of .765, or better than three points in every four tries at the charity stripe. Pence was the team's top scorer in the five independent games with 67 tallies and his 30 points in the playoff series with Wheeling was also the best individual effort.

Won 14, Lost 18

The Spas, sponsored by the Spa Bar, concluded the season Sunday with a record of 14 wins and 18 losses for an average of 43 per cent. At home the team won 12 and lost 7 while on the road it lost 11 out of 13.

Attendance at home games was below the average paid at pro contests here in previous years. The season's high was 506 for Erie's initial visit, February 4. The New York Rens, always a big drawing card in the past, attracted only 333 on March 15. The finale of the playoffs with Wheeling here March 18 drew 494.

Amassing a total of 2,343 points in 32 games, the locals coached by William V. Keegan, averaged 73.2 points per contest and had a foul shooting average of .674. Every regular on the team hit .524 or better at the foul line. Twice the team scored more than 100 points, beating Altoona 110-56 and the St. Francis Club 105-85. It suffered a 103-98 loss at Wheeling. In fact, Wheeling handed the Spas seven of its 18 defeats. These losses came in a row, the last two knocking the Spas out of the playoffs. Wheeling then took Erie in three straight to bag the title.

Finished 3rd In A-A

The Spas finished the A-A League season in 3rd place with 13-12 record. Wheeling was first (18-6), Erie, second (11-6) and Beaver Falls, fourth (9-14). Cumberland has figured in three of the four league playoffs, winning in the 1949-50 season.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 9 (INS)—Two Louisville, Ky., bowlers and two from Toledo, O., rolled to the lead of individual events standings today in the 48th annual American Bowling Tournament in St. Paul.

Louis Frantz, 33-year-old bowling alley operator from Louisville, picked off the all events lead by a single pin with 1,907. He edged out Dr. Daniel J. Smalley of Cincinnati, O., who had been leading with 1,906.

Mike Gast, also of Louisville, rolled a 685 to replace Clarence Marshall of Detroit with 664 as the new singles leader.

Toledo factory workers Casper Piojda and Leo Mruk took over the lead spot in the doubles division with 1,260.

Potomac State Plays Ashland College Today

Ohioans Rained Out In 3rd At Frostburg

Ashland (Ohio) College will make its second attempt to play a baseball game in this section when it plays Potomac State School at Keyser today at 2 p. m.

The teams will windup their two-game series Wednesday at Keyser.

Yesterday, Coach George Donges' tossers opened their invasion of the tri-state area but were halted by rain in the top of the third inning with the score 3-2 in favor of Coach Kenneth Babcock's Frostburg State Teachers' College team.

The Bobcats scored three runs in the first inning while the Ohioans got two in the third stanza. Ashland loaded the bases on the opening frame but was unable to score on Johnny Frank. The Frostburg twirler fanned the side in the second frame. The Teachers collected five hits and Ashland had three.

Coach Babcock said that Ashland is considering returning Friday to finish the game in the Mountain City. The Brethren school nine, coached by George Donges, is billed to play Shepherd College on Thursday and will know after that game whether the Friday stop will be made while en route to Ohio.

Frostburg Teachers' College will play the University of Maryland Frosh on Saturday at College Park.

Reichler Picks Yanks To Repeat

Figures Boston Sox Second Best In A. L.

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK, April 9 (AP) — For the past four years the Boston Red Sox were the team to beat for the American League flag. And that's what happened—they got beat.

This year is no exception. The power-laden Red Sox, perennial March champions, again shape up as the team to beat. And they probably will get beat again.

Who will beat them this time?

Why, the club that has done it three of the four years—the world champion New York Yankees.

Yes, it looks to this writer as if the Bronx Bombers will win their third straight pennant.

The Red Sockers, because of their almost unbeatable habits at home and their marked improvement in pitching, should live up to their name as the best second place team in baseball history.

Cleveland's vastly improved Indians, boasting perhaps the best hurling corps in the circuit, should move up a notch to third. Chicago's young, hustling White Sox can prove the "sleeper" club and slip into the first division ahead of the diluted Detroit Tigers.

Washington easily is the best of the rest with St. Louis and Philadelphia holding up the rear.

This may be the order of the finish:

1. New York
2. Boston
3. Cleveland
4. Chicago
5. Detroit
6. Washington
7. St. Louis
8. Philadelphia

FORMERLY of Minnesota, John O. Roning is the new head football coach and athletic director at Utah State Agricultural college, Logan, Ut. He was selected over 97 applicants. (International)

Norvel Lee Wins Bout At Boston

Washington Heavy Defends AAU Title

BOSTON, April 9 (INS)—Norvel Lee, the national amateur heavyweight king from Washington, D. C., took a long first step toward the defense of his title tonight when he punched out a unanimous decision over tough Jimmy Craven, of Sylacauga, Ala.

Lee's win was the outstanding individual feat of the opening day of the three-day fistic amateur championship carnival. No less important, however, was the batfle for team honors which saw the Camp Lejeune Marines and the San Francisco - Oakland contingent bracketed at the top with four winners each.

Right behind them were the teams from Seattle and New England, each with three victors.

Hawaii, which had been considered one of the top choices for the team title, saw five of its fighters go into the ring, and only two emerge as victors. They were bantamweight Ernest De Jesus, who beat Georges Coles, Washington, D. C., and featherweight Alando Gusman who knocked out Ken Garrett, of Sylacauga, Ala.

The west coast's four winners were Leo Anderson, a featherweight; Ernie Harris, lightweight, Louis Andrade, light heavyweight, and Kildo Maronez, a bantamweight.

Ferguson Is Loser

BOSTON, April 9 (AP)—Two classy Seattle, Wash., boxers who lost out in last year's finals outclassed the field today in early trial rounds of the 63rd National A.A.U. championship tournament at Boston Garden.

They were featherweight Dick Rall and welterweight Dick Graddon.

Another clever amateur who won his opening trial bout was featherweight Jimmy Ithier of Norfolk, Va., a 1949 finalist who is a member o fa team entered by the navy's U.S.S. Mississippi.

Rall, who lost a split decision a year ago, overcame tough Milton Ferguson of Washington, D. C., and Graddon stopped Charles Kelley from the navy's base at Quonset Point, R. I.

Ithier outpointed Marine Bill Michelucky representing Greenville, S. C.

Flintstone Is Sentinels' Foe For Game Here

Allegany High Pries Off Lid April 19 At Mercersburg Academy

Weather permitting, Fort Hill High School's Sentinels will have the honor of opening the local scholastic baseball season when they cross bats with Flintstone High School on Friday at 4 p. m. at Fort Hill Field.

Augie Eichhorn, of Lonaconing, who made his debut as soccer coach at Flintstone High, will also serve as mentor of the diamond aggregation.

Flintstone, Hagerstown and the Alumni will be the only non-league nines on Fort Hill's schedule this season. Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh's tossers hope to play the Alumni next week while Barton High will be met in the league opener Friday, April 20.

Donnie Frye, second string receiver; Joe "Lefty" Beck, Wayne Lewis and Nello Caporossi, pitchers; Gerald Null, second sacker, and Ronnie Cage and Kenny Owens, outfielders, are holdovers from last season's squad.

There are approximately 60 players trying out for the team.

AHS To Open April 19

Coach J. Hubert Radcliffe reports that the only game on Allegany High's schedule prior to the league opener with Beall which has been shifted from Friday, April 20 to Saturday, April 21 at Frostburg, is with Mercersburg Academy at Mercersburg, Pa., Thursday, April 19.

Sixty-five candidates answered the first call at Campobello but rain and a muddy field had played havoc with practice sessions.

The Campers' regulars holding over from last season are Ronnie Sisk, pitcher, and "Chuck" Elrich, outfielder.

LaSalle High, with Charley Doyle at the helm, doesn't open its season until the Bi-State Conference lid-lifter with Hyndman High here Friday, April 20. The Explorers will play only 14 league games.

Umpires' Clinic Set Thursday At Moose Home 8 P. M.

The second of a series of refresher clinics for all softball and baseball umpires will be held Thursday at 8 p. m. at the Cumberand Loyal Order of Moose Home.

Clinics are open to all persons interested in baseball and softball.

Thinclads To Report

Candidates for Fort Hill High School's track and field squad will report today, Coach William P. Hahn announced last night.

The Sentinels hope to open their season next week against the combined Mineral County forces from Ridgeley, Fort Ashby, Piedmont and Keyser.

Nagurski, Henry Named Tackles On Dream Team

Get Consideration For Hall Of Fame

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., April 9—(AP)—Bronco Nagurski, one of the tackles on the all-time All-America football team, looks as though he could go out and play 60 minutes today.

But Wilbur (Fats) Henry the other tackle on the dream team which was chosen by the nation's sportwriters and sportscasters, for the Associated Press seems a long way from his last football game.

Bronko Nagurski

The reason is easy: Nagurski is a professional wrestler these days, while Henry has settled down to the relatively calm life of athletic director at his alma mater, Washington and Jefferson. Both now will receive consideration for spots in the National Football Hall of Fame.

The great Nagurski — he was so good that he got votes for both tackle and halfback — was surprised when he was told that he was selected as a lineman.

When he was interviewed at his International Falls, Minn. home, he was doing what he likes best—puttering around the garden of his home and painting a boat in preparation for the spring season.

Says 1927 Gophers Best

"I played only 32 minutes at tackle in Big Ten Conference competition," he said, "and I actually liked fullback better. But this is the crowning touch of my career."

Bronk, now 42 years old, rates the 1927 Minnesota team as the best of his college days, and said that aggregation could take care of any today.

Henry is like many former linemen—he likes to remember when he scored a touchdown.

"We were playing Westminster in 1917," he said in his Washington, Pa., office of W. and J. "I was at right tackle, my usual spot. Westminster lined up in punt formation. I rushed through to block the punt, and darned if I didn't take the ball right off the toe of the kicker. I'll never forget that one."

Henry, now 53, didn't confine his attentions to football at W. and J. He was the first student in the school to win four varsity letters. Besides his action on the football field, he was a guard on the basketball team, a catcher in baseball and tossed weights for the track squad.

Henry Played With Pros

He played pro football for eight years—1920 through 1928—then returned to W. and J. where he was given the assignment as varsity basketball coach, frosh football mentor and assistant track coach. In 1932, he was named athletic director and has been in the post since.

"I love to work with youngsters," he said. "But every now and then I know I'm getting on in years when some kid comes up and says 'dad used to go to school with you and he says to be sure and give you his best.'"

Henry, who had his right leg amputated in 1948 as a result of an infection after suffering from diabetes, now walks with the aid of a wooden leg.

DiMaggio Ready To Start Season With Full Sails

Denies Report He's Tired, Irritable

DALLAS, April 9—(AP)—The Yankee Clipper said today he was ready to start the American League season with full sails.

"Tell the Yankee fans not to worry about me," said Joe Di Maggio, the key player of the world champion New York Yankees. "I will do my part."

The 36-year-old outfielder was very satisfied with his training to date. He played nine innings for the second time this spring yesterday, belted his fourth homer and two singles, and lifted his Grapefruit League average to .378. He has hit safely in his last eight games.

"Casey Stengel had me scheduled to start playing through in Kansas City tomorrow," said Joe. "But I decided to beat that plan by a couple of days.

"I'm getting into great shape. I used to rush my conditioning because I wanted to have a reserve if I got hurt. This time I decided to take it easy. The new scheme has worked to perfection. I have only one regret. I weigh only 191. I wish it were at least 198."

DiMag picked up a newspaper which carried a story saying that "Joe is tired and irritable."

"I never was on an unfriendly footing with my teammates," Joe said. "I am not tired and I am not irritable. Some guy is taking pot shots at me."

The Yankee Clipper said he thought the pennant race would be a four-way scramble among the Yanks, Boston, Cleveland, and Detroit. Naturally, he thought the Yanks would cop.

"We will win again because of our reserve strength," said Joe. "We will have some of it on the field all the way, and some in our minor league chain, where it will be available for our September drive, or for service in an emergency before then. The other clubs will have all their strength already in action.

Yankees Will Get Physical Checkups

DALLAS, Tex., April 9—(AP)—Little Phil Rizzuto, the American League's most valuable player, and two other New York Yankee baseball players—pitchers Joe Page and Allie Reynolds—are leaving the team to fly to Johns Hopkins Hospital for physical checkups.

Wakefield Is Given Release By Oakland

SAN FRANCISCO, April 9 (AP)—Dick Wakefield, Oakland's $1-a-year outfielder, asked for and was given his unconditional release today by Oakland president Brick Laws.

Wakefield was signed off the University of Michigan campus for $52,000 by the Detroit Tigers in 1941 and was with the New York Yankees before coming to the Oaks last year at a salary of $17,500.

He said he would try to latch on with some major league club.

Wakefield quit the Oaks because he felt he wasn't getting anywhere, he said. He had not started a game for the Coast League team this year.

Bob Cunningham, manager of last year's team, will supervise drills this week and Friday a new manager will be named.

Holdovers back from last year's team already under contract are Jim Eckard, Ronnie Cage, Bob Doman, "Bub" Frye, Don Buser, Glenn Wilson, Gabby Birmingham, Rich Cunningham, Fred Tewell, Paul Long, "Red" Crawford and Donnie Frye.

Those interested in coming out for the team are asked to report at practice.

Any area teams that would like to book a practice game for either Thursday, Saturday or Sunday should call 390.

Kiner Will Represent Players Of National

CINCINNATI, April 9 — (AP) — Home-run king Ralph Kiner of the Pittsburgh Pirates has been named player-representative of the National League, it was announced today.

Secretary of baseball Walter Mulbry confirmed Kiner's election by players of the senior loop. Mulbry said Ford Frick, president of the National League, so informed him today.

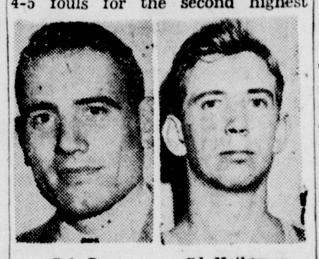
Team's Average 73.2 Game; Won 14 Of 32; Attendance Takes Dive

Ed "Whitey" Mathewson, Newark, N. J., sharpshooter, led the Cumberland Spas basketball team in scoring for the 1950-51 season, ringing up a total of 446 points in 29 games, an average of 15.4 points per contest.

Mathewson also was Cumberland's top man in the All-American Pro Basketball League with 402 markers. On March 4 when the Spas beat Altoona, 110-56, Matty tossed in 36 points on 16 field goals and 4-5 fouls for the second highest total ever credited to a Cumberland player in the A-A loop. Bill Feeney, incidentally, a Cumberland player, hung up a league record in 1949-50 when he meshed 44 points. Mathewson tied his field goal mark of 16 but Feeney sank 12 of 17 free throws.



Bob Pence Ed Mathewson

Pence Led In Goals

Bob Pence, Allegany High School teacher and football coach, who led Cumberland teams in scoring for four consecutive years, was the runner-up this year with 423 points. He is the only one of 21 players on the roster who appeared in every one of the 32 contests.

Pence's field goal output was one better than Mathewson, 179-178 and he was the best foul shooter among the regulars with an average of .765, or better than three points in every four tries at the charity stripe. Pence was the team's top scorer in the five independent games with 67 tallies and his 30 points in the playoff series with Wheeling was also the best individual effort.

Won 14, Lost 18

The Spas, sponsored by the Spa Bar, concluded the season Sunday with a record of 14 wins and 18 losses for an average of 43 per cent. At home the team won 12 and lost 7 while on the road it lost 11 out of 13.

Attendance at home games was below the average paid at pro contests here in previous years. The season's high was 506 for Erie's initial visit, February 4. The New York Rens, always a big drawing card in the past, attracted only 333 on March 15. The finale of the playoffs with Wheeling here March 18 drew 494.

Amassing a total of 2,343 points in 32 games, the locals coached by William V. Keegan, averaged 73.2 points per contest and had a foul shooting average of .674. Every regular on the team hit .524 or better at the foul line. Twice the team scored more than 100 points, beating Altoona 110-56 and the St. Francis Club 105-85. It suffered a 103-98 loss at Wheeling. In fact, Wheeling handed the Spas seven of its 18 defeats. These losses came in a row, the last two knocking the Spas out of the playoffs. Wheeling then took Erie in three straight to bag the title.

Finished 3rd In A-A

The Spas finished the A-A League season in 3rd place with 13-12 record. Wheeling was first (18-6), Erie, second (11-6) and Beaver Falls, fourth (9-14). Cumberland has figured in three of the four league playoffs, winning in the 1949-50 season.

Potomac State Plays Ashland College Today

Ohioans Rained Out In 3rd At Frostburg

Ashland (Ohio) College will make its second attempt to play a baseball game in this section when it plays Potomac State School at Keyser today at 2 p. m.

The teams will windup their two-game series Wednesday at Keyser.

Yesterday, Coach George Donges' tossers opened their invasion of the tri-state area but were halted by rain in the top of the third inning with the score 3-2 in favor of Coach Kenneth Babcock's Frostburg State Teachers' College team.

The Bobcats scored three runs in the first inning while the Ohioans got two in the third stanza. Ashland loaded the bases on the opening frame but was unable to score on Johnny Frank. The Frostburg twirler fanned the side in the second frame. The Teachers collected five hits and Ashland had three.

Coach Babcock said that Ashland is considering returning Friday to finish the game in the Mountain City. The Brethren school nine, coached by George Donges, is billed to play Shepherd College on Thursday and will know after that game whether the Friday stop will be made while en route to Ohio.

Frostburg Teachers' College will play the University of Maryland Frosh on Saturday at College Park.

FORMERLY of Minnesota, John O. Roning is the new head football coach and athletic director at Utah State Agricultural college, Logan, Ut. He was selected over 97 applicants. (International)

Norvel Lee Wins Bout At Boston

Washington Heavy Defends AAU Title

BOSTON, April 9 (INS)—Norvel Lee, the national amateur heavyweight king from Washington, D. C., took a long first step toward the defense of his title tonight when he punched out a unanimous decision over tough Jimmy Craven, of Sylacauga, Ala.

Lee's win was the outstanding individual feat of the opening day of the three-day fistic amateur championship carnival. No less important, however, was the batfle for team honors which saw the Camp Lejeune Marines and the San Francisco - Oakland contingent bracketed at the top with four winners each.

Right behind them were the teams from Seattle and New England, each with three victors.

Hawaii, which had been considered one of the top choices for the team title, saw five of its fighters go into the ring, and only two emerge as victors. They were bantamweight Ernest De Jesus, who beat Georges Coles, Washington, D. C., and featherweight Alando Gusman who knocked out Ken Garrett, of Sylacauga, Ala.

The west coast's four winners were Leo Anderson, a featherweight; Ernie Harris, lightweight, Louis Andrade, light heavyweight, and Kildo Maronez, a bantamweight.

Ferguson Is Loser

BOSTON, April 9 (AP)—Two classy Seattle, Wash., boxers who lost out in last year's finals outclassed the field today in early trial rounds of the 63rd National A.A.U. championship tournament at Boston Garden.

They were featherweight Dick Rall and welterweight Dick Graddon.

Another clever amateur who won his opening trial bout was featherweight Jimmy Ithier of Norfolk, Va., a 1949 finalist who is a member o fa team entered by the navy's U.S.S. Mississippi.

Rall, who lost a split decision a year ago, overcame tough Milton Ferguson of Washington, D. C., and Graddon stopped Charles Kelley from the navy's base at Quonset Point, R. I.

Ithier outpointed Marine Bill Michelucky representing Greenville, S. C.

Nagurski, Henry Named Tackles On Dream Team

Get Consideration For Hall Of Fame

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., April 9—(AP)—Bronco Nagurski, one of the tackles on the all-time All-America football team, looks as though he could go out and play 60 minutes today.

But Wilbur (Fats) Henry the other tackle on the dream team which was chosen by the nation's sportwriters and sportscasters, for the Associated Press seems a long way from his last football game.

Bronko Nagurski

The reason is easy: Nagurski is a professional wrestler these days, while Henry has settled down to the relatively calm life of athletic director at his alma mater, Washington and Jefferson. Both now will receive consideration for spots in the National Football Hall of Fame.

The great Nagurski — he was so good that he got votes for both tackle and halfback — was surprised when he was told that he was selected as a lineman.

When he was interviewed at his International Falls, Minn. home, he was doing what he likes best—puttering around the garden of his home and painting a boat in preparation for the spring season.

Says 1927 Gophers Best

"I played only 32 minutes at tackle in Big Ten Conference competition," he said, "and I actually liked fullback better. But this is the crowning touch of my career."

Bronk, now 42 years old, rates the 1927 Minnesota team as the best of his college days, and said that aggregation could take care of any today.

Henry is like many former linemen—he likes to remember when he scored a touchdown.

"We were playing Westminster in 1917," he said in his Washington, Pa., office of W. and J. "I was at right tackle, my usual spot. Westminster lined up in punt formation. I rushed through to block the punt, and darned if I didn't take the ball right off the toe of the kicker. I'll never forget that one."

Henry, now 53, didn't confine his attentions to football at W. and J. He was the first student in the school to win four varsity letters. Besides his action on the football field, he was a guard on the basketball team, a catcher in baseball and tossed weights for the track squad.

Henry Played With Pros

He played pro football for eight years—1920 through 1928—then returned to W. and J. where he was given the assignment as varsity basketball coach, frosh football mentor and assistant track coach. In 1932, he was named athletic director and has been in the post since.

"I love to work with youngsters," he said. "But every now and then I know I'm getting on in years when some kid comes up and says 'dad used to go to school with you and he says to be sure and give you his best.'"

Henry, who had his right leg amputated in 1948 as a result of an infection after suffering from diabetes, now walks with the aid of a wooden leg.

Grace Methodist defeated St. Luke's, 3,672 to 3,214. W. Hull's 819 was high set for Grace while L. Owens' 203 was high for one game. E. Ebert's 760 was St. Luke's high set.

Central and Grace will clash in the finals April 16 on Kelso's alleys.

The league banquet is set for April 23 at St. Luke's Lutheran Church with State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher as toastmaster.

DiMaggio Ready To Start Season With Full Sails

Denies Report He's Tired, Irritable

DALLAS, April 9—(AP)—The Yankee Clipper said today he was ready to start the American League season with full sails.

"Tell the Yankee fans not to worry about me," said Joe Di Maggio, the key player of the world champion New York Yankees. "I will do my part."

The 36-year-old outfielder was very satisfied with his training to date. He played nine innings for the second time this spring yesterday, belted his fourth homer and two singles, and lifted his Grapefruit League average to .378. He has hit safely in his last eight games.

"Casey Stengel had me scheduled to start playing through in Kansas City tomorrow," said Joe. "But I decided to beat that plan by a couple of days.

"I'm getting into great shape. I used to rush my conditioning because I wanted to have a reserve if I got hurt. This time I decided to take it easy. The new scheme has worked to perfection. I have only one regret. I weigh only 191. I wish it were at least 198."

DiMag picked up a newspaper which carried a story saying that "Joe is tired and irritable."

"I never was on an unfriendly footing with my teammates," Joe said. "I am not tired and I am not irritable. Some guy is taking pot shots at me."

The Yankee Clipper said he thought the pennant race would be a four-way scramble among the Yanks, Boston, Cleveland, and Detroit. Naturally, he thought the Yanks would cop.

"We will win again because of our reserve strength," said Joe. "We will have some of it on the field all the way, and some in our minor league chain, where it will be available for our September drive, or for service in an emergency before then. The other clubs will have all their strength already in action.

Yankees Will Get Physical Checkups

DALLAS, Tex., April 9—(AP)—Little Phil Rizzuto, the American League's most valuable player, and two other New York Yankee baseball players—pitchers Joe Page and Allie Reynolds—are leaving the team to fly to Johns Hopkins Hospital for physical checkups.

Wakefield Is Given Release By Oakland

SAN FRANCISCO, April 9 (AP)—Dick Wakefield, Oakland's $1-a-year outfielder, asked for and was given his unconditional release today by Oakland president Brick Laws.

Wakefield was signed off the University of Michigan campus for $52,000 by the Detroit Tigers in 1941 and was with the New York Yankees before coming to the Oaks last year at a salary of $17,500.

He said he would try to latch on with some major league club.

Wakefield quit the Oaks because he felt he wasn't getting anywhere, he said. He had not started a game for the Coast League team this year.

Holdovers back from last year's team already under contract are Jim Eckard, Ronnie Cage, Bob Doman, "Bub" Frye, Don Buser, Glenn Wilson, Gabby Birmingham, Rich Cunningham, Fred Tewell, Paul Long, "Red" Crawford and Donnie Frye.

Those interested in coming out for the team are asked to report at practice.

Any area teams that would like to book a practice game for either Thursday, Saturday or Sunday should call 390.

Kiner Will Represent Players Of National

CINCINNATI, April 9 — (AP) — Home-run king Ralph Kiner of the Pittsburgh Pirates has been named player-representative of the National League, it was announced today.

Secretary of baseball Walter Mulbry confirmed Kiner's election by players of the senior loop. Mulbry said Ford Frick, president of the National League, so informed him today.

The Pittsburgh slugger succeeds Marty Marion of the St. Louis Cardinals, who became ineligible for the job after being elevated to manager of the Redbirds.

Kiner and Freddy Hutchinson of the Detroit Tigers will represent the players in matters before the major league club owners.

Kentucky Pinmen Advance To Top

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 9 (INS)—Two Louisville, Ky., bowlers and two from Toledo, O., rolled to the lead of individual events standings today in the 48th annual American Bowling Tournament in St. Paul.

Louis Frantz, 33-year-old bowling alley operator from Louisville, picked off the all events lead by a single pin with 1,907. He edged out Dr. Daniel J. Smalley of Cincinnati, O., who had been leading with 1,906.

Mike Gast, also of Louisville, rolled a 685 to replace Clarence Marshall of Detroit with 664 as the new singles leader.

Toledo factory workers Casper Piojda and Leo Mruk took over the lead spot in the doubles division with 1,260.

Frantz took his all events lead on 655 in the team event, 634 in the doubles and 618 in the singles. He and his partner George Seiler, who rolled 605, also are near the top in the doubles with 1,239.

Piojda paced the doubles play with 661 on games of 202, 213 and 246. Mruk had 215, 205 and 179 for 599.

Harold Eaket of Grand Rapids, Mich., held third place in the all events with 1,878.

Figures Boston Sox Second Best In A. L.

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK, April 9 (AP) — For the past four years the Boston Red Sox were the team to beat for the American League flag. And that's what happened—they got beat.

This year is no exception. The power-laden Red Sox, perennial March champions, again shape up as the team to beat. And they probably will get beat again.

Who will beat them this time?

Why, the club that has done it three of the four years—the world champion New York Yankees.

Yes, it looks to this writer as if the Bronx Bombers will win their third straight pennant.

The Red Sockers, because of their almost unbeatable habits at home and their marked improvement in pitching, should live up to their name as the best second place team in baseball history.

Cleveland's vastly improved Indians, boasting perhaps the best hurling corps in the circuit, should move up a notch to third. Chicago's young, hustling White Sox can prove the "sleeper" club and slip into the first division ahead of the diluted Detroit Tigers.

Washington easily is the best of the rest with St. Louis and Philadelphia holding up the rear.

This may be the order of the finish:

1. New York
2. Boston
3. Cleveland
4. Chicago
5. Detroit
6. Washington
7. St. Louis
8. Philadelphia

Team's Average 73.2 Game; Won 14 Of 32; Attendance Takes Dive

Ed "Whitey" Mathewson, Newark, N. J., sharpshooter, led the Cumberland Spas basketball team in scoring for the 1950-51 season, ringing up a total of 446 points in 29 games, an average of 15.4 points per contest.

Mathewson also was Cumberland's top man in the All-American Pro Basketball League with 402 markers. On March 4 when the Spas beat Altoona, 110-56, Matty tossed in 36 points on 16 field goals and 4-5 fouls for the second highest total ever credited to a Cumberland player in the A-A loop. Bill Feeney, incidentally, a Cumberland player, hung up a league record in 1949-50 when he meshed 44 points. Mathewson tied his field goal mark of 16 but Feeney sank 12 of 17 free throws.

Pence Led In Goals

Bob Pence, Allegany High School teacher and football coach, who led Cumberland teams in scoring for four consecutive years, was the runner-up this year with 423 points. He is the only one of 21 players on the roster who appeared in every one of the 32 contests.

Pence's field goal output was one better than Mathewson, 179-178 and he was the best foul shooter among the regulars with an average of .765, or better than three points in every four tries at the charity stripe. Pence was the team's top scorer in the five independent games with 67 tallies and his 30 points in the playoff series with Wheeling was also the best individual effort.

Won 14, Lost 18

The Spas, sponsored by the Spa Bar, concluded the season Sunday with a record of 14 wins and 18 losses for an average of 43 per cent. At home the team won 12 and lost 7 while on the road it lost 11 out of 13.

Attendance at home games was below the average paid at pro contests here in previous years. The season's high was 506 for Erie's initial visit, February 4. The New York Rens, always a big drawing card in the past, attracted only 333 on March 15. The finale of the playoffs with Wheeling here March 18 drew 494.

Amassing a total of 2,343 points in 32 games, the locals coached by William V. Keegan, averaged 73.2 points per contest and had a foul shooting average of .674. Every regular on the team hit .524 or better at the foul line. Twice the team scored more than 100 points, beating Altoona 110-56 and the St. Francis Club 105-85. It suffered a 103-98 loss at Wheeling. In fact, Wheeling handed the Spas seven of its 18 defeats. These losses came in a row, the last two knocking the Spas out of the playoffs. Wheeling then took Erie in three straight to bag the title.

Finished 3rd In A-A

The Spas finished the A-A League season in 3rd place with 13-12 record. Wheeling was first (18-6), Erie, second (11-6) and Beaver Falls, fourth (9-14). Cumberland has figured in three of the four league playoffs, winning in the 1949-50 season.

Potomac State Plays Ashland College Today

Ohioans Rained Out In 3rd At Frostburg

Ashland (Ohio) College will make its second attempt to play a baseball game in this section when it plays Potomac State School at Keyser today at 2 p. m.

The teams will windup their two-game series Wednesday at Keyser.

Yesterday, Coach George Donges' tossers opened their invasion of the tri-state area but were halted by rain in the top of the third inning with the score 3-2 in favor of Coach Kenneth Babcock's Frostburg State Teachers' College team.

The Bobcats scored three runs in the first inning while the Ohioans got two in the third stanza. Ashland loaded the bases on the opening frame but was unable to score on Johnny Frank. The Frostburg twirler fanned the side in the second frame. The Teachers collected five hits and Ashland had three.

Coach Babcock said that Ashland is considering returning Friday to finish the game in the Mountain City. The Brethren school nine, coached by George Donges, is billed to play Shepherd College on Thursday and will know after that game whether the Friday stop will be made while en route to Ohio.

Frostburg Teachers' College will play the University of Maryland Frosh on Saturday at College Park.

Norvel Lee Wins Bout At Boston

Washington Heavy Defends AAU Title

BOSTON, April 9 (INS)—Norvel Lee, the national amateur heavyweight king from Washington, D. C., took a long first step toward the defense of his title tonight when he punched out a unanimous decision over tough Jimmy Craven, of Sylacauga, Ala.

Lee's win was the outstanding individual feat of the opening day of the three-day fistic amateur championship carnival. No less important, however, was the battle for team honors which saw the Camp Lejeune Marines and the San Francisco-Oakland contingent bracketed at the top with four winners each.

Right behind them were the teams from Seattle and New England, each with three victors.

Hawaii, which had been considered one of the top choices for the team title, saw five of its fighters go into the ring, and only two emerge as victors. They were bantamweight Ernest De Jesus, who beat Georges Coles, Washington, D. C., and featherweight Alando Gusman who knocked out Ken Garrett, of Sylacauga, Ala.

The west coast's four winners were Leo Anderson, a featherweight; Ernie Harris, lightweight, Louis Andrade, light heavyweight, and Kildo Maronez, a bantamweight.

Ferguson Is Loser

BOSTON, April 9 (AP)—Two classy Seattle, Wash., boxers who lost out in last year's finals outclassed the field today in early trial rounds of the 63rd National A.A.U. championship tournament at Boston Garden.

They were featherweight Dick Rall and welterweight Dick Graddon.

Another clever amateur who won his opening trial bout was featherweight Jimmy Ithier of Norfolk, Va., a 1949 finalist who is a member o fa team entered by the navy's U.S.S. Mississippi.

Rall, who lost a split decision a year ago, overcame tough Milton Ferguson of Washington, D. C., and Graddon stopped Charles Kelley from the navy's base at Quonset Point, R. I.

Ithier outpointed Marine Bill Michelucky representing Greenville, S. C.

Allegany High Pries Off Lid April 19 At Mercersburg Academy

Weather permitting, Fort Hill High School's Sentinels will have the honor of opening the local scholastic baseball season when they cross bats with Flintstone High School on Friday at 4 p. m. at Fort Hill Field.

Augie Eichhorn, of Lonaconing, who made his debut as soccer coach at Flintstone High, will also serve as mentor of the diamond aggregation.

Flintstone, Hagerstown and the Alumni will be the only non-league nines on Fort Hill's schedule this season. Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh's tossers hope to play the Alumni next week while Barton High will be met in the league opener Friday, April 20.

Donnie Frye, second string receiver; Joe "Lefty" Beck, Wayne Lewis and Nello Caporossi, pitchers; Gerald Null, second sacker, and Ronnie Cage and Kenny Owens, outfielders, are holdovers from last season's squad.

There are approximately 60 players trying out for the team.

AHS To Open April 19

Coach J. Hubert Radcliffe reports that the only game on Allegany High's schedule prior to the league opener with Beall which has been shifted from Friday, April 20 to Saturday, April 21 at Frostburg, is with Mercersburg Academy at Mercersburg, Pa., Thursday, April 19.

Sixty-five candidates answered the first call at Campobello but rain and a muddy field had played havoc with practice sessions.

The Campers' regulars holding over from last season are Ronnie Sisk, pitcher, and "Chuck" Elrich, outfielder.

LaSalle High, with Charley Doyle at the helm, doesn't open its season until the Bi-State Conference lid-lifter with Hyndman High here Friday, April 20. The Explorers will play only 14 league games.

Clinics are open to all persons interested in baseball and softball.

Thinclads To Report

Candidates for Fort Hill High School's track and field squad will report today, Coach William P. Hahn announced last night.

The Sentinels hope to open their season next week against the combined Mineral County forces from Ridgeley, Fort Ashby, Piedmont and Keyser.

Nagurski, Henry Named Tackles On Dream Team

Get Consideration For Hall Of Fame

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., April 9—(AP)—Bronco Nagurski, one of the tackles on the all-time All-America football team, looks as though he could go out and play 60 minutes today.

But Wilbur (Fats) Henry the other tackle on the dream team which was chosen by the nation's sportwriters and sportscasters, for the Associated Press seems a long way from his last football game.

Bronko Nagurski

The reason is easy: Nagurski is a professional wrestler these days, while Henry has settled down to the relatively calm life of athletic director at his alma mater, Washington and Jefferson. Both now will receive consideration for spots in the National Football Hall of Fame.

The great Nagurski — he was so good that he got votes for both tackle and halfback — was surprised when he was told that he was selected as a lineman.

When he was interviewed at his International Falls, Minn. home, he was doing what he likes best—puttering around the garden of his home and painting a boat in preparation for the spring season.

Says 1927 Gophers Best

"I played only 32 minutes at tackle in Big Ten Conference competition," he said, "and I actually liked fullback better. But this is the crowning touch of my career."

Bronk, now 42 years old, rates the 1927 Minnesota team as the best of his college days, and said that aggregation could take care of any today.

Henry is like many former linemen—he likes to remember when he scored a touchdown.

"We were playing Westminster in 1917," he said in his Washington, Pa., office of W. and J. "I was at right tackle, my usual spot. Westminster lined up in punt formation. I rushed through to block the punt, and darned if I didn't take the ball right off the toe of the kicker. I'll never forget that one."

Henry, now 53, didn't confine his attentions to football at W. and J. He was the first student in the school to win four varsity letters. Besides his action on the football field, he was a guard on the basketball team, a catcher in baseball and tossed weights for the track squad.

Henry Played With Pros

He played pro football for eight years—1920 through 1928—then returned to W. and J. where he was given the assignment as varsity basketball coach, frosh football mentor and assistant track coach. In 1932, he was named athletic director and has been in the post since.

"I love to work with youngsters," he said. "But every now and then I know I'm getting on in years when some kid comes up and says 'dad used to go to school with you and he says to be sure and give you his best.'"

Henry, who had his right leg amputated in 1948 as a result of an infection after suffering from diabetes, now walks with the aid of a wooden leg.

DiMaggio Ready To Start Season With Full Sails

Denies Report He's Tired, Irritable

DALLAS, April 9—(AP)—The Yankee Clipper said today he was ready to start the American League season with full sails.

"Tell the Yankee fans not to worry about me," said Joe Di Maggio, the key player of the world champion New York Yankees. "I will do my part."

The 36-year-old outfielder was very satisfied with his training to date. He played nine innings for the second time this spring yesterday, belted his fourth homer and two singles, and lifted his Grapefruit League average to .378. He has hit safely in his last eight games.

"Casey Stengel had me scheduled to start playing through in Kansas City tomorrow," said Joe. "But I decided to beat that plan by a couple of days.

"I'm getting into great shape. I used to rush my conditioning because I wanted to have a reserve if I got hurt. This time I decided to take it easy. The new scheme has worked to perfection. I have only one regret. I weigh only 191. I wish it were at least 198."

DiMag picked up a newspaper which carried a story saying that "Joe is tired and irritable."

"I never was on an unfriendly footing with my teammates," Joe said. "I am not tired and I am not irritable. Some guy is taking pot shots at me."

The Yankee Clipper said he thought the pennant race would be a four-way scramble among the Yanks, Boston, Cleveland, and Detroit. Naturally, he thought the Yanks would cop.

"We will win again because of our reserve strength," said Joe. "We will have some of it on the field all the way, and some in our minor league chain, where it will be available for our September drive, or for service in an emergency before then. The other clubs will have all their strength already in action.

Yankees Will Get Physical Checkups

DALLAS, Tex., April 9—(AP)—Little Phil Rizzuto, the American League's most valuable player, and two other New York Yankee baseball players—pitchers Joe Page and Allie Reynolds—are leaving the team to fly to Johns Hopkins Hospital for physical checkups.

Wakefield Is Given Release By Oakland

SAN FRANCISCO, April 9 (AP)—Dick Wakefield, Oakland's $1-a-year outfielder, asked for and was given his unconditional release today by Oakland president Brick Laws.

Wakefield was signed off the University of Michigan campus for $52,000 by the Detroit Tigers in 1941 and was with the New York Yankees before coming to the Oaks last year at a salary of $17,500.

He said he would try to latch on with some major league club.

Wakefield quit the Oaks because he felt he wasn't getting anywhere, he said. He had not started a game for the Coast League team this year.

Recreation Champs To Hold Practice

Cunningham's Grocery, defending champions of the City Rec Softball League, will drill Tuesday through Friday nights at Locust Grove at 5:30 p. m.

Bob Cunningham, manager of last year's team, will supervise drills this week and Friday a new manager will be named.

Holdovers back from last year's team already under contract are Jim Eckard, Ronnie Cage, Bob Doman, "Bub" Frye, Don Buser, Glenn Wilson, Gabby Birmingham, Rich Cunningham, Fred Tewell, Paul Long, "Red" Crawford and Donnie Frye.

Those interested in coming out for the team are asked to report at practice.

Any area teams that would like to book a practice game for either Thursday, Saturday or Sunday should call 390.

Kiner Will Represent Players Of National

CINCINNATI, April 9 — (AP) — Home-run king Ralph Kiner of the Pittsburgh Pirates has been named player-representative of the National League, it was announced today.

Secretary of baseball Walter Mulbry confirmed Kiner's election by players of the senior loop. Mulbry said Ford Frick, president of the National League, so informed him today.

The Pittsburgh slugger succeeds Marty Marion of the St. Louis Cardinals, who became ineligible for the job after being elevated to manager of the Redbirds.

Kiner and Freddy Hutchinson of the Detroit Tigers will represent the players in matters before the major league club owners.

Lead Changes In ABC Tests

Kentucky Pinmen Advance To Top

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 9 (INS)—Two Louisville, Ky., bowlers and two from Toledo, O., rolled to the lead of individual events standings today in the 48th annual American Bowling Tournament in St. Paul.

Louis Frantz, 33-year-old bowling alley operator from Louisville, picked off the all events lead by a single pin with 1,907. He edged out Dr. Daniel J. Smalley of Cincinnati, O., who had been leading with 1,906.

Mike Gast, also of Louisville, rolled a 685 to replace Clarence Marshall of Detroit with 664 as the new singles leader.

Toledo factory workers Casper Piojda and Leo Mruk took over the lead spot in the doubles division with 1,260.

Frantz took his all events lead on 655 in the team event, 634 in the doubles and 618 in the singles. He and his partner George Seiler, who rolled 605, also are near the top in the doubles with 1,239.

Gast, former baseball pitcher for Baltimore and Birmingham who now sells insurance, had games of 233, 238, and 214 in the singles. He finished with 1,871 in the all events.

Piojda paced the doubles play with 661 on games of 202, 213 and 246. Mruk had 215, 205 and 179 for 599.

Harold Eaket of Grand Rapids, Mich., held third place in the all events with 1,878.

Reichler Picks Yanks To Repeat

Figures Boston Sox Second Best In A. L.

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK, April 9 (AP) — For the past four years the Boston Red Sox were the team to beat for the American League flag. And that's what happened—they got beat.

This year is no exception. The power-laden Red Sox, perennial March champions, again shape up as the team to beat. And they probably will get beat again.

Who will beat them this time?

Why, the club that has done it three of the four years—the world champion New York Yankees.

Yes, it looks to this writer as if the Bronx Bombers will win their third straight pennant.

The Red Sockers, because of their almost unbeatable habits at home and their marked improvement in pitching, should live up to their name as the best second place team in baseball history.

Cleveland's vastly improved Indians, boasting perhaps the best hurling corps in the circuit, should move up a notch to third. Chicago's young, hustling White Sox can prove the "sleeper" club and slip into the first division ahead of the diluted Detroit Tigers.

Washington easily is the best of the rest with St. Louis and Philadelphia holding up the rear.

This may be the order of the finish:

1. New York
2. Boston
3. Cleveland
4. Chicago
5. Detroit
6. Washington
7. St. Louis
8. Philadelphia

Uncle Miltie Wins Jamaica Feature Race

Battlefield Second, And Nullify Third

NEW YORK, April 9 (INS) — Uncle Miltie won the first showdown of the year among the three leading Kentucky Derby candidates today by capturing the six-furlong prospect purse at Jamaica race track.

The time was 1:10-1/5. Uncle Miltie won by four lengths and paid $5.90, $3.00 and $2.60.

Battlefield, outstanding two-year-old of 1950, was second and Nullify, third in the $5,000 event. Big Stretch—another of the Derby big three along with Uncle Miltie and Battlefield — finished out of the money.

Uncle Miltie's victory was his fourth in a row and the ninth in 15 starts for the J. J. Colando Colt, who was ridden by Hedley Woodhouse.

In Derby Picture

SPORTS Sputterings by WALTER L. JOHNS

Central Press Sports Editor

FOR the first time in years, the "Run for the Roses" at historic old Churchill Downs, less than a month away, appears to be as wide open as any maiden race.

And, apparently, the same situation could exist by Derby time, which is around 4:30 in the afternoon, Central Standard time, on May 5.

The tune-up events have accented candidates, of course, but none of the three-year-old colts has proven anything to date. Except, perhaps, that they will be in the group which will traverse the mile and a quarter Derby distance on the first Saturday in May.

The two most prominent candidates, authored into co-favoritism off their 1950 record as juveniles, are Battlefield, the George D. Widener colt who won 10 out of 13 races and $198,677 last year, and Uncle Miltie, the bay colt owned by J. J. Colando. Uncle Miltie copped eight wins in 14 starts and $54,075 last year. Uncle Miltie, named for the famed radio and TV favorite, recently worked six furlongs at Jamaica in 1:11 4/5, a spectacular workout. Both Uncle Miltie and Battlefield were to be given tests at Jamaica the week of April 9.

• • • •

ANOTHER COLT which is getting early backing, but nothing like sure-shot favoritism, is Big Stretch, the Greentree Stable's solid racer who wintered well. Big Stretch, who was third to Battlefield in money won last year—$103,467—started 15 times in 1950 and won four races, being in the money 10 times.

It was his class, at the end of the two-year-old campaign, however, which gave him his representation. Big Stretch won a smashing victory in the Pimlico Futurity and was beaten by a nose by Battlefield in the Belmont Futurity. This colt likes the distance and the Derby route should suit him fine.

Also liked, at this stage, is Rough 'N Tumble, a bay colt owned by Mrs. F. A. Genter. RNT never was out of the money in seven starts last year.

His "colt of distinction" rating at this time, however, was his victory in the Santa Anita Derby this year, where he picked up a hefty check.

• • • •

LATEST to attract interest is the misspelled Repetoire, a chestnut colt who recently beat a field of Derby hopefuls in the Experimental Handicap at Jamaica, although it was in a sprint.

Repetoire, a son of Happy Argo, oldest sire with a son eligible for the 1951 Derby, finished nine times in the money out of 11 starts last year but showed best as a sprinter, just as his old man did those many years ago.

• • • •

THE FLAMINGO STAKES, closing event at the Hialeah meeting in early March, generally gives some sort of line on the Derby.

This year, however, the Flamingo, at a mile and an eighth, was won by Yildiz, a colt which was not considered good enough to be entered in the Derby.

Of interest here, though, was the showing of a Derby eligible, Timely Reward, owned by Mrs. W. Gilroy.

Timely Reward, beaten by a scant nose in the Flamingo, was coming at the end and probably would have won the race in a few more strides.

As a two-year-old in 1950 Timely Reward started just seven times and was in the money three times. A mishap put him out of action in late May and he didn't return until the Hialeah meeting this year.

In this race the favorite was Battle Morn, which broke bad and finished 10th. But Battle Morn was one of the respected two-year-olds last year, finishing in the money six out of eight times and second to Uncle Miltie in the Champagne Stakes.

• • • •

THE BIG TUNEUPS, of course, are the Chesapeake Stakes, at Laurel April 14; the Wood Memorial, at Jamaica April 21, and the Blue Grass Stakes at Keeneland, April 26.

Six winners of the Wood Memorial have gone on to win the Derby. Four Chesapeake winners went on to cop the Run for the Roses. Only two Blue Grass winners have gone on to win the Derby.

Navy Tossers Lose To Michigan, 9-3

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 9 (AP)—Bill Denhouter pitched Michigan to a 9-3 victory over Navy's baseball team today.

The righthander held the Middies to seven hits while striking out six and issuing but one walk.

Michigan jumped on Ted Rook, Navy's starting pitcher, for two runs in the first inning. The Wolverines added another in the fourth, two more in the fifth and four more in the ninth inning.

In all, they collected 13 hits off the offerings of Rook and John Cricchi, who pitched the last 4⅔ innings for the Sailors. The loss was chalked against Rook.

Umpire Ejects Casey Stengel

Yankee Pilot Given Heave By Donatelli

DALLAS, Tex., April 9 (AP)—Casey Stengel was ejected from a ball game today for the first time in his three-year career as manager of the New York Yankees.

The veteran manager was given the heave by National League umpire Augie Donatelli in the third inning of the game between the Yankees and Boston Braves.

The New York pilot argued that a ruling by the official deprived his club of a run. Gil McDonald, running from third base to the plate, appeared to have scored before the completion of a non-force double play in the infield.

Joe DiMaggio was on first base when Yogi Berra slammed a grounder at Earl Torgeson, the Boston first baseman. Torgy, noting that DiMaggio was loafing toward second, tagged first base to retire the hitter before tossing to second baseman Roy Hartsfield to retire DiMaggio. The double play ended the inning.

Stengel argued violently that McDougald had crossed the plate before the tag was applied to DiMaggio. He and the umpire pushed each other with their chests and when Casey tried to bar the umpire from taking his position behind the plate, Donatelli thumbed him. Today's was the most bitter and protracted argument by Stengel — it lasted nearly five minutes—since he became Yankee pilot in 1949.

BRAVES BELT RASCHI

DALLAS, Texas, April 9 (AP)—Although Lefty Warren Spahn, who went the distance, yielded 14 hits, the Boston Braves trimmed the New York Yankees, 8-4, today in an exhibition baseball game at Dallas, Tex.

It was the New Yorkers' first setback in their last six starts.

The Braves collected 12 of their 13 hits and all their runs off Vic Raschi, who went seven innings.

Earl Torgeson clouted a home run in the first inning. Score:

CHISOX GET 17 HITS

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 9 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox clubbed the team of their old manager, Jack Onslow, for a 15-4 decision before 1,018 fans today. The rout of the Chattanooga Lookouts marked the Pale Hose' 21st win in 28 exhibition starts.

The 17-hit Sox triumph proved costly as outfielder rookie Ed McGhee was hit above the right wrist by a pitched ball and pitcher Joe Dobson had to quit after three innings because of a strained thigh muscle.

A seven-run sixth inning capped the Sox assault. Score:

NATS EDGE REDS

WINSTON SALEM, N. C., April 9 (AP)—Conrado Marrero pitched the Washington Senators out of a five-game losing streak today as he set the Cincinnati Reds down with only two hits for a 2 to 1 victory.

The curve-balling Cuban right-hander gave up a run in the first on two walks, a wild pitch and a long fly and after that the Reds never got a man past first base. Marrero struck out nine.

Ken Raffensberger, veteran Cincinnati southpaw, allowed only five hits in the tight battle. Rookie Gene Verble's duble to right center scored Washington's two runs in the seventh and ended a string of 17 consecutive scoreless innings for Raffensberger. Score:

WASHINGTON (A) 000 000 200—2 5 0
CINCINNATI (N) . 100 000 000—1 2 0

Uncle Miltie Wins Jamaica Feature Race

Battlefield Second, And Nullify Third

NEW YORK, April 9 (INS) — Uncle Miltie won the first showdown of the year among the three leading Kentucky Derby candidates today by capturing the six-furlong prospect purse at Jamaica race track.

The time was 1:10-1/5. Uncle Miltie won by four lengths and paid $5.90, $3.00 and $2.60.

Battlefield, outstanding two-year-old of 1950, was second and Nullify, third in the $5,000 event. Big Stretch—another of the Derby big three along with Uncle Miltie and Battlefield — finished out of the money.

Uncle Miltie's victory was his fourth in a row and the ninth in 15 starts for the J. J. Colando Colt, who was ridden by Hedley Woodhouse.

In Derby Picture

Sports Sputterings

WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

FOR the first time in years, the "Run for the Roses" at historic old Churchill Downs, less than a month away, appears to be as wide open as any maiden race.

And, apparently, the same situation could exist by Derby time, which is around 4:30 in the afternoon, Central Standard time, on May 5.

The tune-up events have accented candidates, of course, but none of the three-year-old colts has proven anything to date. Except, perhaps, that they will be in the group which will traverse the mile and a quarter Derby distance on the first Saturday in May.

The two most prominent candidates, authored into co-favoritism off their 1950 record as juveniles, are Battlefield, the George D. Widener colt who won 10 out of 13 races and $198,677 last year, and Uncle Miltie, the bay colt owned by J. J. Colando. Uncle Miltie copped eight wins in 14 starts and $54,075 last year. Uncle Miltie, named for the famed radio and TV favorite, recently worked six furlongs at Jamaica in 1:11 4/5, a spectacular workout. Both Uncle Miltie and Battlefield were to be given tests at Jamaica the week of April 9.

• • • •

ANOTHER COLT which is getting early backing, but nothing like sure-shot favoritism, is Big Stretch, the Greentree Stable's solid racer who wintered well. Big Stretch, who was third to Battlefield in money won last year—$103,467—started 15 times in 1950 and won four races, being in the money 10 times.

It was his class, at the end of the two-year-old campaign, however, which gave him his representation. Big Stretch won a smashing victory in the Pimlico Futurity and was beaten by a nose by Battlefield in the Belmont Futurity. This colt likes the distance and the Derby route should suit him fine.

Also liked, at this stage, is Rough 'N Tumble, a bay colt owned by Mrs. F. A. Genter. RNT never was out of the money in seven starts last year.

His "colt of distinction" rating at this time, however, was his victory in the Santa Anita Derby this year, where he picked up a hefty check.

• • • •

LATEST to attract interest is the misspelled Repetoire, a chestnut colt who recently beat a field of Derby hopefuls in the Experimental Handicap at Jamaica, although it was in a sprint.

Repetoire, a son of Happy Argo, oldest sire with a son eligible for the 1951 Derby, finished nine times in the money out of 11 starts last year but showed best as a sprinter, just as his old man did those many years ago.

• • • •

THE FLAMINGO STAKES, closing event at the Hialeah meeting in early March, generally gives some sort of line on the Derby.

This year, however, the Flamingo, at a mile and an eighth, was won by Yildiz, a colt which was not considered good enough to be entered in the Derby.

Of interest here, though, was the showing of a Derby eligible, Timely Reward, owned by Mrs. W. Gilroy.

Timely Reward, beaten by a scant nose in the Flamingo, was coming at the end and probably would have won the race in a few more strides.

As a two-year-old in 1950 Timely Reward started just seven times and was in the money three times. A mishap put him out of action in late May and he didn't return until the Hialeah meeting this year.

In this race the favorite was Battle Morn, which broke bad and finished 10th. But Battle Morn was one of the respected two-year-olds last year, finishing in the money six out of eight times and second to Uncle Miltie in the Champagne Stakes.

• • • •

THE BIG TUNEUPS, of course, are the Chesapeake Stakes, at Laurel April 14; the Wood Memorial, at Jamaica April 21, and the Blue Grass Stakes at Keeneland, April 26.

Six winners of the Wood Memorial have gone on to win the Derby. Four Chesapeake winners went on to cop the Run for the Roses. Only two Blue Grass winners have gone on to win the Derby.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 9 (AP)—Bill Denhouter pitched Michigan to a 9-3 victory over Navy's baseball team today.

The righthander held the Middies to seven hits while striking out six and issuing but one walk.

Michigan jumped on Ted Rook, Navy's starting pitcher, for two runs in the first inning. The Wolverines added another in the fourth, two more in the fifth and four more in the ninth inning.

In all, they collected 13 hits off the offerings of Rook and John Cricchi, who pitched the last 4⅔ innings for the Sailors. The loss was chalked against Rook.

Umpire Ejects Casey Stengel

Yankee Pilot Given Heave By Donatelli

DALLAS, Tex., April 9 (AP)—Casey Stengel was ejected from a ball game today for the first time in his three-year career as manager of the New York Yankees.

The veteran manager was given the heave by National League umpire Augie Donatelli in the third inning of the game between the Yankees and Boston Braves.

The New York pilot argued that a ruling by the official deprived his club of a run. Gil McDonald, running from third base to the plate, appeared to have scored before the completion of a non-force double play in the infield.

Joe DiMaggio was on first base when Yogi Berra slammed a grounder at Earl Torgeson, the Boston first baseman. Torgy, noting that DiMaggio was loafing toward second, tagged first base to retire the hitter before tossing to second baseman Roy Hartsfield to retire DiMaggio. The double play ended the inning.

Stengel argued violently that McDougald had crossed the plate before the tag was applied to DiMaggio. He and the umpire pushed each other with their chests and when Casey tried to bar the umpire from taking his position behind the plate, Donatelli thumbed him. Today's was the most bitter and protracted argument by Stengel — it lasted nearly five minutes—since he became Yankee pilot in 1949.

BRAVES BELT RASCHI

DALLAS, Texas, April 9 (AP)—Although Lefty Warren Spahn, who went the distance, yielded 14 hits, the Boston Braves trimmed the New York Yankees, 8-4, today in an exhibition baseball game at Dallas, Tex.

WINSTON SALEM, N. C., April 9 (AP)—Conrado Marrero pitched the Washington Senators out of a five-game losing streak today as he set the Cincinnati Reds down with only two hits for a 2 to 1 victory.

Ken Raffensberger, veteran Cincinnati southpaw, allowed only five hits in the tight battle. Rookie Gene Verble's duble to right center scored Washington's two runs in the seventh and ended a string of 17 consecutive scoreless innings for Raffensberger. Score:

Uncle Miltie Wins Jamaica Feature Race

Battlefield Second, And Nullify Third

NEW YORK, April 9 (INS) — Uncle Miltie won the first showdown of the year among the three leading Kentucky Derby candidates today by capturing the six-furlong prospect purse at Jamaica race track.

The time was 1:10-1/5. Uncle Miltie won by four lengths and paid $5.90, $3.00 and $2.60.

Battlefield, outstanding two-year-old of 1950, was second and Nullify, third in the $5,000 event. Big Stretch—another of the Derby big three along with Uncle Miltie and Battlefield — finished out of the money.

Uncle Miltie's victory was his fourth in a row and the ninth in 15 starts for the J. J. Colando Colt, who was ridden by Hedley Woodhouse.

On Derby Picture

Sports Sputterings by Walter L. Johns

Central Press Sports Editor

FOR the first time in years, the "Run for the Roses" at historic old Churchill Downs, less than a month away, appears to be as wide open as any maiden race.

And, apparently, the same situation could exist by Derby time, which is around 4:30 in the afternoon, Central Standard time, on May 5.

The tune-up events have accented candidates, of course, but none of the three-year-old colts has proven anything to date. Except, perhaps, that they will be in the group which will traverse the mile and a quarter Derby distance on the first Saturday in May.

The two most prominent candidates, authored into co-favoritism off their 1950 record as juveniles, are Battlefield, the George D. Widener colt who won 10 out of 13 races and $198,677 last year, and Uncle Miltie, the bay colt owned by J. J. Colando. Uncle Miltie copped eight wins in 14 starts and $54,075 last year. Uncle Miltie, named for the famed radio and TV favorite, recently worked six furlongs at Jamaica in 1:11 4/5, a spectacular workout. Both Uncle Miltie and Battlefield were to be given tests at Jamaica the week of April 9.

• • • •

ANOTHER COLT which is getting early backing, but nothing like sure-shot favoritism, is Big Stretch, the Greentree Stable's solid racer who wintered well. Big Stretch, who was third to Battlefield in money won last year—$103,467—started 15 times in 1950 and won four races, being in the money 10 times.

It was his class, at the end of the two-year-old campaign, however, which gave him his representation. Big Stretch won a smashing victory in the Pimlico Futurity and was beaten by a nose by Battlefield in the Belmont Futurity. This colt likes the distance and the Derby route should suit him fine.

Also liked, at this stage, is Rough 'N Tumble, a bay colt owned by Mrs. F. A. Genter. RNT never was out of the money in seven starts last year.

His "colt of distinction" rating at this time, however, was his victory in the Santa Anita Derby this year, where he picked up a hefty check.

• • • •

LATEST to attract interest is the misspelled Repetoire, a chestnut colt who recently beat a field of Derby hopefuls in the Experimental Handicap at Jamaica, although it was in a sprint.

Repetoire, a son of Happy Argo, oldest sire with a son eligible for the 1951 Derby, finished nine times in the money out of 11 starts last year but showed best as a sprinter, just as his old man did those many years ago.

• • • •

THE FLAMINGO STAKES, closing event at the Hialeah meeting in early March, generally gives some sort of line on the Derby.

This year, however, the Flamingo, at a mile and an eighth, was won by Yildiz, a colt which was not considered good enough to be entered in the Derby.

Of interest here, though, was the showing of a Derby eligible, Timely Reward, owned by Mrs. W. Gilroy.

Timely Reward, beaten by a scant nose in the Flamingo, was coming at the end and probably would have won the race in a few more strides.

As a two-year-old in 1950 Timely Reward started just seven times and was in the money three times. A mishap put him out of action in late May and he didn't return until the Hialeah meeting this year.

In this race the favorite was Battle Morn, which broke bad and finished 10th. But Battle Morn was one of the respected two-year-olds last year, finishing in the money six out of eight times and second to Uncle Miltie in the Champagne Stakes.

• • • •

THE BIG TUNEUPS, of course, are the Chesapeake Stakes, at Laurel April 14; the Wood Memorial, at Jamaica April 21, and the Blue Grass Stakes at Keeneland, April 26.

Six winners of the Wood Memorial have gone on to win the Derby. Four Chesapeake winners went on to cop the Run for the Roses. Only two Blue Grass winners have gone on to win the Derby.

Navy Tossers Lose To Michigan, 9-3

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 9 (AP)—Bill Denhouter pitched Michigan to a 9-3 victory over Navy's baseball team today.

The righthander held the Middies to seven hits while striking out six and issuing but one walk.

Michigan jumped on Ted Rook, Navy's starting pitcher, for two runs in the first inning. The Wolverines added another in the fourth, two more in the fifth and four more in the ninth inning.

In all, they collected 13 hits off the offerings of Rook and John Cricchi, who pitched the last 4⅔ innings for the Sailors. The loss was chalked against Rook.

BRAVES BELT RASCHI

DALLAS, Texas, April 9 (AP)—Although Lefty Warren Spahn, who went the distance, yielded 14 hits, the Boston Braves trimmed the New York Yankees, 8-4, today in an exhibition baseball game at Dallas, Tex.

It was the New Yorkers' first setback in their last six starts.

The Braves collected 12 of their 13 hits and all their runs off Vic Raschi, who went seven innings.

Earl Torgeson clouted a home run in the first inning. Score:

NEW YORK (A) . 001 011 001—4 14 1
BOSTON (N) . . . 122 100 20x—8 13 1
Raschi, Muncrief (8) and Berra, Courtney (8); Spahn and St. Claire.

Umpire Ejects Casey Stengel

Yankee Pilot Given Heave By Donatelli

DALLAS, Tex., April 9 (AP)—Casey Stengel was ejected from a ball game today for the first time in his three-year career as manager of the New York Yankees.

The veteran manager was given the heave by National League umpire Augie Donatelli in the third inning of the game between the Yankees and Boston Braves.

The New York pilot argued that a ruling by the official deprived his club of a run. Gil McDonald, running from third base to the plate, appeared to have scored before the completion of a non-force double play in the infield.

Joe DiMaggio was on first base when Yogi Berra slammed a grounder at Earl Torgeson, the Boston first baseman. Torgy, noting that DiMaggio was loafing toward second, tagged first base to retire the hitter before tossing to second baseman Roy Hartsfield to retire DiMaggio. The double play ended the inning.

Stengel argued violently that McDougald had crossed the plate before the tag was applied to DiMaggio. He and the umpire pushed each other with their chests and when Casey tried to bar the umpire from taking his position behind the plate, Donatelli thumbed him. Today's was the most bitter and protracted argument by Stengel — it lasted nearly five minutes—since he became Yankee pilot in 1949.

CHISOX GET 17 HITS

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 9 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox clubbed the team of their old manager, Jack Onslow, for a 15-4 decision before 1,018 fans today. The rout of the Chattanooga Lookouts marked the Pale Hose' 21st win in 28 exhibition starts.

The 17-hit Sox triumph proved costly as outfielder rookie Ed McGhee was hit above the right wrist by a pitched ball and pitcher Joe Dobson had to quit after three innings because of a strained thigh muscle.

A seven-run sixth inning capped the Sox assault. Score:

CHICAGO (A) . . . . . 000 137 040—15 17 1
CHATTANOOGA (SA) 200 001 010— 4 10 0
Brown, Dobson (3), Mahoney (6) and Masi, Erautt (7); Welteroth, Dixon (6), Mathieson (6), Chandler (8), Doxtater (9) and Keller.
HR.: Chi.—(A) Zarilla.
WP: Dobson. LP: Welteroth.

NATS EDGE REDS

WINSTON SALEM, N. C., April 9 (AP)—Conrado Marrero pitched the Washington Senators out of a five-game losing streak today as he set the Cincinnati Reds down with only two hits for a 2 to 1 victory.

The curve-balling Cuban right-hander gave up a run in the first on two walks, a wild pitch and a long fly and after that the Reds never got a man past first base. Marrero struck out nine.

Ken Raffensberger, veteran Cincinnati southpaw, allowed only five hits in the tight battle. Rookie Gene Verble's duble to right center scored Washington's two runs in the seventh and ended a string of 17 consecutive scoreless innings for Raffensberger. Score:

WASHINGTON (A) 000 000 200—2 5 0
Marrero and Grasso; Raffensberger and Pramesa.

Dodgers, Red Sox Picked For Flags

NEW YORK, April 9—The Brooklyn Dodgers and Boston Red Sox are picked to win the National and American League pennants this season by sports editor Tim Cohane in the issue of Look Magazine to be released tomorrow.

In the article entitled "1951 Baseball Forecast," Cohane goes on the limb with the Red Sox for the sixth consecutive year. He's been picking them so long he's afraid to let loose now.

Here's how Look sees the pennant races:

American League—Boston, Cleveland, New York, Detroit, Chicago, Washington, St. Louis, Philadelphia.

National League—Brooklyn, New York, Philadelphia, Boston, St. Louis, Chicago, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh.

THE WORLD'S BEST in the shot-put event, Jim Fuchs, former Yale star, demonstrates the form that has given him national and international titles. Jim's outdoor mark is 58 feet 4¼ inches, the record for all shotputters. He set a new world indoor mark this year of 58 feet 3½ inches. This magic eye camera strip was taken in New York. (International)

Dodgers, Red Sox Picked For Flags

NEW YORK, April 9—The Brooklyn Dodgers and Boston Red Sox are picked to win the National and American League pennants this season by sports editor Tim Cohane in the issue of Look Magazine to be released tomorrow.

In the article entitled "1951 Baseball Forecast," Cohane goes on the limb with the Red Sox for the sixth consecutive year. He's been picking them so long he's afraid to let loose now.

For Brooklyn, the only big question is pitching, but Look figures Barney or Branca will come through to augment last year's hurlers.

Here's how Look sees the pennant races:

American League—Boston, Cleveland, New York, Detroit, Chicago, Washington, St. Louis, Philadelphia.

National League—Brooklyn, New York, Philadelphia, Boston, St. Louis, Chicago, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh.

THE WORLD'S BEST in the shot-put event, Jim Fuchs, former Yale star, demonstrates the form that has given him national and international titles. Jim's outdoor mark is 58 feet 4¼ inches, the record for all shotputters. He set a new world indoor mark this year of 58 feet 3½ inches. This magic eye camera strip was taken in New York. (International)

Dodgers, Red Sox Picked For Flags

NEW YORK, April 9—The Brooklyn Dodgers and Boston Red Sox are picked to win the National and American League pennants this season by sports editor Tim Cohane in the issue of Look Magazine to be released tomorrow.

In the article entitled "1951 Baseball Forecast," Cohane goes on the limb with the Red Sox for the sixth consecutive year. He's been picking them so long he's afraid to let loose now.

For Brooklyn, the only big question is pitching, but Look figures Barney or Branca will come through to augment last year's hurlers.

Here's how Look sees the pennant races:

American League—Boston, Cleveland, New York, Detroit, Chicago, Washington, St. Louis, Philadelphia.

National League—Brooklyn, New York, Philadelphia, Boston, St. Louis, Chicago, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh.

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, April 9. (INS)—Quiet-spoken Jimmy Stewart plays quiet-spoken David Marshall Williams when Dore Schary puts the life story of the man who invented the carbine gun on the screen.

I know that Williams is quiet-spoken because he called me personally to tell me that Jimmy had been selected to play him.

Jimmy Stewart

"Are you glad?" I asked Marsh—as he is called.

"Real glad," he drawled (just like Jimmy Stewart), "and I'm happy I'm going to be technical adviser."

Marsh, who invented the rapid fire gun while serving a prison term for murder, also holds 56 patents on other guns. The Army hails his carbine as one of the finest weapons in modern warfare.

Williams served nine of the 30 years he had been sentenced to before winning a complete pardon. One reason he wants his story told on the screen is so that his 12-year-old son will learn it the right way.

Bill Bowers is writing the dramatic story and Armand Deutsch producing.

It's business before marriage in the case of Louis Hayward who has bought his bride to be, June Blanchard, a house. Louis won't be able to get married right away because he is going to start a picture almost immediately for Edward Small at Columbia.

Louis will be starred in "The Brigand" based on an old novel of the same name. Because the "Monte Cristo" stories have brought money into the box offices, the locale of "The Brigand" will be shifted from Paris to the French and Italian Rivieras to give the picture the same flavor as the "Monte Cristo" stories.

One reason Hayward is so eager to do this is that he received 25 per cent of the take of the movie.

Chatter in Hollywood:

Young love—Janet Leigh and Tony Curtis—has its troubles. Tony says he's very glad that Bill Goetz is sending him on that 90-day tour with "The Prince Who Was A Thief," but he just simply cannot be separated from Janet that long.

So, Janet hopes to visit New York the latter part of May when Tony and Piper Laurie, who is going on tour with him, are there. Tony and Piper leave the last of this month to ballyhoo this movie in which they are co-starred. Amazing how many letters I get about these youngsters.

Miss Jody Harbor, age seven, has been promised by her grandfather, Cecil B. DeMille, that she could be in a movie—and grandpop is one to keep his word.

Now Jody has a scene with dialogue in "The Greatest Show On Earth." You can guess there will be plenty of footage shot on that, too, and showing the right side of her face. She's a very cute little girl and probably has the theater in her blood.

Her grandfather, her great-grandfather, uncle, William DeMille, all of the theater. The mother of the young actress is Cecilia, daughter of the C. B. DeMilles.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Gilbert Roland, on location at Palm Springs, has been showing up at the Doll House regularly with a Mexican actress whose last name is Cantu.

Oleg Cassini has been engaged to design Gene Tierney's clothes for "A Baby For Midge" at Warners.

When Jeanne Crain finishes "Dr. Praetorius" she and Paul Brinkman are going to Alaska. Jeanne says she hopes to bring back a bear cub for her two sons if the neighbors will not object as they did over the lion cub she had several years ago.

Lindsay Crosby, the youngest, raised such a fuss when Bing recorded "On Moonlight Bay" with Gary, the eldest, that Bing is taking Lindsay to Palm Springs with him and will sing the song with him on one of his shows. Lindsay said, "I can sing it just as well as Gary can."

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

INJURED PAINFULLY IN A CRASH right on the city-county line, Pamphile J. Balduc, 28, of Los Angeles, is the center of a tug-of-war when city and county ambulances arrive simultaneously and the attendants argue for the right to remove him to a hospital. The county wins and Balduc is lifted off the city ambulance stretcher while bewildered spectators watch. (International Soundphoto)

Mirror Of Your Mind

By LAWRENCE GOULD, Consulting Psychologist

Will keeping a "guilty secret" create nervous tension?

Answer: Yes, and this regardless of how much chance there is of your being found out. If you have done something which you feel to be wrong, you can't help unconsciously expecting to be punished for it, and will feel guilty and anxious as long as the offense goes undetected. But confessing to ease the strain may be cruel if the wrong is past and done with, and if knowing about it will cause needless pain to the person to whom you reveal it. If you cannot keep your past to yourself, get it "off your chest" to someone whom you won't hurt—not to your wife or husband.

Does unhappy marriage cause neurosis?

Answer: No. At most it can only aggravate it—the source of neurosis is invariably to be found in childhood. But neurosis in one or both partners is the commonest, if not the only cause of marital unhappiness. In the first place, the neurotic is too much involved in his own problems to be able to adjust himself to anybody else's needs and feelings; in the second, he is likely, quite unconsciously, to pick the very partner who will fit into his compulsive patterns. He will choose a person who will give him an excuse for feeling abused in preference to one who would treat him kindly.

Will "success" help problem children?

Answer: Yes, says John E. Moore of the State Home for Boys, Jamesburg, New Jersey. Emotional instability in a physically healthy child—generally due to having lived in a home atmosphere of conflict—may make him oversensitive and easily discouraged. The "block" in his education caused by this condition may be cleared up by assigning him to tasks which he can do well and will be praised for doing, since in this way, he can satisfy his "desperate need" for success of some kind. "Nothing succeeds like success" is Jamesburg's motto.

County Delegation Denies "Buck Passing" Accusation

Charles M. See, chairman of the Allegany county delegation to the Legislature, announced that he and other members of the delegation take exception to a statement attributed to William H. Lemmert, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, to the effect that the delegation had been "passing the buck."

Lemmert was quoted as saying the delegation "passed the buck" on the question of teachers' salaries by its actions.

See said this is untrue and he quoted a telegram received from the county commissioners on March 27 by the delegation. It follows:

"The commissioners of Allegany county wish to maintain the differential of $100 above the state minimum for teachers as its exists at present. If state schedule is increased, the differential of $100 can be maintained and adjustments in the lower brackets can and will be made by agreement between Allegany County Board of Education and county commissioners under existing law without passage of Senate Bill 394.

"County commissioners oppose any bill increasing local teachers salaries, unless state schedule is increased. No other commitments or statements made by this board."

See said that the additional statement that the delegation had ignored other telegrams of the county commissioners is true in only one respect. That was the telegram concerning the permanent registration.

"We felt that the commissioners were not well versed in the permanent registration system and the county delegation contacted officials of other counties which have such a system. We then had a bill passed in line with the experience gained by these contacts," See declared.

All other telegrams were acknowledged by the delegation, he added.

Talk about . . . preserving the American way of life is . . . nonsense if it does not account . . . for the faith in which these values are rooted. (Public education trains children) in what amounts to a practical atheism.
—Dr. Truman B. Douglas, of Congregational Christian churches.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

UNBALANCED PARTNERS

TWO SPECIAL elements of danger threaten an unbalanced partnership, in which one member is only fair or mediocre at playing the cards and the other is a star of purest ray serene. The greatest trouble about it is that both members of the pair may know the facts about their relative ability. Therefore the fine player will have a tendency toward trying to become the declarer instead of his partner, and the latter may strain deliberately to throw the play into his partner's hand. But you don't see as much of that as several years ago, since it has been pretty well established that an ordinary player in the right contract usually does better than a super-expert in the wrong one.

Probably the worst player in the world would have made 3-No Trumps on that deal, if North had been modest enough to pass and simply let South run nine consecutive tricks, regardless of what might be the opening lead. But North was so contemptuous of his partner's cardsmanship that he made a third bid of his own spades — something which just isn't done, when a player is trying to be sound, except with at least six cards in his suit. His soundest action possibly was to support the clubs on his third turn, in which case the pair might have reached 6-Clubs, that could be made by careful play after the natural lead of the diamond K.

As North blundered into the 4-Spades, he was lucky to find the guarded K opposite him, when South might have held not a solitary spade. He was beaten only one trick, with this good luck, because of the compensating hard luck of finding East with bunched trumps. He won the heart 9 lead with the A, scored the spade K and led to the A. West's discard showed that he had to lose two tricks in each major. If East had been silly enough to double, North might have led the spade 9 or 8 toward the K, ready to send it through if not covered, and so might have made his unsoundly-bid contract. But East didn't double.

HOLLYWOOD, April 9. (INS)—Quiet-spoken Jimmy Stewart plays quiet-spoken David Marshall Williams when Dore Schary puts the life story of the man who invented the carbine gun on the screen.

I know that Williams is quiet-spoken because he called me personally to tell me that Jimmy had been selected to play him.

Jimmy Stewart

"Are you glad?" I asked Marsh—as he is called.

"Real glad," he drawled (just like Jimmy Stewart), "and I'm happy I'm going to be technical adviser."

Marsh, who invented the rapid fire gun while serving a prison term for murder, also holds 56 patents on other guns. The Army hails his carbine as one of the finest weapons in modern warfare.

Williams served nine of the 30 years he had been sentenced to before winning a complete pardon. One reason he wants his story told on the screen is so that his 12-year-old son will learn it the right way.

Bill Bowers is writing the dramatic story and Armand Deutsch producing.

It's business before marriage in the case of Louis Hayward who has bought his bride to be, June Blanchard, a house. Louis won't be able to get married right away because he is going to start a picture almost immediately for Edward Small at Columbia.

Louis will be starred in "The Brigand" based on an old novel of the same name. Because the "Monte Cristo" stories have brought money into the box offices, the locale of "The Brigand" will be shifted from Paris to the French and Italian Rivieras to give the picture the same flavor as the "Monte Cristo" stories.

One reason Hayward is so eager to do this is that he received 25 per cent of the take of the movie.

Chatter in Hollywood:

Young love—Janet Leigh and Tony Curtis—has its troubles. Tony says he's very glad that Bill Goetz is sending him on that 90-day tour with "The Prince Who Was A Thief," but he just simply cannot be separated from Janet that long.

So, Janet hopes to visit New York the latter part of May when Tony and Piper Laurie, who is going on tour with him, are there. Tony and Piper leave the last of this month to ballyhoo this movie in which they are co-starred. Amazing how many letters I get about these youngsters.

• — • — •

Miss Jody Harbor, age seven, has been promised by her grandfather, Cecil B. DeMille, that she could be in a movie—and grandpop is one to keep his word.

Now Jody has a scene with dialogue in "The Greatest Show On Earth." You can guess there will be plenty of footage shot on that, too, and showing the right side of her face. She's a very cute little girl and probably has the theater in her blood.

Her grandfa[illegible]her great-grandfather [illegible] uncle, William De[illegible]e all of the theater. The [illegible]ter of the young actress is Cecilia, daughter of the C. B. DeMilles.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Gilbert Roland, on location at Palm Springs, has been showing up at the Doll House regularly with a Mexican actress whose last name is Cantu.

Oleg Cassini has been engaged to design Gene Tierney's clothes for "A Baby For Midge" at Warners.

When Jeanne Crain finishes "Dr. Praetorius" she and Paul Brinkman are going to Alaska. Jeanne says she hopes to bring back a bear cub for her two sons if the neighbors will not object as they did over the lion cub she had several years ago.

Lindsay Crosby, the youngest, raised such a fuss when Bing recorded "On Moonlight Bay" with Gary, the eldest, that Bing is taking Lindsay to Palm Springs with him and will sing the song with him on one of his shows. Lindsay said, "I can sing it just as well as Gary can."

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

INJURED PAINFULLY IN A CRASH right on the city-county line, Pamphile J. Balduc, 28, of Los Angeles, is the center of a tug-of-war when city and county ambulances arrive simultaneously and the attendants argue for the right to remove him to a hospital. The county wins and Balduc is lifted off the city ambulance stretcher while bewildered spectators watch. (International Soundphoto)

Mirror Of Your Mind

By LAWRENCE GOULD, Consulting Psychologist

Will keeping a "guilty secret" create nervous tension?

Answer: Yes, and this regardless of how much chance there is of your being found out. If you have done something which you feel to be wrong, you can't help unconsciously expecting to be punished for it, and will feel guilty and anxious as long as the offense goes undetected. But confessing to ease the strain may be cruel if the wrong is past and done with, and if knowing about it will cause needless pain to the person to whom you reveal it. If you cannot keep your past to yourself, get it "off your chest" to someone whom you won't hurt—not to your wife or husband.

Does unhappy marriage cause neurosis?

Answer: No. At most it can only aggravate it—the source of neurosis is invariably to be found in childhood. But neurosis in one or both partners is the commonest, if not the only cause of marital unhappiness. In the first place, the neurotic is too much involved in his own problems to be able to adjust himself to anybody else's needs and feelings; in the second, he is likely, quite unconsciously, to pick the very partner who will fit into his compulsive patterns. He will choose a person who will give him an excuse for feeling abused in preference to one who would treat him kindly.

Will "success" help problem children?

Answer: Yes, says John E. Moore of the State Home for Boys, Jamesburg, New Jersey. Emotional instability in a physically healthy child—generally due to having lived in a home atmosphere of conflict—may make him oversensitive and easily discouraged. The "block" in his education caused by this condition may be cleared up by assigning him to tasks which he can do well and will be praised for doing, since in this way, he can satisfy his "desperate need" for success of some kind. "Nothing succeeds like success" is Jamesburg's motto.

UNBALANCED PARTNERS

TWO SPECIAL elements of danger threaten an unbalanced partnership, in which one member is only fair or mediocre at playing the cards and the other is a star of purest ray serene. The greatest trouble about it is that both members of the pair may know the facts about their relative ability. Therefore the fine player will have a tendency toward trying to become the declarer instead of his partner, and the latter may strain deliberately to throw the play into his partner's hand. But you don't see as much of that as several years ago, since it has been pretty well established that an ordinary player in the right contract usually does better than a super-expert in the wrong one.

Probably the worst player in the world would have made 3-No Trumps on that deal, if North had been modest enough to pass and simply let South run nine consecutive tricks, regardless of what might be the opening lead. But North was so contemptuous of his partner's cardsmanship that he made a third bid of his own spades — something which just isn't done, when a player is trying to be sound, except with at least six cards in his suit. His soundest action possibly was to support the clubs on his third turn, in which case the pair might have reached 6-Clubs, that could be made by careful play after the natural lead of the diamond K.

As North blundered into the 4-Spades, he was lucky to find the guarded K opposite him, when South might have held not a solitary spade. He was beaten only one trick, with this good luck, because of the compensating hard luck of finding East with bunched trumps. He won the heart 9 lead with the A, scored the spade K and led to the A. West's discard showed that he had to lose two tricks in each major. If East had been silly enough to double, North might have led the spade 9 or 8 toward the K, ready to send it through if not covered, and so might have made his unsoundly-bid contract. But East didn't double.

County Delegation Denies "Buck Passing" Accusation

Charles M. See, chairman of the Allegany county delegation to the Legislature, announced that he and other members of the delegation take exception to a statement attributed to William H. Lemmert, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, to the effect that the delegation had been "passing the buck."

Lemmert was quoted as saying the delegation "passed the buck" on the question of teachers' salaries by its actions.

See said this is untrue and he quoted a telegram received from the county commissioners on March 27 by the delegation. It follows:

"The commissioners of Allegany county wish to maintain the differential of $100 above the state minimum for teachers as its exists at present. If state schedule is increased, the differential of $100 can be maintained and adjustments in the lower brackets can and will be made by agreement between Allegany County Board of Education and county commissioners under existing law without passage of Senate Bill 394.

"County commissioners oppose any bill increasing local teachers salaries, unless state schedule is increased. No other commitments or statements made by this board."

See said that the additional statement that the delegation had ignored other telegrams of the county commissioners is true in only one respect. That was the telegram concerning the permanent registration.

"We felt that the commissioners were not well versed in the permanent registration system and the county delegation contacted officials of other counties which have such a system. We then had a bill passed in line with the experience gained by these contacts," See declared.

All other telegrams were acknowledged by the delegation, he added.

NEW YORK (INS)

THE JOINT Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy estimates, in its shock-pamphlet, "Soviet Atomic Espionage," that four a-spies — Fuchs, Pontecorvo, Greenglass and May — speeded Russia's a-bomb program by at least 18 months.

Pontecorvo, last seen racing for the iron curtain with 110 pounds of registered luggage, 20 pounds of hand luggage, and a bulging brief case, was a leading authority on the atomic "pile" in which plutonium is created. So was May.

Greenglass gave away the "trigger" device by which a number of non-explosive wedges of U-235 or plutonium are shot together, inside the a-bomb, to form the "critical mass" which, by its assembled weight and shape, produces the most ghastly explosion known to man.

Fuchs knew everything, and gave it to the Russians over a period of nearly eight years. It is said that when President Truman was told what Fuchs had revealed, the blood left his face and he sat in mute horror.

• — • — •

Of Fuchs the joint committee's tremendous free booklet says sombrely:

"It is hardly an exaggeration to say that Fuchs alone has influenced the safety of more people and accomplished greater damage than any other spy not only in the history of the United States but in the history of the nation."

It is interesting to review the penalties these men received, particularly in light of the death sentences handed down in the case of Ethel and Julius Rosenberg for persuading their relative Greenglass to deliver the "trigger."

May was given 10 years, though he was a truculent witness who refused to identify a fellow Communist conspirator. He lied to Canada's royal commission right to the end, yet the committee pamphlet notes that the Association of Scientific Workers of Great Britain protested that 10 years was "out of proportion to the offense," and suggested that five years would have been more proper.

Yet May, a sullen Communist, actually had delivered samples of U-235 to the Soviet Union's representatives.

Greenglass was given 15 years for his crime, and his wife, who seems to have been a party to his corruption, got nothing. The sister and brother-in-law who persuaded him to become a traitor must die.

• — • — •

Fuchs, whose treason will keep you and your family crushed beneath a rearmament tax burden for perhaps generations, drew 14 years — the limit under British law. But the man who served as his messenger, Harry Gold, got 30 years. And Morton Sobell, whose work for Russia did not pertain to atomic energy, was given a 30-year sentence with a recommendation that he never be paroled.

The men sentenced were not the lone betrayers of atomic secrets. Perhaps dozens who dealt in the super-secret business in this country and in Canada and England have managed, like Pontecorvo, to reach mother Russia. This list would include Arthur Adams, as he called himself, an old line Bolshevik who headed up the a-spy apparatus in this country in the early 1940's, after gaining admission here on what a House committee has called the false statements of Sam Norvick, a man who won $6,000,000 worth of government contracts during World War II.

The joint committee pamphlet reviews the cases of Clarence Hiskey, until recently a professor at Brooklyn Poly; John H. Chapin, Martin D. Kamen of Washington University, St. Louis; Steve Nelson, Prof. Joseph Weinberg and others, including Frank Oppenheimer, former Communist and brother of J. Robert Oppenheimer.

It's a blood-boiling document of terrifying import.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK (INS) — THE JOINT Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy estimates, in its shock-pamphlet, "Soviet Atomic Espionage," that four a-spies — Fuchs, Pontecorvo, Greenglass and May — speeded Russia's a-bomb program by at least 18 months.

Pontecorvo, last seen racing for the iron curtain with 110 pounds of registered luggage, 20 pounds of hand luggage, and a bulging brief case, was a leading authority on the atomic "pile" in which plutonium is created. So was May.

Greenglass gave away the "trigger" device by which a number of non-explosive wedges of U-235 or plutonium are shot together, inside the a-bomb, to form the "critical mass" which, by its assembled weight and shape, produces the most ghastly explosion known to man.

Fuchs knew everything, and gave it to the Russians over a period of nearly eight years. It is said that when President Truman was told what Fuchs had revealed, the blood left his face and he sat in mute horror.

• — • — •

Of Fuchs the joint committee's tremendous free booklet says sombrely:

"It is hardly an exaggeration to say that Fuchs alone has influenced the safety of more people and accomplished greater damage than any other spy not only in the history of the United States but in the history of the nation."

It is interesting to review the penalties these men received, particularly in light of the death sentences handed down in the case of Ethel and Julius Rosenberg for persuading their relative Greenglass to deliver the "trigger."

May was given 10 years, though he was a truculent witness who refused to identify a fellow Communist conspirator. He lied to Canada's royal commission right to the end, yet the committee pamphlet notes that the Association of Scientific Workers of Great Britain protested that 10 years was "out of proportion to the offense," and suggested that five years would have been more proper.

Yet May, a sullen Communist, actually had delivered samples of U-235 to the Soviet Union's representatives.

Greenglass was given 15 years for his crime, and his wife, who seems to have been a party to his corruption, got nothing. The sister and brother-in-law who persuaded him to become a traitor must die.

• — • — •

Fuchs, whose treason will keep you and your family crushed beneath a rearmament tax burden for perhaps generations, drew 14 years — the limit under British law. But the man who served as his messenger, Harry Gold, got 30 years. And Morton Sobell, whose work for Russia did not pertain to atomic energy, was given a 30-year sentence with a recommendation that he never be paroled.

The men sentenced were not the lone betrayers of atomic secrets. Perhaps dozens who dealt in the super-secret business in this country and in Canada and England have managed, like Pontecorvo, to reach mother Russia. This list would include Arthur Adams, as he called himself, an old line Bolshevik who headed up the a-spy apparatus in this country in the early 1940's, after gaining admission here on what a House committee has called the false statements of Sam Norvick, a man who won $6,000,000 worth of government contracts during War II.

The joint committee pamphlet reviews the cases of Clarence Hiskey, until recently a professor at Brooklyn Poly; John H. Chapin, Martin D. Kamen of Washington University, St. Louis; Steve Nelson, Prof. Joseph Weinberg and others, including Frank Oppenheimer, former Communist and brother of J. Robert Oppenheimer.

It's a blood-boiling document of terrifying import.

In Memoriam

In memory of my dear wife, Pearl B. Knieriem, who died April 10, 1947.
Treasured thoughts for one so dear,
Often bring a silent tear.
Thoughts return to things long past,
Time rolls on but memories last.
MR. EARL KNIERIEM

Cards of Thanks

We desire to extend our heartfelt thanks to all who aided and comforted us in our recent sad bereavement, the death of our beloved husband, son and brother, Wilson E. Rizer. Especially do we thank the pallbearers, those who donated the use of their cars, those who sent floral tributes, and Rev. Jones and Rev. Hill for their comforting words.

In Memoriam

In memory of my dear wife, Pearl B. Knieriem, who died April 10, 1947.
Treasured thoughts for one so dear,
Often bring a silent tear.
Thoughts return to things long past,
Time rolls on but memories last.
MR. EARL KNIERIEM

Cards of Thanks

We desire to extend our heartfelt thanks to all who aided and comforted us in our recent sad bereavement, the death of our beloved husband, son and brother, Wilson E. Rizer. Especially do we thank the pallbearers, those who donated the use of their cars, those who sent floral tributes, and Rev. Jones and Rev. Hill for their comforting words.
Wife and Family.

In Memoriam

In memory of my dear wife, Pearl B. Knieriem, who died April 10, 1947.
Treasured thoughts for one so dear,
Often bring a silent tear.
Thoughts return to things long past,
Time rolls on but memories last.
MR. EARL KNIERIEM

Cards of Thanks

We desire to extend our heartfelt thanks to all who aided and comforted us in our recent sad bereavement, the death of our beloved husband, son and brother, Wilson E. Rizer. Especially do we thank the pallbearers, those who donated the use of their cars, those who sent floral tributes, and Rev. Jones and Rev. Hill for their comforting words.
Wife and Family.

Alexander F. Watkins, vs. Mamie R. Watkins. No. 22106 Equity in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree of divorce, divorcing the plaintiff from the defendant A VINCULO MATRIMONII. The bill states that the parties were married on December 26th, 1948. That the defendant deserted the plaintiff on May 15 1950, without just cause or reason, and that said desertion has been continuous and uninterrupted since said date, is deliberate and final and beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that the plaintiff has resided in Allegany County for more than one year next before the filing of this suit, and the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, and her present address and whereabouts unknown to the plaintiff.

It is thereupon this 9th day of March, 1951 by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, in Equity, ordered that the plaintiff by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County once a week for four successive weeks before the 11th day of April, 1951 give notice to the non-resident defendant of the object and substance of this suit, warning her to be and appear in this court in person or by solicitor on or before the 28th day of April, 1951 to show cause if any she may have, why a decree ought not be passed as prayed.

Stock Market Gains Little Ground In Slow Session

NEW YORK, April 9 (AP)—The stock market gained a little ground today but it was a labored advance in one of the slowest sessions of the year.

Price changes were less than $1 a share in most instances and at the close of a large number of issues had slipped from their high points of the day.

The gains outnumbered the losses by only a comparatively small margin—419 to 378 out of a total of 1,052 issues traded. Twenty-four individual stocks hit new 1951 highs and 20 touched new lows.

Steels, chemicals, aircraft makers and airline operators were among the stronger issues as groups.

The Associated Press 60-stock average moved ahead 20 cents to $94.40. The average for the rail group was unchanged but the industrial and utilities averages advanced 30 cents each.

There was little volume along with the advance—1,110,000 shares compared with 1,450,000 at the previous full session last Friday. It was the slowest day since March 20 when volume was only 1,020,000 shares.

The railroad group has led the market along both its downward and upward paths in recent weeks. Most of the rail issues were down a few cents at the close today after a braver start.

Santa Fe, up 87 cents at $161.87, and Northern Pacific, ahead $2.12 at $37.62, were among the few advancing rail stocks. New York Central, Pennsylvania, Union Pacific and Baltimore and Ohio all lost ground.

All of the big steel company stocks advanced—U. S. Steel by 12 cents at $42.87 and Bethlehem by 37 cents at $54.75.

Douglas Aircraft gained $2.25 at $101.75 and Boeing and Lockheed moved ahead less than $1.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

LAW OFFICES OF CLARENCE SHUTTER, LAW BUILDING, CUMBERLAND, MARYLAND

Alexander F. Watkins, vs. Mamie R. Watkins. No. 22106 Equity in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree of divorce, divorcing the plaintiff from the defendant A VINCULO MATRIMONII. The bill states that the parties were married on December 26th 1946. That the defendant deserted the plaintiff on May 15 1950, without just cause or reason and that said desertion has been continuous and uninterrupted since said date, is deliberate and final and beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that the plaintiff has resided in Allegany County for more than one year next before the filing of this suit, and the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, and her present address and whereabouts unknown to the plaintiff.

It is thereupon this 9th day of March, 1951 by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, in Equity, ordered that the plaintiff by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County once a week for four successive weeks before the 11th day of April, 1951 give notice to the non-resident defendant of the object and substance of this suit, warning her to be and appear in this court in person or by solicitor on or before the 28th day of April, 1951 to show cause if any she may have, why a decree ought not be passed as prayed.

Stock Market Gains Little Ground In Slow Session

NEW YORK, April 9 (AP)—The stock market gained a little ground today but it was a labored advance in one of the slowest sessions of the year.

Price changes were less than $1 a share in most instances and at the close of a large number of issues had slipped from their high points of the day.

The gains outnumbered the losses by only a comparatively small margin—419 to 378 out of a total of 1,052 issues traded. Twenty-four individual stocks hit new 1951 highs and 20 touched new lows.

Steels, chemicals, aircraft makers and airline operators were among the stronger issues as groups.

The Associated Press 60-stock average moved ahead 20 cents to $94.40. The average for the rail group was unchanged but the industrial and utilities averages advanced 30 cents each.

There was little volume along with the advance—1,110,000 shares compared with 1,450,000 at the previous full session last Friday. It was the slowest day since March 20 when volume was only 1,020,000 shares.

The railroad group has led the market along both its downward and upward paths in recent weeks. Most of the rail issues were down a few cents at the close today after a braver start.

Santa Fe, up 87 cents at $161.87, and Northern Pacific, ahead $2.12 at $37.62, were among the few advancing rail stocks. New York Central, Pennsylvania, Union Pacific and Baltimore and Ohio all lost ground.

All of the big steel company stocks advanced—U. S. Steel by 12 cents at $42.87 and Bethlehem by 37 cents at $54.75.

Douglas Aircraft gained $2.25 at $101.75 and Boeing and Lockheed moved ahead less than $1.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree of divorce, divorcing the plaintiff from the defendant A VINCULO MATRIMONII. The bill states that the parties were married on December 25th, 1948. That the defendant deserted the plaintiff on May 15 1950, without any cause or reason, and that said desertion has been continuous and uninterrupted since said date, is deliberate and final and beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that the plaintiff has resided in Allegany County for more than one year next before the filing of this suit, and the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, and her present address and whereabouts unknown to the plaintiff.

Stock Market Gains Little Ground In Slow Session

NEW YORK, April 9 (AP)—The stock market gained a little ground today but it was a labored advance in one of the slowest sessions of the year.

Price changes were less than $1 a share in most instances and at the close of a large number of issues had slipped from their high points of the day.

The gains outnumbered the losses by only a comparatively small margin—419 to 378 out of a total of 1,052 issues traded. Twenty-four individual stocks hit new 1951 highs and 20 touched new lows.

Steels, chemicals, aircraft makers and airline operators were among the stronger issues as groups.

The Associated Press 60-stock average moved ahead 20 cents to $94.40. The average for the rail group was unchanged but the industrial and utilities averages advanced 30 cents each.

There was little volume along with the advance—1,110,000 shares compared with 1,450,000 at the previous full session last Friday. It was the slowest day since March 20 when volume was only 1,020,000 shares.

The railroad group has led the market along both its downward and upward paths in recent weeks. Most of the rail issues were down a few cents at the close today after a braver start.

Santa Fe, up 87 cents at $161.87, and Northern Pacific, ahead $2.12 at $37.62, were among the few advancing rail stocks. New York Central, Pennsylvania, Union Pacific and Baltimore and Ohio all lost ground.

All of the big steel company stocks advanced—U. S. Steel by 12 cents at $42.87 and Bethlehem by 37 cents at $54.75.

Douglas Aircraft gained $2.25 at $101.75 and Boeing and Lockheed moved ahead less than $1.

Negro Housing Project May Be Built On Frederick Street

Citizens Confer With Commission On Plans

A group of Cumberland citizens from Bedford, Decatur and Frederick Streets yesterday were informed by the Cumberland Housing Authority that options had been taken for a negro housing project on Frederick Street.

The group, headed by Attorney John M. Robb, Byron G. Kight and Mrs. Madeline Wright met with the Housing Commission to inquire into the possibility of selecting another site and to find just what plans had been made by the housing authority in regard to the negro housing project.

William L. Wilson, Jr., chairman of the Housing Board and Thomas B. Finan, attorney to the board explained that the project was to be a 30-unit affair of brick veneer and asbestos shingles between the alley next to the George F. Hazelwood garage and the alley beside the Frederick Street Playground.

Site Approved

Options have been obtained on most of the property Finan explained but no final decision has been made on the site by the local board although the Federal Housing Authority in Philadelphia has approved the location. S. Russell Minter is architect for the project and his final plans have not been completed, Wilson noted.

Robb, attorney for the North End group opposing the selection of the site, stated that the building was being placed in an already congested area. Robb contended the project would decrease property values in the area and recommended that Central Avenue be reconsidered as a possible location or another Frederick Street area more suitable to expansion of the program.

A better location could provide for greater recreational facilities, a swimming pool, park arrangements and expansion of the site, Robb went on.

Members of the group sought to find out how many other sites had been considered and why they were turned down, saying "if other sections of town think this project is a 'bugaboo' then why shouldn't we?"

Many Obstacles

Earl C. Bracey, principal of Carver High School and a member of the Housing Board, told the group that a great deal of consideration had been given all locations, much opposition had been received from everywhere, but that the only location suitable to the Federal Housing Authority in Philadelphia, was the Frederick Street site. All others had been turned down for various reasons, such as inadequate transportation, nonsuitable terrain, unavailability of options, nearness to schools and churches, etc., he outlined.

It was brought out that the nearness of the fire station on Frederick Street might cause the accidental death of a child if the project were placed there, but Bracey countered with the fact that all colored children attend Carver School on Frederick Street some 187 days out of the year every year and no cause for alarm had been noted before.

Bracey pointed out that approximately 1,000 colored persons live in Allegany county and housing authority reports showed some 138 families are living in sub-standard conditions.

Reasons Not Justified

Rev. George A. Tate, pastor of McKendree Methodist Church, who attended the meeting and favored the relief of his charges told the visiting delegation, "none of your reasons are justifable. You just don't want Negroes in the community. Why do the Negroes devaluate your property? If they do then it is time we took stock of our community and found out just what makes it tick along those narrow-minded lines."

Rev. Tate went on to point out that he could show many instances where the colored population had actually increased the value of property where they lived "right here in Cumberland if need be," he said. The pastor then went on to say that colored people do a pretty good job under the circumstances when the undesirable element point was again raised. He pointed out that

Farm Committee In County Set

Various officials interested in agriculture, met yesterday afternoon in the County Production and Marketing Administration Office at 37 Washington Street and organized an Allegany County Agriculture Mobilization Committee.

Albert O'Neal, chairman of the County PMA Committee, also will head the mobilization group by virtue of his PMA position.

No specific program for the committee has been planned. Its general aim is the stimulation of practices to encourage full production on county farmland. Details will be developed later.

Others who attended yesterday's meeting were County Agent R. F. McHenry, Lee Brobst, Production Credit Association; Martin Gordon, soil conservationist; James House, vocational agriculture supervisor in the county school system; O'Neal and James H. Weimer of the PMA committee. Beeson Snyder, Oakland, representative of the Farmers Home Administration in Allegany and Garrett counties, also was to have attended, but illness prevented his appearance.

Judges To Hear Hughes Trial

William J. Hughes, 24, Midland, will be tried beginning Wednesday by Presiding Judge Joseph D. Mish and Associate Judge George Henderson in Washington County Circuit Court on a manslaughter charge.

Attorneys for Hughes have decided to waive trial by jury. Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris has been disqualified because he investigated this case last year while serving as state's attorney.

Hughes was charged with manslaughter in the death last May 3 of Thomas Robertson, 43, Lonaconing, who died in Miners Hospital, Frostburg, of injuries sustained earlier when he was struck by a truck driven by Hughes. Robertson was acting as a coal mine picket at the time he was fatally injured.

The case was transferred from Allegany to Washington county at the request of defense attorneys. Some 37 witnesses have been summoned to appear in Hagerstown for the trial, which is expected to last at least two days.

Tax Returns Due April 16

Marylanders Get One Day "Reprieve"

BALTIMORE, April 9 (AP)—The taxpayer who likes to hold on to his money until the last minute can keep the stuff for an extra 24 hours this year.

The Comptroller's Office said today the deadline for filing Maryland state income tax returns had been extended until 11:59 p. m. April 16, instead of the same time April 15, the usual date.

The extra 24 hours was allowed because April 15 comes on Sunday.

But it's going to be no less painful when the deadline arrives. The recent session of the legislature made some changes in the state income tax law, but those changes apply only to returns to be filed a year from now. This year's returns and rates are the same as last year's.

Almost every steady wage-earner must file a state income tax return. The rate is 2 per cent on income earned in wages and salaries, 5 per cent on investment income. Certain deductions are allowed. Forms and instruction sheets are available at post offices, court houses and banks, if you don't already have them. Optional methods of preparing the returns are provided.

The state expects to get about $28,700,000 from income taxes in the coming year.

Council Hears Health Report

The City Health Department reported 15 communicable diseases in Cumberland during the past month to the Mayor and City Council last night.

Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city health officer, listed two cases of influenza, three of pneumonia, one Scarlet Fever, three tuberculosis and six venereal diseases.

Also reported were 11 clinics held, 559 school inspections, 556 children weighed and measured, 12 vision tests given, 34 nurses-teachers conferences, nine maternity visits, 29 tuberculosis visits, and 17 other communicable disease visits by the local health department.

Sixteen infants were visited by city health nurses, 40 pre-school children were visited, 82 school children visited, 110 adults visited, 58 school visits, 22 medical care visits and 22 ineffective visits, totaling 350 visits by the department.

The council also heard Carroll Sullivan, 1013 Harding Avenue, who complained that poor drainage in a closed alley behind his property had undermined the foundation of his garage. He told the council the people in that section desired the alley opened so that proper drainage pipe could be installed and informed them a petition had been sent to the council to that effect.

Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, Commissioner of Streets and Property, replied she would have her department investigate.

The parade would include the clowns, acrobats, aerialists and the large menagerie of the circus. Included in the group of circus animals would be elephants and camels under the supervision of their trainers.

The council voted unanimously to grant permission for the parade under jurisdiction of the police department.

The circus will appear at the Shrine Country Club for two afternoon appearances at 1:30 and 3:30 o'clock and one evening performance at 8 o'clock.

The show has a variety of acts including cowboys and Indians in addition to featured clowns, acrobats and aerial artists.

Proceeds from the show will go to the Shrine Club's charity and activities fund, DeBolt stated.

State County Commissioners Will Air Reassessment Bill

FREDERICK, April 9 (AP) —Maryland's County Commissioners, preparing to organize into a tightly knit state-wide group, meet here Wednesday at 11 a. m. to analyze the new reassessment bill passed by the General Assembly.

The commissioners have asked Governor McKeldin not to sign the bill into law until they take a careful look at it.

Meeting with the commissioners will be Joseph H. A. Rogan, State Tax Commission chairman. He is expected to give his views on the bill.

Generally, the new bill provides for a property reassessment on 100 per cent present value every three yars on a rotational basis. Present law calls for a five-year rotation.

A by-product of the meeting may be the actual organization of the state-wide Commissioners Association. The proposal to join the separate western and eastern shore County Commissioners Associations into a joint group met with favorable comment the last time the commissioners met in a body in Annapolis several months ago.

County Teacher Salary Talk Still Unsettled

Lemmert Suggested Discussion Of Case

No definite plans for a teacher salary discussion involving the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, County School Superintendent Charles L. Kopp and the Legislative Committee of the Allegany County Teachers Association had been made by last night, according to Harold C. Wickard, committee chairman.

William H. Lemmert, chairman of the county commissioners, suggested such a meeting at last Friday's board meeting after Wickard and the other committee renewed their argument for salary increases for the county's 556 teachers.

A local bill which would have raised county teachers salaries approximately $100 each per year, was killed in the recent session of the State Legislature in Annapolis after the commissioners sent a telegram in opposition. Governor McKeldin has indicated he will veto another measure which would raise the salaries of all Maryland public school teachers $300 per year.

Wickard said last night a number of county citizens have told him since last Friday that they agree with him that a $2,400 minimum is too low for county teachers.

Superintendent Kopp indicated yesterday that his school budget for the fiscal year starting July 1 probably will be presented to the county commissioners Friday.

Civil Service Group Unanimous In Vote

The Board of Civil Service Commissioners last night reported to the Mayor and City Council it had upheld the discharge of three probationary officers after hearing an appeal filed by the officers as a result of their suspension and dismissal following an incident at Midway Inn on McMullen Highway, January 28.

The Civil Service Board voted unanimously to uphold the dismissal of Karl W. Frankfort, Vernon E. Browning and Lewis A. Miller who were relieved of duty after Officer Frankfort was convicted in Trial Magistrate's Court of assaulting William Shumaker. Frankfort appealed the decision which included a 30-day sentence in the county jail.

The three officers had previously been suspended January 30 by Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn following the altercation involving Shumaker at the McMullen Highway roadhouse. The suspension was upheld by Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long who also upheld the discharge of the officers.

The commission, in its report to the council, said "after careful consideration of the testimony in this case, the Civil Service Commission finds the charge substantiated and it is unanimous in the opinion of the Commission that we affirm the action taken by Chief of Police and later affirmed by Commissioner of Police and Fire."

The report was signed by the three Civil Service Board members, H. Clifford Spiker, chairman, and Dr. Burnett E. Upchurch and C. William Spangler, members.

The appeal to the civil service board was filed February 24 after the three officers were informed by Chief Flynn by letter of their dismissal.

Shumaker testified at Frankfort's trial that he was struck with a blackjack and was treated at Memorial Hospital for head lacerations. The three probationary officers were off duty at the time of the alleged blackjacking, and had a total of 14 months service with the department prior to the altercation.

Frankfort joined the Police Department September 21, 1950, Browning became a probationary officer August 16, 1950 and Miller was accepted July 3, 1950.

Gallagher and Mrs. Boore were arrested February 28 by former Deputy Sheriff William E. (Scotty) Orr, Jr., in a shack on Firley's Hill, several miles from the school.

Two other indictments returned by the April grand jury were placed on the open docket yesterday morning.

Negro Housing Project May Be Built On Frederick Street

Citizens Confer With Commission On Plans

A group of Cumberland citizens from Bedford, Decatur and Frederick Streets yesterday were informed by the Cumberland Housing Authority that options had been taken for a negro housing project on Frederick Street.

The group, headed by Attorney John M. Robb, Byron G. Kight and Mrs. Madeline Wright met with the Housing Commission to inquire into the possibility of selecting another site and to find just what plans had been made by the housing authority in regard to the negro housing project.

William L. Wilson, Jr., chairman of the Housing Board and Thomas B. Finan, attorney to the board explained that the project was to be a 30-unit affair of brick veneer and asbestos shingles between the alley next to the George F. Hazelwood garage and the alley beside the Frederick Street Playground.

Site Approved

Options have been obtained on most of the property Finan explained but no final decision has been made on the site by the local board although the Federal Housing Authority in Philadelphia has approved the location. S. Russell Minter is architect for the project and his final plans have not been completed, Wilson noted.

Robb, attorney for the North End group opposing the selection of the site, stated that the building was being placed in an already congested area. Robb contended the project would decrease property values in the area and recommended that Central Avenue be reconsidered as a possible location or another Frederick Street area more suitable to expansion of the program.

A better location could provide for greater recreational facilities, a swimming pool, park arrangements and expansion of the site, Robb went on.

Members of the group sought to find out how many other sites had been considered and why they were turned down, saying "if other sections of town think this project is a 'bugaboo' then why shouldn't we?"

Many Obstacles

Earl C. Bracey, principal of Carver High School and a member of the Housing Board, told the group that a great deal of consideration had been given all locations, much opposition had been received from everywhere, but that the only location suitable to the Federal Housing Authority in Philadelphia, was the Frederick Street site. All others had been turned down for various reasons, such as inadequate transportation, nonsuitable terrain, unavailability of options, nearness to schools and churches, etc., he outlined.

It was brought out that the nearness of the fire station on Frederick Street might cause the accidental death of a child if the project were placed there, but Bracey countered with the fact that all colored children attend Carver School on Frederick Street some 187 days out of the year every year and no cause for alarm had been noted before.

Bracey pointed out that approximately 1,000 colored persons live in Allegany county and housing authority reports showed some 138 families are living in sub-standard conditions.

Reasons Not Justified

Rev. George A. Tate, pastor of McKendree Methodist Church, who attended the meeting and favored the relief of his charges told the visiting delegation, "none of your reasons are justifable. You just don't want Negroes in the community. Why do the Negroes devaluate your property? If they do then it is time we took stock of our community and found out just what makes it tick along those narrow-minded lines."

Rev. Tate went on to point out that he could show many instances where the colored population had actually increased the value of property where they lived "right here in Cumberland if need be," he said. The pastor then went on to say that colored people do a pretty good job under the circumstances when the undesirable element point was again raised. He pointed out that

Marylanders Get One Day "Reprieve"

BALTIMORE, April 9 (AP)—The taxpayer who likes to hold on to his money until the last minute can keep the stuff for an extra 24 hours this year.

The Comptroller's Office said today the deadline for filing Maryland state income tax returns had been extended until 11:59 p. m. April 16, instead of the same time April 15, the usual date.

The extra 24 hours was allowed because April 15 comes on Sunday.

But it's going to be no less painful when the deadline arrives. The recent session of the legislature made some changes in the state income tax law, but those changes apply only to returns to be filed a year from now. This year's returns and rates are the same as last year's.

Almost every steady wage-earner must file a state income tax return. The rate is 2 per cent on income earned in wages and salaries, 5 per cent on investment income. Certain deductions are allowed. Forms and instruction sheets are available at post offices, court houses and banks, if you don't already have them. Optional methods of preparing the returns are provided.

The state expects to get about $28,700,000 from income taxes in the coming year.

Sixteen infants were visited by city health nurses, 40 pre-school children were visited, 82 school children visited, 110 adults visited, 58 school visits, 22 medical care visits and 22 ineffective visits, totaling 350 visits by the department.

The council also heard Carroll Sullivan, 1013 Harding Avenue, who complained that poor drainage in a closed alley behind his property had undermined the foundation of his garage. He told the council the people in that section desired the alley opened so that proper drainage pipe could be installed and informed them a petition had been sent to the council to that effect.

Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, Commissioner of Streets and Property, replied she would have her department investigate.

No definite plans for a teacher salary discussion involving the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, County School Superintendent Charles L. Kopp and the Legislative Committee of the Allegany County Teachers Association had been made by last night, according to Harold C. Wickard, committee chairman.

William H. Lemmert, chairman of the county commissioners, suggested such a meeting at last Friday's board meeting after Wickard and the other committee renewed their argument for salary increases for the county's 556 teachers.

A local bill which would have raised county teachers salaries approximately $100 each per year, was killed in the recent session of the State Legislature in Annapolis after the commissioners sent a telegram in opposition, Governor McKeldin has indicated he will veto another measure which would raise the salaries of all Maryland public school teachers $300 per year.

Wickard said last night a number of county citizens have told him since last Friday that they agree with him that a $2,400 minimum is too low for county teachers.

Superintendent Kopp indicated yesterday that his school budget for the fiscal year starting July 1 probably will be presented to the county commissioners Friday.

Civil Service Group Unanimous In Vote

The Board of Civil Service Commissioners last night reported to the Mayor and City Council it had upheld the discharge of three probationary officers after hearing an appeal filed by the officers as a result of their suspension and dismissal following an incident at Midway Inn on McMullen Highway, January 28.

The Civil Service Board voted unanimously to uphold the dismissal of Karl W. Frankfort, Vernon E. Browning and Lewis A. Miller who were relieved of duty after Officer Frankfort was convicted in Trial Magistrate's Court of assaulting William Shumaker. Frankfort appealed the decision which included a 30-day sentence in the county jail.

The three officers had previously been suspended January 30 by Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn following the altercation involving Shumaker at the McMullen Highway roadhouse. The suspension was upheld by Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long who also upheld the discharge of the officers.

The commission, in its report to the council, said "after careful consideration of the testimony in this case, the Civil Service Commission finds the charge substantiated and it is unanimous in the opinion of the Commission that we affirm the action taken by Chief of Police and later affirmed by Commissioner of Police and Fire."

The report was signed by the three Civil Service Board members, H. Clifford Spiker, chairman, and Dr. Burnett E. Upchurch and C. William Spangler, members.

The appeal to the civil service board was filed February 24 after the three officers were informed by Chief Flynn by letter of their dismissal.

The three probationary officers were off duty at the time of the alleged blackjacking, and had a total of 14 months service with the department prior to the altercation.

Frankfort joined the Police Department September 21, 1950, Browning became a probationary officer August 16, 1950 and Miller was accepted July 3, 1950.

Negro Housing Project May Be Built On Frederick Street

Citizens Confer With Commission On Plans

A group of Cumberland citizens from Bedford, Decatur and Frederick Streets yesterday were informed by the Cumberland Housing Authority that options had been taken for a negro housing project on Frederick Street.

The group, headed by Attorney John M. Robb, Byron G. Kight and Mrs. Madeline Wright met with the Housing Commission to inquire into the possibility of selecting another site and to find just what plans had been made by the housing authority in regard to the negro housing project.

William L. Wilson, Jr., chairman of the Housing Board and Thomas B. Finan, attorney to the board explained that the project was to be a 30-unit affair of brick veneer and asbestos shingles between the alley next to the George F. Hazelwood garage and the alley beside the Frederick Street Playground.

Site Approved

Options have been obtained on most of the property Finan explained but no final decision has been made on the site by the local board although the Federal Housing Authority in Philadelphia has approved the location. S. Russell Minter is architect for the project and his final plans have not been completed, Wilson noted.

Robb, attorney for the North End group opposing the selection of the site, stated that the building was being placed in an already congested area. Robb contended the project would decrease property values in the area and recommended that Central Avenue be reconsidered as a possible location or another Frederick Street area more suitable to expansion of the program.

A better location could provide for greater recreational facilities, a swimming pool, park arrangements and expansion of the site, Robb went on.

Members of the group sought to find out how many other sites had been considered and why they were turned down, saying "if other sections of town think this project is a 'bugaboo' then why shouldn't we?"

Many Obstacles

Earl C. Bracey, principal of Carver High School and a member of the Housing Board, told the group that a great deal of consideration had been given all locations, much opposition had been received from everywhere, but that the only location suitable to the Federal Housing Authority in Philadelphia, was the Frederick Street site. All others had been turned down for various reasons, such as inadequate transportation, nonsuitable terrain, unavailability of options, nearness to schools and churches, etc., he outlined.

It was brought out that the nearness of the fire station on Frederick Street might cause the accidental death of a child if the project were placed there, but Bracey countered with the fact that all colored children attend Carver School on Frederick Street some 187 days out of the year every year and no cause for alarm had been noted before.

Bracey pointed out that approximately 1,000 colored persons live in Allegany county and housing authority reports showed some 138 families are living in sub-standard conditions.

Reasons Not Justified

Rev. George A. Tate, pastor of McKendree Methodist Church, who attended the meeting and favored the relief of his charges told the visiting delegation, "none of your reasons are justifable. You just don't want Negroes in the community. Why do the Negroes devaluate your property? If they do then it is time we took stock of our community and found out just what makes it tick along those narrow-minded lines."

Rev. Tate went on to point out that he could show many instances where the colored population had actually increased the value of property where they lived "right here in Cumberland if need be," he said. The pastor then went on to say that colored people do a pretty good job under the circumstances when the undesirable element point was again raised. He pointed out that

Marylanders Get One Day "Reprieve"

BALTIMORE, April 9 (AP)—The taxpayer who likes to hold on to his money until the last minute can keep the stuff for an extra 24 hours this year.

The Comptroller's Office said today the deadline for filing Maryland state income tax returns had been extended until 11:59 p. m. April 16, instead of the same time April 15, the usual date.

The extra 24 hours was allowed because April 15 comes on Sunday.

But it's going to be no less painful when the deadline arrives. The recent session of the legislature made some changes in the state income tax law, but those changes apply only to returns to be filed a year from now. This year's returns and rates are the same as last year's.

Almost every steady wage-earner must file a state income tax return. The rate is 2 per cent on income earned in wages and salaries, 5 per cent on investment income. Certain deductions are allowed. Forms and instruction sheets are available at post offices, court houses and banks, if you don't already have them. Optional methods of preparing the returns are provided.

The state expects to get about $28,700,000 from income taxes in the coming year.

Sixteen infants were visited by city health nurses, 40 pre-school children were visited, 82 school children visited, 110 adults visited, 58 school visits, 22 medical care visits and 22 ineffective visits, totaling 350 visits by the department.

The council also heard Carroll Sullivan, 1013 Harding Avenue, who complained that poor drainage in a closed alley behind his property had undermined the foundation of his garage. He told the council the people in that section desired the alley opened so that proper drainage pipe could be installed and informed them a petition had been sent to the council to that effect.

Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, Commissioner of Streets and Property, replied she would have her department investigate.

The Civil Service Board voted unanimously to uphold the dismissal of Karl W. Frankfort, Vernon E. Browning and Lewis A. Miller who were relieved of duty after Officer Frankfort was convicted in Trial Magistrate's Court of assaulting William Shumaker. Frankfort appealed the decision which included a 30-day sentence in the county jail.

The commission, in its report to the council, said "after careful consideration of the testimony in this case, the Civil Service Commission finds the charge substantiated and it is unanimous in the opinion of the Commission that we affirm the action taken by Chief of Police and later affirmed by Commissioner of Police and Fire."

The report was signed by the three Civil Service Board members, H. Clifford Spiker, chairman, and Dr. Burnett E. Upchurch and C. William Spangler, members.

The appeal to the civil service board was filed February 24 after the three officers were informed by Chief Flynn by letter of their dismissal.
